PELLEY LETTERS FAKED, WITNESS ADMITS AT QUIZ

Tells Plan to Trump Up Fascist Link.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—Details of a conspiracy to link Representative Martin Dies [D., Tex.] with the Silver Shirts, an anti-Semitic organization, were disclosed today at an executive session of the house committee investigating un-American activities. Dies is chairman of the committee.

Representative Starnes.

On the floor of the house last week Representative Frank E. Hook [D., Mich.] charged that Dies had soft pedaled an inquiry into the Silver Shirts headed by William Dudley Pelley. In support of these accusations Hook inserted in the Congressional Record copies of letters which revealed Pelley as boasting that Dies would not press an investigation into his group.

Testifies Letters Are Forgeries.

The recipient of these letters, according to Hook, was David Mayne, described by him as the Washington representative of the Pelley organization. Mayne testified before the Dies committee today, with Representative Joe Starnes [D., Ala.] presiding in the absence of Dies, that these letters were forgeries, manufactured and sold by him to one Harold Weisberg.

Mayne testified that Weisberg had been represented to him as an investigator for the senate investigating committee headed by Robert M. La Follette, Wisconsin radical. He said he later learned that Weisberg had been dismissed from the committee for giving advance information concerning the La Follette committee's investigation of "civil liberties" to the Daily Worker, official newspaper of the communist party of America.

Mayne testified that Weisberg now works under the direction of Gardner Jackson, prominent in the early days of the New Deal brain trust, and now the legislative representative or lobbyist of Labor's Non-Partisan league. The league is the political off-shoot of John L. Lewis' C. I. O.

Gets $100 for Letters.

Mayne told the committee that he was approached two months ago by Weisberg, who told him that a certain group opposed to the Dies committee's continuation and headed by himself and Jackson wanted to obtain information which would show directly or circumstantially that there was a collusion between Chairman Dies and Pelley and Fascist groups.

In return for such information, Mayne testified, Weisberg offered to pay him $100 as a retainer and in addition to obtain for him a position in the department of agriculture thru the influence of Gardner Jackson and his contacts in the government.

Mayne said that he then manufactured the bogus letters and turned them over to Weisberg, receiving the $100 retainer. He added that the speech inserted by Congressman Hook in the Congressional Record had been written by Weisberg.

Another Plot Revealed.

Acting Chairman Starnes said that the committee is in possession of affidavits showing that persons in New York City offered sums of money as large as $3,000 for the purpose of showing a connection or collusion between Chairman Dies and the Christian Front, 18 members of which were recently arrested for conspiracy to overthrow the government. This information was to be used to discredit Dies and the committee's investigation and to be given to Congressman Hook for insertion in the congressional record.

Subpenas have been issued for Jackson and Weisberg to appear and answer Mayne's testimony, it was announced.

Apprised of today's evidence, Representative Hook said that he would not appear before the committee until Dies is present. Dies, who has been seriously ill in Texas, is expected to return next week.

"ISN'T THAT BLANKET A LITTLE DAMP, JIM?"

Salesman Shot as Bandits and Police Battle

A stratagem by which the police hoped to capture or kill a band of robbers who held up a number of oil company offices in the last few weeks failed yesterday.

It had a tryout in the quarters of the Metropolitan Petroleum company at 3211 South Wood street, with three women and two men workers as witnesses. Two robbers, masked and carrying pistols, walked in. Two policemen, hidden in a rear room, fired on them.

The robbers returned the shots. More than 20 bullets sped across the room. The police were unscathed. The robbers escaped. The only casualty was a young salesman who had made a call on the office and was leaving when he met the bandit pair.

Victim in Serious Condition.

He is James K. Robbins Jr., 28 years old, 6176 North Wolcott street, an employé of the Monsanto Chemical company, 435 North Michigan avenue. A bullet—fired by police or by bandits—struck him in the right side and emerged at his back. Last night, at St. Anthony's hospital, his condition was described as serious.

The two policemen, Harold DeLave and Cyril O'Connell, had been stationed in the place by Capt. Frank Demski of the Brighton Park district, who reasoned that the Metropolitan, which shares offices with the Union Chemical and Oil company, was a likely scene for the activities of the robbers. They had kept watch since Monday afternoon, and were hidden. They had a view thru a window of the whole office.

Make Salesman Turn About.

Leo Hagerty, the office manager, was seated at his desk when the bandits marched in with Robbins. They had made the departing salesman do an about face on the steps leading to the first floor [the office is on the second] and accompany them upstairs.

"One of the robbers stood near the door," said Hagerty. "Robbins, whom I did not know, was a few feet away. The second robber started toward the safe, which is right in front of the window where the policemen were.

"Somebody—I don't know who it was—fired a shot. I was in the line of fire and ducked. Then everybody was shooting. I suppose there were about 20 shots, but it sounded like more. When it was over Robbins was lying on the floor and the robbers were gone."

The policemen said that when they saw the masked men and Robbins enter the office O'Connell thrust his pistol thru the window, shouted that he was a police officer, and then fired when the intruders showed no inclination to surrender. De Lave said he had a shotgun, but did not use it for fear of hitting some of the workers.

O'Connell ran down the stairs and fired as the fleeing bandits drove away in an automobile with a third man at the wheel. He said he thought he had hit one.

Uphold Officers' Conduct.

Capt. Demski said he was satisfied that, under the conditions, the policemen had behaved well. Hagerty said they had seemed alert.

The other workers in the office said they heard shots and dived to the floor. They could remember little of the details. They are Miss Edna Barry, 810 South Wesley avenue, Oak Park; Mrs. Elmer Perry, 128 Walnut street, Aurora; Miss Rosalie Friedman, 3220 West 61st street, and Edward Karnik, 1605 East avenue, Berwyn.

SO. AFRICAN SENATE TO VOTE ON MOTION BACKING WAR POLICY

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, Jan. 30.—Senator C. F. Clarkson, minister of posts and telegraphs, introduced a motion in the senate today calling upon the upper house to confirm the South African government's war policy. The senate adjourned before a vote was taken.

Speaking in support of the motion, Premier Jan Christian Smuts, proponent of South African participation in the war, said he could not understand how any responsible person could interpret Nazi activities in southwest Africa before the war and their propaganda in the Union of South Africa as meaning anything but that Germany has serious designs on southwest Africa.

Smuts made no direct mention of former Premier J. B. M. Hertzog, whose motion to halt the war with Germany was defeated in the house of assembly Saturday.

Find Londoners Lose Gas Masks at Rate of 200-a Day

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 30.—Altho fewer Londoners are carrying gas masks than at the beginning of the war, they are losing them at an increasing rate. An average of 200 gas masks daily are found in trains, street cars, and buses, according to the lost property office of the London passenger transport board.

Merry Named by Butler in 3 Love Trysts

New York, Jan. 30 (AP).—Merry Fahrney Cassini, patent medicine heiress, heard her butler testify today that on various occasions he had seen her in scanty clad dalliance with three different men—including Hugh Parker Pickering, from whom she has long been divorced. He was the first of her four husbands.

The witness, Fidel Lukban, a Filipino, said Pickering had special privilege in visiting the Fahrney home, adding that he called on an average of five days a week.

Mrs. Cassini is suing her current husband, Count Oleg Cassini, for divorce. She charges that she spied thru the keyhole of a hotel room at 3 a. m. last July 9 and saw the count making love to a showgirl. Lukban was called by the count in contesting the suit.

Merry Denies Infidelity.

Merry, gesticulating with a long cigaret holder, denied infidelity, and made an effort to impeach the butler's testimony by declaring that she had discharged him for profiting on household purchases.

Lukban declared other late and early visitors to the Fahrney ménage, aside from Pickering, were Legrande Griswold, a New York man-about-town, and a man known as "L. B.," identified later by the witness as Lowell Birrell.

Lukban testified that one evening, after serving dinner to "L. B." and Merry, he saw them retire to a bedroom where he served them drinks.

"He had coat off, shirt on," the Filipino said in clipped English. "Later he carried her to couch in living room. This time he had shirt off. She was in transparent pajamas."

Acknowledges Discharge.

Lukban added that he saw her in a bedroom with Griswold on Washington's birthday. He said he particularly remembered a rendezvous of Merry and Pickering last March 17.

"Mr. Pickering ordered me to bring food to his suite at the Delmonico hotel," he said. "I served supper to Mr. Pickering and Mrs. Cassini. He had pajamas. She had nightgown. Next day I went back to pick up the dishes. Mr. Pickering opened the door. Mrs. Cassini was there."

The butler acknowledged that he had been discharged last May 9, but said he had nothing against Mrs. Cassini. "She's just like a kid. Very irresponsible," he declared.

FINNISH FLYERS ALSO STRIKE AT REDS' AIR FIELD

Attack Army Lines and Rail Stations.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Jan. 30 (AP).—Finland's air force, apparently growing in power, was officially reported today to have struck back at Russia by bombing "a certain harbor and vessels lying there, enemy motor lorry columns, troop quarters, and certain railway stations."

Informed sources indicated the harbor was Kronstadt, Russia's greatest west coast naval base, near Leningrad.

A dispatch from Tallinn, Estonia, reported that on Monday eight planes dropped 34 bombs on Estonian soil in the vicinity of Konuvere, near the Russian air base on Dagoe Island.

[Indicating how the Finnish air force is growing, dispatches from Bergen, Norway, reported that a shipment of American made war planes for the Finns had been landed there from two American steamers and started by rail for Finland.]

Shoot Down 21 Planes.

Finland's defenses against enemy air raiders also apparently were increasing in effectiveness, for the high command communique announced that 21 Russian planes had been shot down during yesterday's widespread raids on Finnish cities.

Lieut. Gen. Salvo, chief of Finnish civil air defenses, announced that 300 soviet planes had been shot down and at least 800 Russian airmen killed since the beginning of the war.

On the other hand, he said the Russians had killed 400 civilians and wounded 930, 330 of them seriously, in 642 raids in which they dropped 20,340 bombs on 207 localities outside the war zone.

Bomb Lapland Center.

The Russians continued their raids today, sending a new wave of bombers over south and central Finland. The attacks were reported from Viipuri [Viborg] and Rovaniemi. The latter town, highway and rail center in Lapland, is about 60 miles from the Finnish-Swedish frontier.

The official account of yesterday's Russian air attacks said 200 planes had appeared over Finland, reduced sections of 33 towns to wreckage with a toll of "over 30 civilians killed and about 50 wounded."

On land the Finnish high command again reported Russian attacks northeast of Lake Ladoga had been repulsed with "heavy casualties on the enemy."

The Russians also turned their warplanes and artillery on Fort Mantsi, Finnish stronghold on the shore of Lake Ladoga near Kitela. The fort emerged from the withering fire unshaken, the Finns said. The fort's heavy guns were instrumental in blocking Russian efforts to reënforce their badly battered divisions in this sector.

Field Kitchens Shelled.

On the Karelian isthmus Finnish artillery was reported to have scored direct hits on five Russian field kitchens at meal time, inflicting heavy losses on the invaders.

Unofficial estimates of the numbers killed in the raids yesterday on south and southwest Finland placed the list far higher than the "more than 30" officially announced.

Turku, Finnish seaport, apparently bore the brunt of the Red air attack which lasted for over three hours. More than 30 persons were reported killed in Turku alone.

Other places listed bombed by the Russian planes included "Hango, Tammisaari, the district of Pernaja, a couple of coast towns on the Gulf of Bothnia, and a certain hospital."

Fight on in Arctic.

WITH THE FINNISH NORTHERN ARMY, Jan. 30 (AP).—The Red army has brought up reënforcements and the Finnish arctic army is fighting its hardest battle along a windswept, forested ridge above Russian held Markajarvi at the start of the third month of war.

The Russian reënforcements may total a full division, the Finns say, and 45,000 soviet troops are believed concentrated here in the Salla sector to hold their positions in bitter mid-winter northern fighting which may have cost them 25,000 in dead.

The positions here, 50 miles inside Finland, are almost unchanged after 10 days of battle which followed the Russian retreat of more than 20 miles from Joutsijarvi.

Tars Tell How Air Bomb Sank British Vessel

Turn to the back page for an unusual series of pictures showing German planes raiding British shipping in the North sea. The pictures, of German origin, were sent to Chicago by Associated Press wirephoto. Another picture, sent by radio, shows Fuehrer Hitler as he arrived at sports palace in Berlin yesterday to make speech.

BULLETIN.

BERLIN, Jan. 31, Wednesday (AP).—D. N. B., the official German news agency, tonight said that German planes, on a second day of raiding British coastal and North sea waters, destroyed seven armed enemy merchantmen and damaged an eighth heavily and two others lightly. Two patrol boats also were sunk, it said. One German plane was reported missing. Yesterday the Germans said they destroyed seven armed merchant ships and two patrol vessels.

LONDON, Jan. 30 (AP).—German bombing planes blasted at Great Britain's vital east coast sea lanes from one end of the island to another today with punishing attacks on merchant shipping for the second successive day. The two days of aerial assault have seen more than 20 British and neutral ships under attack.

It was disclosed that in yesterday's raids a German bomber sank the 2,881 ton British steamer Stanburn and 26 of its crew of 28 were lost.

Crewmen from the British steamer Gripfast said the Stanburn and the Gripfast were attacked by two planes, one of which scored three direct hits on the Stanburn. The Stanburn sank in a sheet of blue flame, they said.

Flyers Brave Stormy Skies.

Apparently seeking to establish a bomb blockade of England in retaliation for Britain's relentless sea blockade of the reich, the German war machines braved stormy skies and British fighting planes to swoop low over the coast in their attacks.

At least 20 German bombers flew in toward the coast in search of merchant ships today, a statement issued in London declared.

"Knowing that Europe was in the grip of the severest winter for 46 years, the German air staff had no doubt assumed Great Britain's fighter force would be immobilized," the statement said, "but from Aberdeen to the Kentish coast fighter command patrols were ready to drive off the German raiders."

The royal air force reported that one Heinkel bomber was shot down and another chased out to sea, damaged.

Nearly Hits Church Spire.

Two German raiders flew so low over the northeast coast of Scotland that one just missed a church spire.

A third whisked twice around a Kent lighthouse so close that the keeper could see the crew.

At Yarmouth, shore crowds watched a German bomber loose charges at a patrol ship in the harbor, which hastily slipped anchor and zigzagged out into the roadstead while plumes of water rose on each side. The concussions rattled windows on shore.

Royal air force fighters gave chase as the bombing plane turned southward, apparently seeking new prey over the horizon.

Radio listeners heard a dramatic S O S from the 901 ton British freighter Jersey Queen. An agitated voice reported that it was being bombed, then the sentence was broken by the sound of shellfire. British fighters hurried to its aid.

Report Attack on Warship.

Among the steamers reporting attacks today were the 8,501 ton British

FOES WILL GET THE FIGHT THEY WANTED: HITLER

Predicts Victory for Germany in War.

BERLIN, Jan. 30 (AP).—Adolf Hitler, his voice shrill with emotion and knife-sharp with bitter irony, predicted ominously tonight before a vast Sports palace mass meeting that England and France alike will get "the fight" he said they had asked for. He voiced his utmost confidence that Germany would win the war.

It was the 7th anniversary of Hitler's elevation to chancellor. His speech was the first formal one he had made since Nov. 8, when he barely escaped death in the Munich beer hall explosion. It was announced to the world only a few hours before he went to the platform. The place in which he was speaking was known outside Germany only when the radio broadcast began to come over loud speakers.

Praises German Army.

A wildly enthusiastic throng, however, was there to hear him pronounce the determination of the German people and its leadership unshakeable; its army the greatest in the world; its position safe "from the rear" because of its alliance with Russia and bulwarked by an unchanged and "close friendship" with Italy.

"Old Mr. Chamberlain [British prime minister] with his Bible," Premier Edouard Daladier of France, French generals, and Winston Churchill, British first lord of the admiralty, were the personalities upon whom Hitler's scorn fell successively.

England and France alike were charged by the Fuehrer with an avid desire to break up Germany into bits, to "pulverize" it, and, without partiality, Hitler promised England and France retribution.

Threatens Britain and France.

His voice quivered, then rose to a high pitch as he told how Germany's enemies at home had gotten the war which they wanted. Then he threatened:

"In 1939 the western powers dropped the mask and sent Germany a declaration of war despite all our attempts at an understanding. Today they admit an understanding with Poland might have been possible but they didn't want it. They wanted war. I can only tell England and France, 'They'll get their fight!'"

A cascade of "heils" rolled thru the great hall.

Hitler was bitterest toward "old Mr. Chamberlain," Churchill, and the English, but Daladier and the French were not spared.

Attacks French Premier.

"M. Daladier," he cried [referring to the French premier's contention that Germany was not united], "my native land [Austria] was cited and pitied. O, M. Daladier! You're going to get to know my Ostmarker [Austrians]. You're going to make their acquaintance as you will that of the others, Herr Daladier. They all will show you that there aren't any individual German tribes any longer, Herr Daladier. The whole German people rises against you!"

England, he told "old Mr. Chamberlain," is "being repaid in the terms of her own past history."

"Churchill is burning to start the second phase of the war," Hitler went on. "England's manner of waging war is that of going to war against women and children. I wonder whether they think Germany has been asleep."

Hails Italy as a Friend.

Thus he answered Churchill's recent declarations that Germany, by early inaction, has lost its chance for winning the war.

Of Italy the Fuehrer said:

"For years Germany has pursued a common policy with Italy. This policy has not changed. Both states are intimate friends. Their common interests can be reduced to a common denominator."

Of Russia, Germany's new partnership with her peacetime enemy of years, Hitler asserted:

"For the last year I have tried to remove the possibility of England expanding this war into a general one. Chamberlain then was anxious for an understanding with Russia. Today our enemies are furious that I did what they attempted; namely, to arrive at that understanding. I believe the almighty God will be satisfied that a senseless conflict in one area was averted.

"Thru centuries Germany and Russia were friends—why not now?"

Again he referred to France:

"In England and France the leading classes were determined to fight when the moment of Germany's resurgence came. England has always followed the aim of preventing the consolidation of Europe, just as France for centuries prevented the consolidation of Germany."

Hitler made no reference to specific war aims. He did not predict the next development in the war and he made no forecast of the duration of the conflict.

In general his address was regarded as an effort to spur the German people to new sacrifices. The great crowd in the Sports palace responded in full measure to his stirring appeals.

Goebbels Introduces Hitler.

The Fuehrer spoke for an hour and four minutes, beginning at 8:04 p. m. [1:04 p. m. Chicago time]. He was preceded briefly by Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, German minister of propaganda. Goebbels told Hitler the nation was united firmly behind him.

"Seven years are a mere second in the life of a nation and yet the past seven years seem like more than seven decades of ordinary German history," Hitler said. "It is a time full of portentious events.

"England talks much about war aims. A new Europe is to rise, they say. It is to be filled with justice. This general justice is to make armaments unnecessary. The economic fillip is then to begin.

"Culture is to flower and religion flourish. Unfortunately this golden age has been conjured up repeatedly ere this. It is old stuff.

Expresses German Sorrow.

"We feel sorry for these people who have not invented a single new idea. The 1918 war aim was similarly a new justice with self-determination and national disarmament.

"A world parliament would result coupled with free trade. We experienced what came. In no single case were the nations involved asked whether they were satisfied with what was intended for them.

"Europe was torn up; large states were dissolved. The world was divided into victors and vanquished. Armaments continued.

"The crazy system of reparations was invented. N people experienced the results more than the Germans."

Hitler than gave his familiar picture of post world war conditions which led to the rise of the Nazi movement.

"Englishmen," he continued, "no longer spoke about Bibles—their Bible was the treaty of Versailles. The sole purpose of the league of nations was to compel us to fulfill the terms of the dictate. All this happened in the time of democratic Germany.

"During all this time democratic Germany hoped and begged and protested. International finance remained brutal. Statements of the allied nations remained hard hearted. Nobody cared about the ruination of our agriculture and our industry and our trade.

"There arose the Nazi movement from recognition of the fact that one must not beg, but must help oneself.

Says World Opposed Germany.

"We now trust in the only help available in the world—in the confidence of ourselves. We trusted in the productive powers and intelligence of our people and the products of our soil.

"The rest of the world should have applauded our four year plan, wherein we said we would help ourselves and not ask anything from anybody. Instead, the rest of the world cried out against us.

"If the rest of the world had shown the slightest understanding for our aims and needs, 1939 might have passed off differently.

"We never received anything but 'no' to our demand for colonies."

"Mr. Chamberlain, for 300 years your statesmen always spoke as you do now," Hitler said in a sarcastic tone. "You never fought otherwise than for God and religion, and because you never asked for material aims God rewarded you!

Assails England's History.

"But England never wanted to be the sole fighter for the Lord. She always asked others in. England's history is an uninterrupted series of maltreatments, horrors, and tortures. The aims always were materialistic, but proclaimed as idealistic.

"When Mr. Chamberlain walks with a Bible in his hand it looks to me as if the devil were approaching some poor soul with a prayer book in his hand. That is not original. It is stale. I guess he does not believe it himself."

The audience roared with laughter as Hitler mimicked Chamberlain as a psalm singing and Bible carrying hypocrite. When he referred to the prime minister as "walking with a Bible in his hand," the fuehrer solemnly folded his manuscript in his hands and held them prayer-like.

Hitler charged Chamberlain and French generals with desiring the destruction and dismemberment of Germany. He repeated figures on the density of the German population and reasserted its right to living space.

Describes Rise in Strength.

"Nations once disunited," he continued, "have been united. They find themselves faced by possessor nations.

"England and France want our dissolution. To this our reply is the same as to our internal enemies. Our domestic fight was one without parallel and was seemingly doomed to failure. But we grew and became constantly stronger.

"I realized in 1933 that liberty for our people would come just as hard as victory came domestically. My aim was not a triumph of my party, but freedom for the German people. I tried to appeal to the reason of nations.

Recalls His Warning.

"I succeeded in some instances, but as early as 1933 I found the war inciters banding together against us. I gave warning. The German people had no quarrel with the English and the French people.

"But the time came when I had to answer. I gave the command to inform the German people on these inciters. In 1939 the western powers dropped the mask and declared war despite our efforts. They wanted war.

"Well, in Germany, too, our enemies wanted war. They got it. Just so the English and French will get their fight!"

Speaks of Polish Campaign.

After the references to Italy and Russia Hitler continued:

"The hopes of the English general staff members that the Polish war would not be settled for at least a year were dashed by our army. The country to which England gave a guaranty was wiped out in 18 days. That ended the first phase.

"The second begins. Churchill is most eager for this phase. He lets the middlemen express the hope that the fight with bombs may soon begin, not stopping at women and children. Yet concentration camps are an English invention into which the British put women and children!

Not Asleep, Hitler Says.

"We foresaw this and prepared in advance. Mr. Churchill may rest assured that I have not been asleep a single day. I can assure the German people that during the past five months tremendous things have been done which put into the shade all that had been done in the several previous years. Our armaments production has reached its planned height. Our provision begins to bear fruit.

"The British radio knows everything better. For instance, it is claimed today that only three U-boats are left. I feel sorry for the British.

"I also hear that I am deeply sorry because we do not build two U-boats a day. It is too bad that radio announcers in Britain are representatives of a nation which has not fought for 2,000 years, for the last battle of the Maccabees appears to have lost its educational value.

[The Maccabees, a 2d century Jewish family, revolted against an attempt to abolish the Jewish religion and substitute the Greek cult.]

"Greatest Power in World."

"When I see this foreign propaganda my faith in victory is unbounded, for it was just such propaganda which operated against me domestically.

"Germany today is the greatest power in the world. Germany's armed force is the first in the world. The German people are unique in their discipline. Our enemies are going to get to know our divisions as they will our entire people. . . .

"Twenty-five years ago our nation was poorly equipped, yet we accomplished wonders. Providence was kind to us. Germany gave wonderful proofs of its strength.

"But the German people became ungrateful. It ceased to trust in itself, and trusted others. Providence then turned from us. I never thought Providence was unkind to us. I always believed that Providence gave us what we deserved.

"A second time this will not recur. We will not be ungrateful.

"Germany today has leadership which I assure you is not the worst. A fight for our rights will not have to start again after a few years. I am merely your speaker, but I have never dropped my banner. I can stand before history. Germany will live and be victorious. Germany sieg heil! [Hail victory]."

SITE OF HITLER'S TALK IS A SECRET UNTIL HE SPEAKS

Fear of Assassins Given as Explanation.

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 30.—Few of the 15,000 Germans who jammed the Berlin Sports palace tonight knew they were to hear Adolf Hitler's speech until he appeared with dramatic suddenness in the rear of the hall and strode rapidly to the rostrum.

At noon it was announced that the Fuehrer would speak on the 7th anniversary of his accession to power, but where the address would take place was kept a closely guarded secret.

Those present were under the impression they merely were attending a rally commemorating the events of Jan. 30, 1933. For several days Nazi leaders had announced that the usual ceremonies would be passed up this year. The place in which Hitler spoke was revealed to the public in a radio announcement at the beginning of the program.

Guard Against Assassins.

These unusual precautions were taken, Nazis explained, to prevent "the British secret service from making another attempt to assassinate the Fuehrer." They referred to the bomb explosion in the Munich beer cellar a few minutes after Hitler had finished his last public speech on Nov. 8. The Nazis blamed the British for the blast.

Nazi officials refused to tell foreign correspondents where the speech would take place. At a conference in the propaganda ministry it was announced that any newspapermen who wanted to hear the speech would be taken from the propaganda ministry to the meeting place in buses leaving at 7 p. m., one hour before the scheduled starting time of the rally.

To fill in the hour the Nazis presented movies. When the films were projected on the screen a number of German newspapermen rose and left the room as if by signal. The pictures were French news reels showing extensive preparations for war by the French, British, and Canadians, which the propaganda ministry apparently did not want the Germans to see.

Shows British Troopship.

Enemy tanks, big guns, and armed forces were shown. One reel showed a British troopship leaving for France bearing a sign which read, "Jump on. First stop Berlin." The propaganda ministry refused to say where they obtained the films.

After the presentation of the news reels tickets to the Nazi rally were distributed among the correspondents. The writers were ushered into darkened buses after displaying their credentials to a Nazi party official, who inspected them with a flashlight.

Contrary to the usual practice, no uniformed guards lined the streets leading to the Sports palace. This would have given away the meeting place. The buses crawled thru the dark streets to the Sports palace, where the correspondents passed thru a double line of guards and were admitted after several more inspections of their cards.

Sports Palace Jammed.

Every seat in the Sports palace was occupied. Many were standing along the sides and in the aisles. Before Hitler arrived flag bearers marched down the middle aisle bearing party banners. They took their places on the speaker's platform beneath a huge red bunting bearing, in letters 10 feet high, the words, "Victory lies with our flag!"

Hitler marched in, followed by Robert Ley, leader of the labor front; Heinrich Himmler, chief of all the German police forces; Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels, and other party officials. The Fuehrer was greeted with a storm of "heils" and outflung hands. He wore a double breasted field gray uniform and seemed to be in robust health.

Miss Jean Johnson, 5737 Kenmore avenue, will serve as honorary colonel for Company C at St. John's Military academy, Delafield, Wis., when the company holds its annual midwinter dance Saturday night. She will be escorted by Cadet Capt. William H. Jacob, 6120 North Knox avenue.

ITALIANS LISTEN TO HITLER WITH INDIFFERENCE

ROME, Jan. 30.—Italians listened to Adolf Hitler's speech tonight with indifference. They said they did not like the fact that far more time and cordiality were expended on Russia than on Italy. However, they said they realized that Hitler's policies have a striking parallel in their own Fascist régime.

When Hitler spoke against the western powers, the Versailles treaty, the league of nations, when he proclaimed the need for living spaces and colonies, it might just as well have been their Premier Mussolini speaking for Italy, Italians said.

Hitler's brief references to Italy—that the two countries have common policies and interests and that the British and France want Italy and Germany to be weak and disunited—struck a responsive chord here.

DECLARE HITLER GIVES UP HOPE TO DIVIDE EMPIRES

LONDON, Jan. 30 (AP).—British spokesmen said tonight that Adolf Hitler's Sports palace speech showed that the German Fuehrer at long last had given up hope of separating Great Britain and France.

An authoritative British statement, noting that Hitler attacked Britain and France without much distinction, added: "At last he has learned the folly of his previous efforts to separate France from her ally in order to destroy each of them singly and at his leisure."

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain will have a chance to answer Hitler tomorrow when he speaks at 1:15 p. m. [7:15 a. m. Chicago time] at a luncheon to boost the sale of war savings certificates.

2,700 FIRST LINE GERMAN PLANES REPORTED READY

ROME, Jan. 30.—Germany can employ 2,700 first line planes in an offensive, an article published by La Stampa said today. Of the 2,700 planes, the newspaper said, 1,800 are bombers and 900 fighters. Moreover, it added, Germany has at least 900 additional planes as immediate reserve, fully equipped and manned.

The article is considered noteworthy because it perhaps is based on figures obtained by the Italians at the time of the signing of the Italian-German military pact, when military collaboration between the two countries was supposed to be close.

La Stampa, however, explained that the figures given are hypothetical because, it said, it cannot be learned what Germany has organized during the current winter and what surprises next spring may have in store.

BRITISH RECRUIT AMERICAN PILOTS TO TRAIN FLYERS

New York, Jan. 30 [Special].—In an effort to speed up the British empire's airplane pilot training program British agents have quietly opened negotiations in the United States to obtain experienced American flyers for positions as aviation instructors in Canada.

An initial group of 35 American pilots is now being recruited, it was reported, and more will be employed later, if available. The American flyers chosen probably will start work in Canada within three weeks, it was said.

Unmarried flyers who had experience in the world war are said to be preferred for the instructors' positions. Recruiting headquarters have been established in a midtown Manhattan hotel.

Hitler's Talk Void of New Arguments, French Aver

PARIS, Jan. 30 (AP).—Adolf Hitler's speech in Berlin was received in Paris semiofficial circles tonight with "calm indifference." The Fuehrer's declaration, they said, displayed "neither any new argument nor any new indication" of what he intends to do.

We want a medal. We want to be decorated. We HEAR that men do better work, and make more money, do much more work, in the mornings, because they know they'll get to go at noon to a B/G, and spend fifteen uninterrupted minutes . . . with a deep B/G casserole of crusty, meaty, savory and filling . . . ARMY WILL SEEK 40 MILLIONS TO BUY AIR RAID ALARM SYSTEM

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30 (AP).—Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, told the house military committee privately, members said today, that the army plans to ask congress for 40 million dollars to give the nation an air raid warning system.

Committee members said he told them that the army also proposes to devote 300 million dollars to construction and completion of coast defenses and 240 millions to the acquisition of so-called critical equipment.

Meanwhile Secretary Charles Edison was telling the house naval committee that in reckoning the country's defense needs "we must visualize the worst situation, and to my mind that would mean some coalition of aggressive nations whose interests might be actively inimical to ours."

He pleaded that the navy's 1,300 million fleet expansion program not be slashed to 750 millions and warned that unless the United States were strong, its interests, liberties and wealth were almost certain to be targets of aggression.

Frost and Ship Sinkings Give Norway Coal Shortage

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Jan. 30.—Frost, failing supplies and ship sinkings have resulted in a serious coal shortage in Norway. Oslo and some other towns are on rations. Since rivers and waterpower plants are frozen, industry lacks electricity.

U. S. WAR PLANES REACH NORWAY; SENT ON TO FINNS

Fully Armed for Combat Against Russians.

BERGEN, Norway, Jan. 30 (AP).—At least 11 American made pursuit planes, fully armed and equipped with the latest devices for aerial warfare, and many crates containing ammunition, guns, and other military equipment, were landed here from two American steamers today and were started immediately by rail for Finland.

The planes were included among 200 crates unloaded from the Mormactide which arrived on Saturday. The ship left Baltimore on Jan. 8 and New York on Jan. 13 and apparently was granted passage thru the British blockade.

Materials, not including planes, were landed from the Mormacsun which arrived on Sunday. The vessel left New York on Dec. 22. It was intercepted by the British patrol and taken into the British contraband control port at Kirkwall, in the Orkney Islands, on Jan. 3.

Shipments a Secret.

The shipments to Finland were kept secret in New York, but when the Mormacsun was intercepted and taken to Kirkwall, which is inside the danger zone described in the American neutrality act, the Washington state department warned Great Britain that she would be held liable for "losses and injuries" suffered by American ships taken forcibly into danger zones.

The British held the Mormacsun for more than 24 days, tho during that time they released for Finland 25 cases and 4 bales of Red Cross and relief supplies taken from the ship.

It was impossible to discover the type of the planes received here as they were kept in their packing cases which had no revealing marks.

[With Washington, D. C.'s, approval Finland was given prior right to purchase 44 Brewster fighter planes in the United States. They were originally intended for the American navy.]

Receive Other Planes.

In addition to today's arrivals 35 British pursuit planes and 25 Italian planes have reached Finland in the last week by way of Sweden.

Other American equipment for Finland is en route to Bergen on the Mormacstar, which left New York on Jan. 20 after stopping at Norfolk, Philadelphia, and Baltimore, and is due here on Feb. 3 or 4.

The Mormactide, the Mormacsun, and the Mormacstar are vessels of nearly 5,000 tons each which belong to the American Scantic Lines and at present are operated by the Moore-McCormack Lines of New York. The freighters have been sold to Brazil and are on their last voyage in the Scandinavian trade.

American Planes Arrive in Norway

Two American steamers, the Mormacsun and the Mormactide, arrived in Bergen, Norway, after voyages from the United States. The ships carried munitions, planes, and other war supplies destined for Finland. The Mormacsun carried no planes. The area covered by diagonal ruling is a danger zone barred to United States shipping by the revised neutrality act. The Marmacsun apparently entered the area only because it was turned into Kirkwall, contraband station, by the British. The planes which arrived in Bergen were started immediately by rail for Finland. The railroad indicated is the most direct rail route to that country.

WORKERS EXECUTED BY HELSINGFORS, RED NEWS AGENCY CLAIMS

MOSCOW, Jan. 30 (AP).—An official Russian news agency [Tass] dispatch from Stockholm tonight said that the Finnish government at Helsingfors had executed hundreds of workers suspected of sympathy with the Kuusinen régime.

[This régime is the "people's government," whose establishment was announced by Moscow on Dec. 1, the day after Russia invaded Finland. Moscow said it was set up at Terijoki, just inside the Finnish frontier on the Karelian isthmus, headed by Otto Kuusinen, a Finnish communist exile.]

The dispatch to Tass asserted that workers were being executed without trial, their homes burned, and thousands arrested.

TURKS CHARGE NEW PROPAGANDA TWIST BY NAZIS

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Jan. 30.—German propaganda in Turkey has been given a new twist, today's issue of Ulus, semiofficial organ, said. Germany, the paper said, apparently is embarking on the dissemination of stories intended to create alarm and despondency among the people. Ulus said the recent earthquake was presented as God's judgment on Turkey for ranging itself on the side of Great Britain and France, while the president of Turkey was credited with the evil eye because he had visited the stricken region shortly before the earthquake.

GENERAL URGES BRITAIN TO OPEN WAR ON RUSSIA

LONDON, Jan. 30.—Britain and France should send ships to Petsamo, Finland, destroy any Russian ships found there, and close Murmansk, Russian Arctic port, Gen. Sir Hubert Gough, commander of the Fifth army in the world war, states. His views appear in the magazine "English Speaking World."

Urging immediate action, Gen. Gough wrote that altho Britain was not warring with Russia, Russia was at war with Britain, a state of affairs that, he said, ought to be ended by a decision actively to aid the Finnish people.

Such action, the general said, would arouse confidence in British ability to aid "the next victims." "Isn't it probable," he asks, "that Germany and Russia have already drawn up a definite plan to divide Norway and Sweden between them?"

Hungary Gets No Surprise in Speech by Count Csacky

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Jan. 30.—Count Stephan Csacky, foreign minister, today made to parliamentary foreign affairs committees what was expected to be an important statement on European affairs. So far as could be learned, however, he confined his remarks to a report on his recent conversations in Venice, Italy, with Count Galeazzo Ciano, the Italian foreign minister. No résumé of the speech had been issued to the press late tonight.

AMERICANS GIVEN LEGION STATUS IN FINLAND'S ARMY

Fitted with New Uniforms; Begin Training.

AT THE AMERICAN BARRACKS IN NORTHWEST FINLAND, Jan. 30 (AP).—American volunteers in Finland today attained full legion status when they shed civilian dress and donned distinctive new uniforms of dark—almost black-gray—wool.

The only markings are cloth insignia of red and blue on either side of the collar. White badges may be imposed on these to complete the American color scheme.

Most of Finnish Descent.

A short dark overcoat, knee-length ski boots, a light gray cap, a belt for weapons, and a white snow cape complete the outfit.

All day today the legionnaires' own tailors fitted the uniforms to the obviously pleased soldiers.

The Americans are mostly of Finnish descent and anxious to leave for the firing line. Training, however, may keep them in barracks for weeks. Small groups of new arrivals come in constantly.

Several American women also are here to join nursing troops.

Already a Flying Ace.

Mechanics, aviators, and artillery experts received commissions in the Finnish army almost immediately upon arrival. One aviator from New York, with 2,000 hours to his credit, already is reported to have shot down two soviet planes.

About half the Americans now here participated in the war for Finnish independence 20 years ago.

American Minister to Visit King of Arabian Kingdom

Finns Strike Back

Yesterday's developments in the Finnish-Russian war: 1. Continuation of 10 day battle. 2. Russian air attacks reported from Viipuri and Rovaniemi. 3. Russians bombed and shelled Fort Mantsi. 4. Finnish airmen bombed a "certain harbor and vessels," believed to be Kronstadt, Russian naval base, and also dropped bombs near naval base on Dagoe Island. 5. Turku again bombed by Russian planes.

Lieut. Gen. Saivo, chief of the Finnish civil air defense, announced that 800 Russian airmen had been killed since war opened, while only 400 civilians had been killed in the bombing raids.

ROOSEVELT PLAN FOR FINNISH LOAN GETS A SETBACK

Sen. Harrison Proposes Bond Sales Instead.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—The Roosevelt administration's proposal for a government loan of $20,000,000 to Finland received a blow today from Senator Pat Harrison [D., Miss.], chairman of the finance committee and one of the most influential members of the foreign relations committee.

Senator Pat Harrison.

Senator Harrison announced in a formal statement that he will oppose the making of loans thru any government agency, directly or indirectly, to Finland or any other country engaged in war. Such a step, he said, would establish a dangerous precedent and extend an invitation for financial assistance to other countries engaged in war.

Favors Bond Issue.

The Mississippi senator proposed, as an alternative to the Roosevelt proposal of government assistance to Finland, that the Securities and Exchange commission authorize and expedite the registration and sale of Finnish government bonds to private investors in this country.

Since Finland is not in default on her obligations to the United States, the sale of her bonds in this country would not be inhibited by the Johnson act, Senator Harrison explained.

The senator's proposal, it is understood, has the support of enough members of the foreign relations committee to insure defeat of the administration bill reported by the banking and currency committee last week.

This bill, which follows President Roosevelt's recommendations, does not mention Finland, but would increase the revolving fund credit of the Export-Import bank from $100,000,000 to $200,000,000 for the purpose of financing exports of so-called non-military supplies.

Opposes Embargo on Japan.

Senator Harrison also said he will fight the Japanese embargo schemes advocated by various New Deal senators. His position in this matter was said to have been strengthened after conversations with state department officials.

The expiration on Jan. 26 of the 1911 commercial treaty with Japan, which the administration denounced, removed all legal obstacles to the placing of discriminatory penalties against Japanese trade.

"Just because this treaty expired on the 26th of this month is no reason why we should go ahead with any precipitate action," said Senator Harrison. "I'm opposed to any embargo against Japan or any other country."

Senator Harrison conceded that the neutrality law, if invoked with respect to the undeclared soviet Russian war on Finland, would prohibit the sale of Finnish bonds in this country. The law prohibits credit of any kind to a belligerent government or any representative thereof.

Explains Technical Difference.

He expressed the opinion, however, that there is a vast difference, so far as the neutrality policy of this country is concerned, between government loans to Finland and the private purchase of Finnish bonds. He explained that a government loan is unneutral under international law, while private credits are not.

"The American people are appreciative of the fine and valiant services rendered by the Finnish people in defense of their country," said Senator Harrison. "Our people are sympathetic, from every humanitarian viewpoint and patriotic impulse, with little Finland. But, as representatives of the American people, members of congress must form their conclusions after careful consideration.

"As a government we must maintain our neutrality, both in letter and in spirit. We approached the consideration of the recent neutrality legislation in that spirit, and it must be preserved."

Senator Hiram Johnson [R., Cal.], who succeeded the late William E. Borah as ranking Republican on the senate foreign relations committee, in an interview echoed Senator Harrison's sentiments.

HULL PROTESTS TO AMBASSADOR ON BRITISH ACTS

Assails Treatment of American Ships.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull and the British ambassador, Lord Lothian, conferred for three-quarters of an hour in the state department today about the strains British conduct of the war has imposed on British-American relations.

During the 45 minute session, it was later reported, the mild mannered Hull treated Lord Lothian to a bit of Tennessee brimstone. In blunt words, it was said, Hull told the British peer that his nation was being very stupid.

Hull argued that the British, by seizing and searching American mails, are jeopardizing American friendship for the sake of a few dollars' worth of contraband that may be entering Germany by mail.

He also protested against British restrictions against American imports, the operation of British contraband control, and other sources of American irritation against the British government.

Hull Hopes for Improvement.

At a press conference shortly after his meeting with the ambassador, Secretary Hull said nothing of the tenor of the meeting, but he expressed the hope that it would lead to gradual improvement of British-American relations.

Lord Lothian, who was secretary to David Lloyd George, world war prime minister of Britain, acknowledged as he left Hull's office that his meeting with the secretary was concerned with contraband control.

He said the British were considering establishing a control point in the western hemisphere, possibly at St. John, New Brunswick, in order to avoid taking United States ships into belligerent areas for contraband search in areas barred to American ships by the neutrality act.

Under the neutrality act waters from Bergen, Norway, to the Spanish coast are defined as the belligerent zone in the war of France and Britain against Germany. American ships are forbidden by President Roosevelt's neutrality proclamation to enter the area.

Asked about this suggestion and the possibility that it might bring war to American shores should Germany send submarines to operate with mines and torpedoes against such a control base, Hull referred questioners to the navy department. The navy department said that questions on the theater of war were in the province of the state department.

Hull said that no definite conclusions were reached at the meeting, but said he expected that concrete and definite action will come later. He made it clear that today's conference was not an indication that the British and American governments would solve their problems in the future by conferences between himself and the ambassador. All forms of mediation, including notes, will continue to be employed as the occasion dictates, he said.

Ill in Hospital

LYNN FONTANNE.

New York, Jan. 30 [Special].—Lynn Fontanne, the actress, suffering an attack of laryngitis, was resting comfortably in Doctors hospital today. She entered the hospital yesterday after persuading the Theater Guild to cancel engagements in Providence, Hartford, and Worcester. She had difficulty filling an engagement in Baltimore last week. She decided to rest in order to be ready for a benefit performance for Finland of "The Taming of the Shrew" next week. She will appear with her husband, Alfred Lunt.

BRITONS EAGER TO BET WAR ISN'T ENDED IN 1940

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 30.—In an after dinner speech, R. C. Morrison, Socialist member of parliament for North Tottenham, recently declared his willingness to bet that fighting in the war would come to an end this year. A fellow guest bet him a dinner. Since the report of his speech was published, Morrison has received 200 offers of wagers totaling $8,000. The smallest was $1 and the largest $2,000, which was offered by a firm of bookmakers.

WOODRING A FOE OF CENSORSHIP; TRUSTS PAPERS

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 30 (AP).—Even if this country were at war, Secretary of War Harry H. Woodring said tonight he would oppose any censorship of the American press. Addressing several hundred writers and advertising men at a dinner, the cabinet member said: "I have sufficient faith in the loyalty of our American newspaper men to rely on their judgment in keeping the columns of the press free from anything that will give aid and comfort to our enemies."

JAPAN DEMANDS BRITAIN RETURN 21 SEIZED NAZIS

'Essential,' Minister Tells Ambassador.

TOKIO, Jan. 31, Wednesday (AP).—Japan stiffened its stand against Britain yesterday in their dispute over Britain's seizure of 21 German seamen from the Japanese liner Asama Maru. It notified the British ambassador that return of the Germans to Japanese custody was "essential."

Previously Japan had only reserved the right to demand their return, thus leaving an exit by which a diplomatic frontal clash might be avoided. Diplomats expressed belief that yesterday's notification changed the situation.

[An informed source in London said last week that return of the Germans was "unthinkable."]

Resume Conference Today.

The Germans, who were returning home, were taken off the Japanese liner by a British warship off Yokohama on Jan. 20.

The foreign office announced that Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita informed the British ambassador, Sir Robert Leslie Craigie, of Japan's attitude at a conference in which every angle of the case was dismissed. Craigie and Arita will meet again today.

In view of Japan's stand, officials agreed the British reply to the original Japanese protest would not be published at once. Japan is preparing what officials called a considered reply.

U. S. Warned on Embargo.

Passage of the Pittman embargo measure by the United States congress, even tho it gives only discretionary powers to the President, would be a serious affront to Japan, Yakichiro Suma, foreign office spokesman, said today.

Suma announced complete disagreement in the mixed commission organized to examine the boundaries of Siberia, Manchukuo, and Mongolia, which have caused four serious military clashes between Japan and Russia. He said the commission had disbanded.

Many Industries Halt.

A virtually complete 14-hour shutdown of the industrial heart of Japan, the Osaka metropolitan area, was effected yesterday because of a shortage of electric power. The shortage resulted from a lack of coal blamed on the wartime burden put on ships and railways and from a three month drouth that has reduced water power.

The shutdown affected 14 prefectures that account for nearly half of the empire's industrial production. They include the cities of Osaka, 3,500,000 population, chief industrial city; Kyoto, 1,200,000, and Kobe, 1,000,000, Japan's busiest port. More than 3,000,000 workmen were made idle.

Railways and telegraph and telephone systems and industries providing war munitions remained in operation.

Tokio and Yokohama Hit.

Newspapers stated the power shutdown would be applied in Tokio and Yokohama for a week beginning tomorrow. They represent the country's second largest industrial area.

Shipbuilding, machinery manufacturing, automobile, rubber, and toy factories, and perhaps commercial aircraft plants will be closed. All plants, in fact, except necessary utilities, communications facilities and war munition factories, will be affected. Tokio's crowded street cars and subways will further curtail their service.

The government is understood to be preparing measures to insure that industrialists pay a part of the wages of the workmen who will be thrown out of employment.

Submarine Launched

Official navy picture of launching of new United States submarine Tautog at Groton, Conn. The navy retouched the section of the picture which shows ship's bow (inside dotted line) to prevent disclosure of naval secrets.

Groton, Conn., Jan. 30 [Special].—The navy department today made public a photograph of the launching last Saturday of the submarine Tautog. The picture was retouched by the navy so as not to reveal some secrets of the craft's structure. The Tautog is 300 feet long and weighs 1,475 tons. Its name means blackfish or oysterfish.

tanker Triumph, the 4,553 ton collier Coryton, and the trawler Algoma.

The German bombardment of the Shetland Islands yesterday was reported to have been directed against a British warship, but all of the 12 bombs dropped fell harmlessly into the sea.

The trawlers Rigoletto and Durrant reported one man killed on each ship during yesterday's raids by machine gunning from low flying raiders.

Two lifeboats of the 1,487 ton British steamer Eston were washed ashore a few hundred yards from a northeast coast port. It was believed lost with its crew of 18.

John Sanders of Yarmouth barely made shore after the lightship on which he worked was bombed and machine gunned. His seven shipmates were drowned when their dingy overturned.

Greek Ship on Rocks.

The 4,537 ton Greek steamer Adamantios J. Pithis was reported breaking up on the rocks off the west coast after running aground Saturday. The crew of 38 were safe.

Sixteen crewmen from the British steamer Giralda, 2,178 tons, were drowned when their ship sank off the Orkney islands and their lifeboat capsized.

Germany centered all the attacks on the east coast, where Britain would be hurt most. The east coast ports handle about 50,000,000 tons of Britain's normal 90,000,000 tons of inbound shipping yearly.

David Lloyd George, Britain's world war premier, warned against complacency over the British sea position on Jan. 25, asserting that the kingdom's merchant marine's carrying capacity was down 6,000,000 tons from the world war.

Danish Ship Sinks; 20 Die.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Jan. 30 (AP).—Loss of the crew of 20 aboard the 2,094 ton Danish steamer Fredensborg when it struck a mine off the coast of Scotland was announced today.

French Seize Contraband.

PARIS, Jan. 30 (AP).—The government today announced that during the week ending Jan. 28 the French navy detained 12 ships from which 21,000 tons of cargo considered contraband was removed. Since the war began the French blockade forces have detained a total of 266 vessels and seized 502,000 tons of merchandise.

COLD WEATHER BRINGS BRITISH FOOD QUEUES; COAL IS RATIONED OUT

LONDON, Jan. 30 (AP).—Britons faced curtailed food and fuel supplies tonight as the worst winter in 46 years continued to disrupt transportation facilities.

The traffic tie-up halted meat deliveries in some districts and butchers were forced to close shop. Housewives lined up outside Lancaster stores to buy bread and other food supplies, which were running low. Bakers there said their stocks probably would be exhausted tomorrow because of a shortage of yeast.

The government informed householders that deliveries of coal would be restricted to 224 pounds weekly and warned them to use gas and electricity sparingly.

HOOVER'S VIEWS ON POLISH RELIEF SOUGHT IN HOUSE

Will Be Asked to Testify Before Committee.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30 (AP).—Sol Bloom [D., N. Y.], chairman of the house foreign affairs committee, said today that former President Herbert Hoover, director of a Finnish relief campaign, will be invited to give the committee his views on relief in Poland.

The disclosure came at the end of the first day of hearings on a number of measures proposing federal contributions, ranging from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000, for relief of citizens of the former republic, dismembered by Germany and Russia.

At the hearing, Representative R. G. Tenerowicz [D., Mich.], author of one of the bills, read to the committee what he identified as a German police notice, saying that Polish women would be placed in houses of prostitution if they spoke to or annoyed Germans.

Soviets Bar Relief.

The committee also received word from Secretary of State Cordell Hull that soviet Russia had refused to permit representatives of relief organizations to inquire as to the condition of Poles in Russian occupied territory. The secretary asserted in a letter to Bloom that the American Red Cross was operating in German occupied Poland in association with the German Red Cross.

Theodore Abel, a Columbia university professor who represents the commission for Polish relief, testified that his organization had made little headway in reaching Poles left in their former homeland.

The bills under consideration provide that appropriations be turned over to the Red Cross or some other organization designated by the President for the procurement of food, clothing and medical supplies.

VATICAN DEAF TO PROTEST

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 30 (AP).—Informed sources today indicated that German representations to the Vatican against radio broadcasts telling of excesses attributed to German authorities in German occupied Poland have been fruitless.

The only German representation was made in Berlin last week, they said, and it was answered with the statement that Vatican radio broadcasts were entirely private and without any official character.

The Vatican radio station last week broadcast a critical account of alleged conditions in Poland, charging the German authorities with mistreatment of the population, including the clergy. Vatican officials have withheld comment.

Yesterday the Polish embassy to the Holy See circulated a pamphlet containing detailed reports of alleged persecution of Catholics in Poland, charging that the German authorities aimed at their extermination.

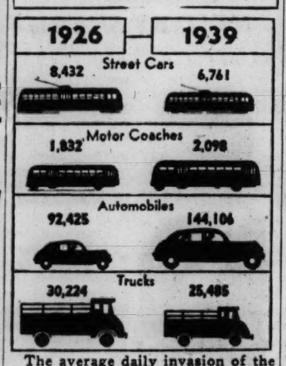

EXPECT TO BARE SPONSORS OF COP IN BRIBE SCANDAL

A statement concerning the political sponsors of John Howe, the state highway policeman revealed in the jury bribery investigation as an escaped insanity patient and accused bandit, probably will be made public in Springfield today. This was learned last evening. For the second consecutive day F. Lynden Smith, state director of public works, who gave Howe his job, could not be reached for comment.

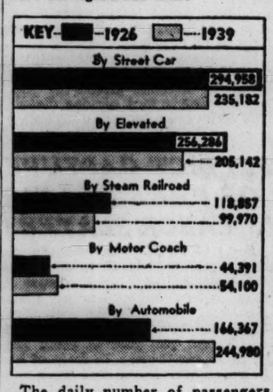

At Springfield yesterday Walter Williams, chief of the state force, announced that each of the 350 men in his command was undergoing a new examination to determine whether all have clean records. Fingerprints of each will be sent to the bureau of identification in Washington.

The examination was ordered after the arrest of Howe and the disclosure that State Policeman Frank Rizzo had served a reformatory sentence for larceny in 1923. Rizzo, who had been stationed at district No. 3, Harlem avenue and Irving Park road, resigned from the force on Jan. 10.

Traffic in Loop

The average daily invasion of the loop by vehicles in 1926 compared with the figure for 1939.

The daily number of passengers entering the loop in various forms of transportation for the years 1926 and 1939.

The shortage of off-street parking facilities for automobiles in the central business area was emphasized yesterday in the annual report of the street traffic committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce. The report said that an average of 144,106 passenger cars and 25,485 trucks entered the loop daily during 1939.

There were, however, only 29,300 off-street parking places for automobiles in the area, the report continued. The committee said it had coöperated with the city traffic engineer in a survey of the facilities of 44 garages and 193 parking lots.

The passenger automobiles carried a daily average of 244,980 persons into the loop, with street cars adding another 235,182 persons. The elevated carried 205,142 persons, steam railroads 99,940 persons, and the motor coach company 54,100 riders a day into the central area.

In 1926, the first year of the traffic survey, approximately 92,425 passenger automobiles and 30,224 trucks entered the loop adily.

VOTE TO INDICT 5 IN 1ST WARD ELECTION FRAUD

True bills charging conspiracy in the mayoral election last April 4 were reported to have been voted by the grand jury yesterday against the five members of the election board in the 2d precinct of the 1st ward. This is the ninth election board in the ward which has been the subject of grand jury action.

Those reported named by the grand jury are Bernard Rattner, 29 West Quincy street, and Maybelle Dodds, 25 East Jackson street, Democratic judges; Esther Sielaff, 237 South Dearborn street, Republican judge; Minnie Fowler, 430 South Michigan avenue, Democratic clerk, and Katharine Stilwell, 237 South Dearborn street, Republican clerk.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki ordered mayoral election watchers at three precincts in the 32d ward brought into court on subpenas Friday after testimony in a vote fraud case disclosed that straight Republican ballots had been tossed into the Democratic pile and counted for Mayor Kelly in all of the precincts. Jarecki said it was strange that the same mistake was made in the 17th, 20th, and 28th precincts.

BRITAIN'S ARMY BARES DEADLIEST ENEMY: TRAFFIC

40 War Casualties; 720 Die of Ills, Mishaps.

LONDON, Jan. 30 (AP).—Oliver Stanley, secretary for war, today told the house of commons the first British army casualty list, to be published tomorrow, will contain 40 names, including wounded, and report 720 deaths from accident or disease at home and abroad since the beginning of the war to Dec. 31, 1939.

"There has been no undue number of deaths from disease, altho there has been a regrettable number of deaths from traffic accidents," Stanley said.

Blackout Takes Heavy Toll.

Most of the traffic deaths have been attributed to the blackout, which has taken a heavy toll of civilians.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain assured the house that war cabinet members would not disclose secrets in private speeches. "Important statements on the progress of the war and war effort have been and will continue to be made by ministers in parliament," he added.

Fighting Flares Near Saar.

PARIS, Jan. 30 (AP).—The British-French high command's communique tonight stated: "Marked activity of contact units west of the Saar [river]. In the same region artillery on both sides was in action during a large part of the day."

Renewed snowfall reduced other activities on the western front.

Dutch Protest to Berlin.

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 30 (AP).—The government press service announced today that the Netherlands had protested to Berlin against violation of Netherlands neutrality by German warplanes reported seen yesterday over northeastern and central Holland. Netherlands antiaircraft batteries opened fire and chaser planes were sent up.

8 JURORS PICKED TO TRY 4 AFTER LABOR ASSAULT

Eight jurors were selected yesterday before Judge Joseph A. Graber in Criminal court to try four men accused of malicious mischief and conspiring to commit assault in an attack last Aug. 22 in which four men hired to remove equipment from the plant of the Revere Coppper and Brass company and two other persons were injured. It is expected the jury will be completed today.

The company's plant at 2200 Natchez avenue at that time was having a labor dispute with the American Federation of Labor division of the United Automobile Workers of America. The movers, led by Paul Stoddard, personnel director of the Landis Award Employers' association, thru which they had been engaged, left the plant and were attacked by a motorcade of slugggers.

The sluggers threw bricks, vials of acid, and bars of metal at the men on the truck and chased them into a grocery at 5823 North avenue. There the goons attacked the men, injuring the four movers, Stoddard, and Earl Sanders, whose father owns the store.

The defendants, all members of the U. A. W. A., are Steve Mizialko, Walter Zaker, Michael Keglovitz, and Tony Oswald.

Two Firebugs Meet Match by Dropping a Match Box

Apartment dwellers near 71st street and Crandon avenue may relax. A match box found by Policeman James Droney and Edward J. A storekeeper's story of the purchase of seven such boxes led the policemen to seize John Midkiff, 15 years old, and his brother, Walter, 13, of 7108 Merrill. The boys admitted they started the blazes for fun.

LAWYER ACCUSES TWO DEFENDANTS IN BERWYN THEFT

Ernest W. Mau, treasurer of Berwyn, and Matthew Berg, former treasurer, who are on trial on charges of embezzlement in the Criminal court of Judge William J. Lindsay, attempted to shift responsibility from each to the other yesterday after a witness had accused them of asking him to cover up a conversion of $3,726 in city funds.

Attorney Harry Hitzman, husband of Mau's former secretary, Rosalyn, who presented a special assessment bond check for payment after records showed the bond already had been redeemed, testified that Mau had asked him to permit his wife to cash the check. Hitzman said Mau told him he had obtained some assessment bonds at a discount, and, as a city official, did not want the transaction to appear in his own name.

Later, Hitzman said, when an investigation convinced him the transaction was not legitimate, Berg, in the presence of Mau, said to him: "If you and Mrs. Hitzman would deny that that is her signature on the check, that would be all there is to it." On cross-examination counsel for the two defendants each attempted to place blame onto the other's client.

REPORT 2D BLAZE IN MONTH ON NEW U. S. PLANE SHIP

Boston, Mass., Jan. 30 (AP).—The Boston Post says that the second fire within a month caused $5,000 damage aboard the navy's new $30,000,000 airplane carrier Wasp today.

A rigid investigation into the possibility of sabotage has been begun, the paper says, adding that the blaze started in unoccupied crew quarters while the vessel was docked at the Fore River shipbuilding yards in near-by Quincy.

The 14,700 ton Wasp, which a few weeks ago underwent a shakedown cruise off Provincetown, is scheduled to go on trial runs Feb. 18 or 19 with naval officials aboard.

SLASH ½ BILLION FROM NEW DEAL FARM SPENDING

154 Millions Sheared Off Roosevelt Request.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—President Roosevelt's spending program was dealt the most telling blow in seven years when the house appropriations committee today reported an agriculture department appropriation bill totaling $626,369,000, more than half a billion dollars less than was appropriated last year for the farm program of the current fiscal year.

The action caused consternation in government circles. About 1,500 employés faced the loss of their jobs. The committee wiped out the funds for the agency administrating the farm tenant act with its 583 workers and the bureau supervising the sugar act, which employs 175.

Refuses Surpluses Outlay.

Moreover, the agency running the corporation for the disposal of surplus farm commodities was refused an appropriation of $72,670,000. The agency thus would have to subsist on the regular fund for disposal of surplus commodities, which is 30 per cent of all custom tax receipts, and which this year totaled less than half the amount used in operation of the agency, whose 1,819 employés contemplated the future with apprehension.

President Roosevelt had recommended that approximately $781,000,000 be spent on the farm program during the next fiscal year beginning July 1. He said this was an absolute bedrock figure, noting that one billion 185 millions was being spent for agriculture during the present fiscal year. These figures do not include an additional 100 millions annually which are permanent appropriations and not subject to change by congress.

Recommend 154 Million Cut.

After holding hearings which consumed more than 1,500 pages of testimony, the committee decided that there were further economies to be effected, and recommended reductions aggregating more than $154,500,000 in Mr. Roosevelt's estimates.

While Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace protested that efficiency in his department would be hindered by the reductions, economy leaders in the house hailed the committee's work as evidence that an approach to a balanced budget could be made by a painstaking study without injury to any worthy beneficiary.

Farm leaders, aided by agriculture department lobbyists, began sounding out sentiment in an attempt to ascertain if they might reverse the committee's report on the floor. They found the farm bloc in confusion. Their tentative strategy was to give up the fight in the house and depend upon a strong campaign in the senate to restore the millions eliminated.

Sugar Act Fund Eliminated.

The principal economy recommended by the committee concerned the abolition of the $72,670,000 appropriation for the program of disposing of farm surpluses. This scheme involves subsidization of exports of cotton, wheat, and corn, and also the food stamp plan effective in 28 cities. Under the food stamp system, persons on relief are entitled to an extra 50 cents in food purchases for each dollar they spend.

In eliminating the proposed appropriation of $47,975,000 for the administration of the sugar act of 1937 the committee held that because of the suspension of sugar quotas last September as a result of the war situation, there was no necessity for continuance of the appropriation. If the quotas are resumed, congreses can act to provide funds, members of the committee said.

Restores 39 Millions of Subsidy.

In reporting the independent offices appropriation bill at a total of $1,100,187,267, a senate appropriations subcommittee today undid some of the economies of approximately $100,000,000 voted by the house. The subcommittee restored $39,000,000 of the $75,000,000 in ship subsidy appropriations for the maritime commission which the house had eliminated.

The subcommittee also approved $710,000 for the continuance of the national resources planning board, which had requested $1,060,000. Funds for this agency, as well as $1,055,000 for the office of government reports, a New Deal propaganda bureau, were denied by the house.

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Jan. 30 (AP).—Theodore Cella, 39, harpist and assistant conductor of the New York Philharmonic orchestra, and Mrs. Mabel Boll were married here today by County Judge Boyd H. Anderson. Mrs. Boll, known in aviation circles as "the queen of diamonds," started out in 1928 to fly the Atlantic, but gave up without success. Mr. and Mrs. Cella left on a wedding trip to Havana.

HEARING TODAY, ON COURTNEY QUIZ CHARGES

State's Attorney Courtney today must appear before Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court to answer charges that he and his subordinates used threats against the foreman of the jury that acquitted two 11th ward political workers in the vote fraud and jury bribery investigation. The charges were made on Jan. 26 by Oliver Thoner, the jury foreman, who is an engineer and an employé of the American Car and Foundry company.

The jury he headed acquitted Samuel Orlando and Joseph Vinci, leaders in the 52d precinct of the 11th ward, who were charged with vote frauds. Since the acquittal three of the jurors have admitted accepting bribes. At no time was Thoner involved in the bribery charges, but he was questioned by the grand jury and by the state's attorney in connection with the investigation into the bribery.

Yesterday Thoner filed an amended petition before Judge Prystalski relating that State's Attorney Courtney personally had ordered him to take a lie detector test and threatened him with loss of his job if he refused. During the day the grand jury, which had not been mentioned by Thoner, appeared before Judge Prystalski and declared in a memorandum that his charges that the jury had threatened him in any way were untrue. Judge Prystalski merely acknowledged the jury's report and said the hearing on Thoner's charges would be held today.

IN THE WORLD OF WORDS (4)

By CALEB

SPEECH being for the ear, writing for the eye, the vocabulary technique and effects of the one rarely—and then only partially—approach those of the other. Facile speakers are seldom effective writers; brilliant writers, with exceptions, are never eloquent speakers. Which explains why so many "lecturing authors" prove, on the platform, such poor upholders of their literary reputations.

More competent training in both these divergent forms of language-use is a need repeatedly stressed by many educators, and by most critics of the civilized scene. Stressed, because both in these and in the days ahead, the laurels of achievement — social, commercial, political and personal — will fall thickest upon those who, with equal distinction and conviction, can speak and write their native idiom.

As yet, the average American college or university graduate can do neither of these things. The uniformity with which he can do neither, moreover, is in a sense more calamitous in its prospects than the mortality from heart disease. Scientific exactitude is being focused on eradication of the latter —and with great promise, because no one wishes to die of the malady. But the astonishing tolerance of patients enjoying "poor health" in English makes it deplorably difficult to predict any such interest on the part of the former.

Perhaps a few more popular screen productions like "Pygmalion" would help in this matter of heightening general attainment of improved speech. A second "Pygmalion" is even more sadly needed, however, to show the rewards awaiting all who will similarly improve their writing.

Meantime, teachers of composition and instructors in public speaking perform at their unappreciated best, striving to develop more creditable practice in the communicative art. Here and there a determined student lends his voluntary co-operation — and one more violator of the King's English is eliminated. But if excellent speech and writing are ever to become commonplaces of today's culture, instead of its unique exceptions, the classrooms where they can be acquired will have to be invested with some charm able to draw multitudes to their sessions— in place of the mere handfuls which resort there now!

THE GOON TERROR STALKS NEARLY ALL LARGE CITIES

Beginning in Oregon, It Has Spread Rapidly.

The use of goons in labor strife thruout the country has increased to such proportions that nearly every large industrial city is now facing the problem of uprooting this vicious system of professional slugging.

Goonism, defined as the systematic use of professional sluggers, bombers and killers in labor disputes, had its earliest growth in lumber and waterfront wars in Oregon several years ago and has spread rapidly over the country. The battle between the Congress of Industrial Organizations and the American Federation of Labor for preëminence in the national labor movement and the interunion struggles of leaders battling for power have fed its sinister growth.

Condonation of goonism and the virtual extralegal licensing of its use has been charged against the National Labor Relations board before a congressional committee. The board was accused not only of permitting the system to flourish but also of maintaining its own goon squad to intimidate its employés.

Federal Action Refused.

Despite this and other official disclosures of goonism evidence before government departments, federal authorities have taken no action against it, claiming they lack jurisdiction. Only in isolated instances in which the public finally has revolted against the insidious outlawry, as in Oregon, has the evil been elliminated.

In some instances efforts to curb goonism have been so ineffectual the unions are accused of using their political power to protect the system from law enforcing officers. However, city police generally deny they are dallying with the problem and insist they are doing their best to keep their communities relatively free of goons.

Following is a statement of goon conditions in various cities.

Busy in Sioux City.

SIOUX CITY, Ia.—Goon squads have been aggressively active here for several years, particularly in the last 18 months. In three recent strikes professional sluggers were busy and persistent despite efforts of police to curb them.

In the four month strike of the C. I. O. Packing House Workers at the Swift & Co. plant, which ended a year ago, numerous company employés were ambushed and beaten, their families terrorized in their homes, and many residences damaged with thrown bricks and rocks. Among the persons arrested and convicted of participating in the violence was James Porter, one of the directors of the strike. Pending an appeal, however, he is at liberty and is engaged in C. I. O. organizing work in other states.

Coal Drivers Assaulted.

Many persons were arrested on charges of assualt and battery in connection with the strike of A. F. of L. Bakery Truck Drivers last spring, but comparatively light penalities were imposed on them. The federal government prosecuted a half dozen men for kidnaping a truck driver and taking him across the state line into Minnesota.

Goonism broke out anew in the current strike of A. F. of L. Coal Truck Drivers, which started three weeks ago. Drivers were assualted, their loads of coal dumped in city streets, and their trucks damaged. Stench bombs were thrown into the homes of company executives and employés. Numerous arrests were made on assault and intimidation charges, but only one such case has been successfully prosecuted.

Situation in St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Altho this city has been relatively free of strikes in recent months, the attention of police has been called to numerous instances in which goons have been at work trying to persuade nonunion workers to join a union or to refuse to continue their jobs.

Goonism at its worst was exemplified in the fatal slugging of Raymond Coyle as he left the Crunden-Martin Steel company plant on Oct. 21, 1937. Four union men were arrested and indicted on charges of manslaughter. One of them, Charles Lane, confessed he was hired by a C. I. O. organizer to beat Coyle because he opposed the union. Lane later pleaded guilty and was sentenced to serve ten months in the workhouse.

Flint, Mich., Hard Hit.

FLINT, Mich.—Goon squads appeared in the labor picture here with the inception of the devastating automobile strikes of 1936-'37. Local industry was paralyzed for forty days and many serious riots occurred during these dark times.

Armed with clubs and homemade blackjacks, goons waylaid and beat non-union workers in dark streets, railroad yards and parking lots. They visited the homes of workers who didn't want to join the C. I. O. union and threatened them and their families with dire consequences unless they stopped resisting.

When the C. I. O. United Automobile Workers union was split by internal dissension into two groups, goons from each side turned their attention to sharpshooting for members in the ranks of their rivals.

Police and other authorities at first contented themselves with issuing warnings and later arrested a few. Some were assessed small fines, but most of them escaped punishment because of the inability or refusal of those attacked to identify their assailants. Finally, however, state police aided local authorities in closing several union halls following disturbances. The trouble subsided and has been almost nonexistent here for more than six months.

Familiar to Detroit.

DETROIT, Mich.—Squads of goons, operating somewhat like the gangsters in prohibition era warfare, have become well known in Detroit. They have been in especial evidence since the split of the United Automobile Workers into C. I. O. and A. F. of L. factions.

During every major strike, whether involving one or the other of the big labor organizations, the union and the management have accused each other of operating goon squads. Police have acted with a firm hand whenever they could obtain evidence. Few convictions have been obtained, however.

A typical case occurred a few months ago when a fight in a tavern brought police into the case. The victim, with a sore jaw, discounted the seriousness of the trouble and said he just had an argument over unionism with a couple of men he would not identify. Two hours later his two assailants were found some miles away lying in a ditch and severely beaten. They also refused to complain to police.

Murder in New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, La.—The brutal beating of many persons and at least one murder have been attributed to goon tactics here in waterfront and industrial strikes. Goon "chain gang beatings," in which victims were flogged with lengths of chains, were charged in strikes of teamsters and drivers of taxicabs and trucks.

William C. McCuiston, C. I. O. maritime union official, was accused by police of complicity in the "chain" slaying of Philip Carey, another official of the union. However, McCuiston was in Washington, D. C., appearing before the Dies committee when police accused him, and a Washington court refused to order his extradition here.

Altho police took no other action against him, they claim a good record for holding goonism to a minimum in New Orleans. They said they had tried to make the city too hot for goons.

Cleveland Also Afflicted.

CLEVELAND, O.—This fifth largest industrial city in the nation has had more than its share of goonism and wholesale strike violence in recent years. Battles between opposing union men and between police and pickets have been frequent and occasionally of serious proportions.

The greatest demonstration of goonism in the city's long history of strike violence was during the Fisher Body company strike last summer. About 6,000 C. I. O. men, many of them goons recruited from other cities, waged organized warfare against police and nonstrikers. Forty-six persons, including women and policemen, were injured in a two hour pitched battle.

More than 125 men, women, and children were beaten in a battle between strikers and nonstrikers during the bitter C. I. O. dispute at the Republic Steel company in July, 1937. Police merely acted as referees during the fight. The company charged that bands of union goons hurled rocks at the cars of men trying to go to work. The C. I. O. said the company armed goons with pipes to assault strikers. After the pitched battle, police said, independent hoodlums stoned the automobiles of workers.

Goons Spray Paint on Homes.

Groups of goons roamed the streets in cars during a strike at the Worsted Mills company, intimidating workers and spraying their homes with paint. Picket line assaults were frequent. The strike resulted from a jurisdictional dispute between the C. I. O. and the A. F. of L.

Despite the frequent strike violence, citizens believe their young safety director, Eliot Ness, is doing a good job of curbing goonism. Under his direction police have managed to quell disturbances without calling the National Guard, and no fatalities have resulted from direct police or strike action. Ness keeps a file of all union leaders and the thugs they employ. While he has made many enemies among union bosses, he has the respect of the rank and file members of organized labor.

Old Story to San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—Trouble on the waterfront here, whether it be a strike or interunion strife, always is marked by goonism. This practice of sending goon or beef squads into action has gone on for years in San Francisco and continues today in nearly all of the waterfront unions.

Altho the unions deny the use of goons, Frank P. Foisie, secretary of the Waterfront Employés association, said that it is a matter of record that three men are now in prison for a slaying that grew out of goon squad action. The men to whom he referred were convicted for slaying an engineer on the freighter Point Lobos.

Police records reveal scores of other instances of goonism. In a recent case a victim was sent to the hospital with one eye kicked out.

While occasional instances of goonism occur during strikes, these tactics are used principally during strife between unions, goons being sent into action to liquidate opposition to union leaders.

Quelled in Seattle.

SEATTLE, Wash.—Goonism flourished here several years ago under the administration of John F. Dore, Seattle's "labor" mayor, but for the last two years instances of this blight have been rare and far apart.

When Dore was in office it frequently was charged that goons were free to do as they pleased. If they were arrested, Dore himself arranged their release, vouching for their bail. None ever was brought to trial.

A typical instance of dallying by the authorities occurred during the strike at the Seattle Star. A newspaper man from another paper suffered a brain concussion from being beaten and kicked by a goon from a teamsters' union. Altho the goon was identified and a charge filed against him, police contended they were unable to find him.

Goon tactics also were in evidence in the beating of small coal mine operators and truck drivers during a jurisdictional dispute between the C. I. O. and the teamsters' union. No punishment was imposed on goons in these cases.

Paid sluggers are said to be still on the pay rolls of both C. I. O. and A. F. of L. unions here, but they are used so infrequently now that they are reported drifting to other towns, particularly lumbering communities, in quest of goon employment.

Linked in Dies Investigation

Representative Frank E. Hook (left), Michigan Democrat, charged last week that Representative Dies had soft pedaled an inquiry into the Silver Shirts, headed by William Dudley Pelley (center). Letters said to have been written by Pelley and introduced by Hook, yesterday were described as forgeries sold by one Harold Weisberg. Testimony was introduced to show that Weisberg works under Gardner Jackson (right), former New Deal brain truster.

TERROR TACTICS HIT GARAGE AS STRIKE STARTS

Gun Fired Thru Window; Quiz Unionists.

Local 701 of the Auto Mechanics' union, which is conducting a membership drive, declared a strike in progress at 7 a. m. yesterday in the Lavery Motor Sales agency at 6127 Cottage Grove avenue. Picketing began at 8 a. m., but work continued. Two hours later Manager Martin Lynch of the agency's used car department reported that terrorists in an automobile fired a revolver thru the front window of his salesroom at 6529 Cottage Grove avenue.

The new violence came just 34 days after labor goons wielded baseball bats upon Marinus Hvid, owner of a strike picketed garage at 3514 North Halsted street. Hvid died three days after the attack. His garage had been picketed by the Auto Livery Chauffeurs, Taxicab Drivers, and Helpers' union after he had been suspended from the Affiliated Garages of Chicago.

Racket Squad Summoned.

Sergt. George Barnes' new police racket squad, assigned to labor violence, was summoned after yesterday's terrorism. Woodlawn police also were called.

The police found four officials of local 701 sitting in a parked car with a picket in front of the sales agency. The car had white walled tires and was the same make and model as the car with white walled tires which Manager Lynch said was used by the terrorists who fired thru the window.

The police took the five men to the Woodlawn station. There the police questioned them and released them without sending them to the bureau of identification for finger printing. Sergt. Barnes said later, however, that men seized in such cases in the future would be finger printed.

Two Agents, Two Organizers.

The union officials identified themselves as Joseph B. McCarthy, 7436 East End avenue, assistant business agent; A. J. Craughwell, 4138 North Troy street, business agent; D. J. O'Brien, 4208 5th avenue, organizer, and Joseph Collins, 6938 Medill avenue, organizer.

The picket said he is William Royce Nixon of 6828 Blackstone avenue. He said he went to work for the agency on Nov. 1, a short time before the union organizers said their campaign began.

Nixon told the police that McCarthy came to his home yesterday morning and ordered him to begin picketing his employer.

Barnes said the four union officials had no explanation of why so many of them were needed to supervise two pickets. They said they had no idea why any one should want to shoot thru the Lavery window.

Head of Union "Busy."

Barnes telephoned Don Burrows, president of the union local, to meet him at once in Barnes' office, but Burrows replied that he was busy. Barnes then told Burrows to be there at 4 p. m. Burrows was.

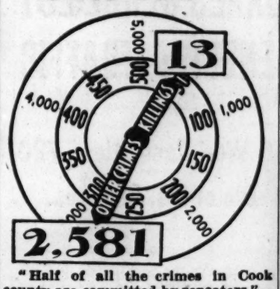

He insisted that he never countenances violence in labor disputes and knew nothing of the shooting. Burrows said the strike was called after the failure of negotiations for a contract covering five mechanics, three of whom have joined his union.

A. J. Lavery, head of the agency, said he has 11 mechanics, and that only 2 have joined the union.

Police Have a New Pet, but They Can't Pet It

Policemen Frank Bellack and Steve Luczak of the Summerdale station have a new pet—but they can't pet it. They captured the animal last night in Ben Carlson's back yard at 1631 Berwyn avenue. They couldn't coax it to come with them, so they clamped a garbage can over it. Bellack said the Lincoln Park zoo is welcome to the animal if the zoo wants it. Why? It's a porcupine, weight 20 pounds.

2 BANDITS ENTER CAR AND SHOOT INSURANCE MAN

Alfred Steuer, 37 years old, an insurance collector, was shot and critically wounded last night in a battle with two holdup men who wrested his gun from him when he resisted them. The shooting occurred in Steuer's automobile, which was parked in front of 1321 North Wells street.

Alfred Steuer.

Steuer told police he had just stopped there, preparing to make a collection, when the robbers ordered him into the rear seat of his car. Steuer said he reached for his gun, a .38 caliber revolver, which he kept on a shelf above the rear seat.

One of the bandits grabbed his arm, twisted it, seized the gun, and fired four shots. Two bullets struck Steuer in the right groin. The bandits then took $300 from his brief case and fled. They overlooked $19 in his pockets.

Fred Daniels, a neighborhood butcher, found Steuer and took him to the Henrotin hospital. Steuer lives at 1925 School street. He has been employed by the Prudential Life Insurance company for six years.

MOTHER JAILS SON FOR ROBBING HER OF JEWELS

Donald Jordan, 27 years old, 6402 Ingleside avenue, was in the Woodlawn police station last night accused by his mother of robbing her of her wedding and engagement rings valued at $275.

The mother, Mrs. Betty Luttenberger, 47, of 6522 Blackstone avenue, said he came to her house demanding money and, failing to get it, threatened her and her husband, William, with a knife while he took the rings. He fled and telephoned that he would return the rings for $10. Luttenberger informed police and Jordan was arrested at 63d street and Ellis avenue.

Jordan was sentenced to a year in the Bridewell in 1937 for snatching purses from women as they left a church.

JUDGE ORDERS MURDER SUSPECT HELD BY SHERIFF

Edward Purdy.

Edward Purdy, 28 years old, who surrendered Monday night after being sought for three months for the murder of Peter Stoyan, or Stogen, was placed in the custody of the sheriff yesterday by order of Judge Joseph J. Drucker.

A charge of murder against Purdy was not prossed when the court was informed that he already had been ordered held to the grand jury by a coroner's jury. Purdy, described by police as an ex-convict and gambling house card dealer, was named by Stoyan in a deathbed statement as his assailant.

Stoyan, who was 26 years old, was stabbed to death last Oct. 11 at Dearborn and Division streets in what was believed to be a parking dispute. Stoyan lived at 1315 Newberry avenue.

PREDICT CAPTURE OF PRESSMAN'S LABOR SLAYERS

Sergt. John Hanrahan of the detective bureau, who is in charge of the investigation of the murder of Paul Peters, union printing pressman, expressed a belief last night that the slayers would be apprehended. Peters was shot to death Oct. 31, three months ago, in front of his home at 3505 North Oak Park avenue.

"The police are far from giving up on this case," said Sergt. Hanrahan. "There are certain angles which might materialize at any time. This is one labor case we're going to solve."

Peters was a member of an insurgent group in Franklin local No. 4 of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' union. The slaying is attributed to the union factional fight.

LEAVES MILLION TO SPINSTER, $1 TO HIS BROTHERS

Recluse's Fortune Made on Farm and in Bank.

Shullsburg, Wis., Jan. 30 [Special].—The bulk of the million dollar estate of Wesley H. Wiley, aged Shullsburg bachelor recluse who died Friday, will go to his elderly spinster cousin whose life had paralelled his in many respects.

Arrow locates home of wealthy recluse.

Wiley's will, read here yesterday, bequeathed $1 each to his two brothers, one of whom is dead, and named Miss Emma Houghton of Amboy, Ill., his principal beneficiary. She will receive the remainder of the estate after gifts totaling $2,500 have been paid to several others.

Descendants of Pioneers.

Both Wiley, who was 81, and Miss Houghton, now in her 60s, came from pioneer families who homesteaded farm lands more than 100 years ago. Altho both were wealthy, they lived frugally, scorning luxuries and all outward show of means.

Wiley favored Miss Houghton partly because she is the last member of her family to bear the Houghton name, the maiden name of his mother. Miss Houghton's father was Wiley's first cousin.

Death came to Wiley in a poorly furnished room where he had lived alone since the death of his brother, Dr. John Wiley, in 1926. He associated very little with townsfolk, being seen so seldom that some mystery had become attached to his life.

Lawyer and Physician.

Wesley studied law and Dr. John took up medicine. Neither ever practiced. They lived in poorly furnished quarters in Shullsburg during the winter and spent their summers in second floor rooms of a granary they had fixed up on the 480 acre farm near here which their father had cleared more than a century ago.

Wesley withdrew more than ever from community life after Dr. John died. A bright spot in his life was the regular letters and occasional visits from Miss Houghton.

Altho not as wealthy as her Shullsburg relative, she is known to be well to do. She owns two farms near Amboy and an eight room home where she lives alone in the summer, except for domestics. In winter she closes the house and rents a room, eating her meals in a restaurant.

She always has lived frugally, as did Wiley, and she told an interviewer tonight that she did not expect the bequest would alter her life much.

Fortune Started on Farm.

The fortune she will receive was founded by Wesley Wiley on the Monticello township farm that was once his father's homestead, but much of his wealth came from his astute banking and stock transactions. The estate includes 1,900 acres of land in southwestern Wisconsin and 320 acres in North Dakota.

One of the brothers to whom the recluse left a dollar was Ben Wiley, who died here last spring. The other, Tom, left here many years ago and relatives said they did not know his whereabouts.

Job Swindler Sentenced to Year in Bridewell

George La Forte, 26 years old, 11926 Calumet avenue, pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge Gibson E. Gorman of obtaining money under false pretenses. He was sentenced to a year in the Bridewell. Testimony showed that La Forte obtained $5.50 from Joseph Cannon of 1017 West 80th street by promising him a job that never materialized. La Forte was captured when he attempted to make a date with Cannon's sister, Mary, who is 22 years old.

"WAR BUNK" BY RADIO

Do you know how Europe's warring nations are spraying each other—and us—with short-wave war propaganda? What name-calling, prejudice-promoting, air-polluting, and lying girdles the globe on radio waves in some fifteen or sixteen languages? Read how the Nazis are trying to demoralize England and vice versa, with such dangerous microphone clowns as Lord Hawhaw and Lord Booboo. A timely article.

"Me hire a sweet young thing to handle publicity for a radio dance band? Some 22-year-old who's majored in journalism at a jerk college?" The peculiar method by which Sheriff Clyde Boston finally trapped Nelson Tare, Public Enemy, would not be so surprising if you had known the gunman as a boy. Writing with a sympathetic insight into boy psychology, Mr. Kantor brings you the story of an artist in crime.

THE GREAT ORSON WELLES PANIC

The Martian hocus-pocus broadcast by Mr. W. had been termed "very dull" by CBS technicians, even rocked his own business manager to sleep while it was on the air. GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Europe has a set of primary interests which to us have none or a very remote relation. Hence she must be engaged in frequent controversies, the causes of which are essentially foreign to our concerns. Hence, therefore, it must be unwise in us to implicate ourselves by artificial ties in the ordinary vicissitudes of her politics or the ordinary combinations and collisions of her friendships or enmities."—From the Farewell Address.

FREEDOM—A WAR CASUALTY.

As a part of the British empire, New Zealand is at war with Germany. But a New Zealander in his home is as safe from German attack as if Munich had been a final settlement. He has no need for air raid shelters and gas masks. To bomb New Zealand German planes would have to fly half way around the world, drop their bombs, and be able to fly back again. Planes haven't been made which could even fly half way across the Atlantic with a load of bombs.

A naval assault by the enemy is equally impossible. If New Zealand was a highly strategic objective, which it is not, German war vessels would have to go 14,500 miles around the Horn, or 13,300 miles thru the Panama canal. And yet New Zealand is acting as if the invader might appear at any moment.

The government of the country, formerly a democracy, has veered far from that form of government. The economic and political dictatorship was already well advanced before war was even talked about. Further steps toward autocracy were taken when war began to be discussed as a serious possibility. But as soon as the war got under way, Premier Savage really went to town. The government, as war measures, asked for and obtained authority from the national legislature to take any steps it might see fit to take. It was empowered to take over the property of any citizen without compensation. It now can control prices, regulate commercial and production processes, and create government enterprises. It can set up new courts and define their powers.

The exercise of such powers was bound to provoke opposition and criticism in any popular form of government. The privilege to criticize and object was taken away. All rights of free speech were withdrawn. The censorship decrees which have been proclaimed make any one liable to arrest who spreads a subversive report. Such a report was given a very broad interpretation, covering a written or spoken statement which might "interfere with the national effort by disrupting the morale of the civilian population." Even members of the national legislature were warned that they should use words with care if they would avoid the penalties of the government's decrees.

The politicians in New Zealand, which is not menaced in any way, have put an iron-fisted dictatorship into effect. And in some of the other British dominions similar steps have been taken, altho their safety is insured by their geography. Totalitarians everywhere use war as a pretext for destroying the liberty of the people.

PHONY UNEMPLOYMENT AND THE REAL McCOY.

William J. Eroe, having lost his job with the American Cyanamid and Chemical company, applied to the Pennsylvania division of unemployment compensation for his share of it. Referee Samuel Roberts at Erie heard what Mr. Eroe had to say and denied his appeal. Mr. Roberts took the position that Mr. Eroe was not to be regarded as legally unemployed. Mr. Eroe is a member of the Pennsylvania state senate. He says that he has already been paid for that job and having lost his other one he is among the persons who have no connection with a pay envelope. The social security officials replied that Mr. Eroe is still in the service of the state and may be called upon to sit in a special session at any time during the course of the year.

This question of unemployment has been raised also in professional baseball. Players in Ohio and Missouri have discovered that they have been unemployed since the end of the baseball season. They will not be employed again until the season opens. Some of them are earning good baseball salaries, from $8,000 to $10,000 a year or more, but they think they are in the army of the unemployed and entitled to the benefits of the unemployment article of the social security act.

In Ohio and Missouri the state social security officials are inclined to agree with them that legally they are on their uppers and entitled to their allowances. These ingenious interpreters of the New Deal have been remonstrated with by other persons in their profession, but their understanding is that it is there and why shouldn't they get it? They might as well cut in on it.

There is one baseball player who cannot consider himself as unemployed. He is Benny McCoy, formerly of the Detroit Tiger infield. Judge Landis recently made a ruling which held that certain players were illegally under contract because of a violation of the rules of organized baseball. He released them from obligations. Mr. McCoy found that Santa Claus had dropped off the Christmas tree which he thought had been sent to the ash heap and had landed plump in his lap, shaking all sleighbells.

Mr. McCoy discovered that he was in his own stocking. Since then he has been engaged in the business of selling himself. He was a free man and a desirable article of commerce in the baseball business. He couldn't be purchased from any other club because no club had him. He would sell himself, and that's been his business until Monday, when he passed himself over the counter to the Philadelphia Athletics for $45,000 in cash and a two year contract of $10,000 per year.

In a world which tends to go totalitarian Mr. McCoy, as personal liberty, is the real McCoy.

NAZI BIRTHDAY.

Nazi Germany had a birthday anniversary yesterday. It has been seven years under Adolf Hitler and enters the eighth as a nation in arms, waiting, deadlocked with its enemies, for the blooming of a spring which is expected to be more red than green. Expectations or hopes that Hitler's actions might produce revolutionary reactions do not find promise of fulfillment. The methods the Fuehrer uses, partly those of the cheer leader and partly those of the terrorist, still command the obedience if not the devotion of the dominant element in the German people.

It had been thought that Herr Hitler, to be successful over any long term, would need to achieve his triumphs without a great war. There is reason to believe that he thought he could avoid one. His magic was simple as he explained it. You never presented your possibly formidable adversaries at any time with an issue which they must consider serious enough to risk general conflict. What you take must be what your opponents would grant you rather than fight you. Thus, leaf by leaf, you ate the artichoke, you rounded out your triumphs, you had what you wanted, and by a series of little crises favorably determined you avoided the great crisis.

Undoubtedly Herr Hitler thought he had such an issue in his first demands on the Poles and thought that his stratagem of making demands for which he could argue plausibly, coupled with the war of nerves, would get him what he wanted and satisfy the German legend that he was invincible without throwing the country into a war which would test all its powers and risk annihilation. He knew that the peoples of Europe, the Germans included, had too vivid a recollection of the other war to want this one. For once his calculations failed. The Polish leaf on the artichoke turned that vegetable into a bomb. The thought that Hitler himself might be hoisted by it has too many wishes in it to be entertained just now by reasonable men.

Hitler's psychology has interested the curious people of his own generation and will be a master theme for historians and psychiatrists. The impressions of François-Poncet, who was French ambassador to Berlin in 1938, were written in a dispatch of October of that year, in which is included the recently published Yellow Book. "I certainly have no illusions about Hitler's character," he wrote. "I know it is changeable, dissembling, uncertain. The same man of debonair appearance, sensitive to the beauties of nature, who at the tea table has expounded to me reasonable ideas of European policy, is capable of the worst frenzies, the wildest exaltations, and the most delirious ambitions. There are days when, before a globe, he upsets nations, continents, geography, and history, like a demiurge in madness. At other moments he dreams of being the hero of an eternal peace in the midst of which he would build up grandiose monuments."

Of the Fuehrer's retreat at Berchtesgaden François-Poncet, remarking that the scene, particularly in the light of a declining autumn day, is wild and almost hallucinating, says: "The visitor asks himself if he is really awake or dreaming. He would like to know here he is. Is it the castle of Monsalvat where the knights of the Grail used to live, or Mount Athos sheltering the meditations of the monks, or the palace of Antinea built in the heart of the Atlas mountains? Is it the work of a normal mind or that of a man plagued by a mania for grandeur, by an obsession for domination and solitude, or that of a man simply a prey to fear?"

This is the problem child of Europe who has set in motion a technology of warfare so tremendous that its creation seems to disprove its human origin.

Editorial of the Day

[New York Times.]

There was rejoicing in Detroit and Flint as the 25,000,000th General Motors car rolled off the assembly line. Behind that vehicle lay 32 years of steady improvement in highway transportation, arduous research, a revolution in manufacturing methods, employment for tens of thousands in a relatively new industry, a transformation in both rural and urban life.

What Detroit and Flint were unwittingly celebrating was a method of production which originated in the United States and which was long as peculiarly American as our form of republican government. Those 25,000,000 cars would have been impossible had it not been for Eli Whitney's invention of interchangeable parts, an invention which it too infrequently mentioned in popular accounts of our engineering exploits, but which ranks in importance with the steam engine, the reaper, the telegraph, the lathe, and other machines. That a million identical nuts, crankshafts, electric lamps, tomato cans, typewriter keys, and gears of countless machines can be produced so that one of the same make can be substituted for its counterpart without the necessity of filing to make a fit, is one of the more astounding achievements of human ingenuity. Add the assembly line, which Detroit took over from the packing industry, and we have the luxurious yet inexpensive car of today.

Whitney is the father of mass production. He conceived its essentials in our war of 1812 to fill a government order for muskets. When before the astonished eyes of the secretary of war he assembled 10 pieces taken from as many piles and produced 10 perfect muskets, there was born what Europe immediately called "the American system of manufacture." After that muskets were no longer built one by one, but manufactured by thousands. And for once industry and peace profited by an invention which grew out of war's necessities.

JUST WONDERFUL.

"I'm glad you're so impressed, dear, by all these explanations I have been giving you about banking and currency," remarked the young husband.

"Yes, darling. It seems wonderful that anybody could know as much as you do about money without having any," was his wife's reply.—Montreal Star.

HARPING ON THE THEATER.

While admiring the pretty chorus girls in "Three After Three," which is new on the Rialto, we remembered an old hobby of collecting fancy names from musical comedy programs. So we scanned the playbill for museum material and decided to add Cockles O'Neil and Zynai Spencer to the exhibits. But the picking isn't as good as it used to be when the chorus was called "the merry-merry."

The Great Northern theater will not go down when the hotel is demolished. The reason: it's in an adjoining office building. And if the theatrical revival in Chicago continues at its present pace the old hall may become useful once more.

To answer a question about the name of that little French gal, Simone Simon: Simon is common as a family name in France, and Simone [pronounced something like "see-mun"] is popular as a given name. . . . Mme. Simone was a famous forerunner of this simonized child. She flourished in Paris from 1905 until 1920 or later, and acted in the United States, in English. Chicago saw her at Powers' theater in "The Return from Jerusalem." Her full name was Simone Le Bargy.

The traditions of the Blackstone theater, which is about to return to professional competition, include two impressive funerals. One of them was Frank Bacon's, who died while playing "Lightnin'" there. The other, a year earlier, was a memorial service for Bert Leston Taylor [B. L. T.], founder of this column.

CHEST IN THE ATTIC.

There's a doll that sleeps in a cedar chest
With little scuffed shoes by her side,
And a picture showing a frisky pup
With a baby whose smile is as wide
As a cherub's grin, and whose curls reflect
The glimmer of sunlight itself,
While her eyes are dancing with something that's Part angel, part imp, and part elf.

It is strange that the love of a baby girl
Of all of life's gifts can be best,
That as time rolls on what we treasure most
Is hidden in a scented chest.

But little girls vanish as youth goes by,
(They simply grow up and they're gone)
While behind them trail two scuffed little shoes—
Dear memories that still pad on.

On the Trail of the Bonny Blue Flag.

For the origin of the Confederate song, "The Bonny Blue Flag" [Jan. 26], see "War Songs and Poems of the Southern Confederacy," by an Ex-Confederate, H. M. Wharton, D. D.:

"The first flag of the south was of solid blue with one white star. The 'Bonny Blue Flag' was doubtless the most popular song of the war. The people sang it, the bands played it.

"A little Irishman, Harry McCarthy, went over the land singing it and stirred the people as the Frenchman with the 'Marseillaise' hymn. Often I have heard him sing it when thousands of people went wild with excitement and enthusiasm." Ione Baskett.

[Apparently, then, the bonny blue flag was a provisional banner used in the early months of the secession movement. We'd like to hear more of its lore, since books on American and Confederate flags have neglected it.]

LINES TO A JUNCO.

I couldn't spare him, that I know,
With his soft gray breast against the snow;
I should like to ask him where he sleeps
When lower and lower the mercury creeps.
He carries himself with a jaunty ease,
Sure that some One cares for the least of these,
And when in the darkness my faith grows dim
He trusts in the feathers provided for him.

The Secret Ambition of Maitre Irmiter.

Sire: Gentle "Quizzicuss" in his philosophy [Jan. 26] voices that which we have nourished many, many moons. And now, sire, that we have come this far, permit us to tear the veil aside completely and confess to the world that our most cherished desire always has been to be a tramp.

Tramp, hobo, knight of the road—call him what you will—sans obligations, sans responsibilities, wandering the highways and byways; engaging in a bit of wood chopping here, a bit of hay pitching there, a bit of apple picking yonder to earn a bite of bread and meat and an occasional flagon of wine; for the rest, tramp, tramp, tramping down green lanes, thru God's forests, over His hills, across His mountains, with a bivouac under a tree today, in a haymow tomorrow, or a snug roadside ditch; taking up here and there a book—"Alice in Wonderland," "Gulliver's Travels," "The Odyssey," Whitman, Tennyson, Nye, Twain; ah, just to be free, to be one's own master.

Our happiest moments, sire, came once when we, with an apple pie in one pocket and a copy of Balzac in the other, tramped 150 miles in a glorious week in June, during which we were apprehended on a charge of chicken stealing, but by dint of remarkable oratory and magnetic personality disproved the canard and won our freedom. SHOCK TREATMENT OF DEMENTIA PRECOX.

DEMENTIA PRECOX has been classed among those troubles of the mind which are difficult to cure. At least 200,000 of our population are afflicted and—all too frequently—its victims are rendered burdensome to themselves and to their families. Most of them, unfortunately, are in the prime of life and are physically well. Nevertheless, unless something is done, many will be doomed to slow mental deterioration.

Despite various suggestions as to management, no single measure offered much hope until the "shock" plan was devised. True enough, a few of these individuals were able to readjust themselves sufficiently so that they could carry on with fair efficiency. Out of the blue, however, there came a dozen years ago the thought that if these persons could be made unconscious for a period of time—with life hanging by a thread—the cells that make up mentality would somehow be rearranged, with ensuing sanity.

Experimenting with the treatment of the morphine habit—by administration of insulin—Sakel observed the salutary effects when addicts became comatose as a result of giving an overdose of insulin. Patients who had exhibited mental instability—with signs of great excitement almost amounting to mania—would calm down to normal subsequent to these injections. This led to further trials with other derangements and dementia precox was included. The first case histories—published only six years ago—show that several were markedly improved and some apparently regained health as a sequel to inducing profound coma [shock].

First of all, let us ask ourselves what characteristics do these sufferers present? We may say frankly that victims of schizophrenia [dementia precox] are just like other people except that they cannot meet and conquer life's problems. In other words, so many difficulties appear to confront them that they cannot see over the barricades. A few have been able—with some medical aid—to solve puzzling situations; and psychotherapy has been invaluable. As we can well understand, however, a psychiatric study involves the expenditure of a great deal of time, as the patient must be reëducated and retrained in his thinking. Naturally, any method designed to produce the same result more quickly would be welcomed with open arms.

Enough cases have now been investigated to warrant some definite conclusions as to its efficacy. Using insulin, Ross cites 1,356 subjects—of whom 14 per cent were returned to normal, 20 per cent much improved, and 26 per cent helped somewhat. These patients have been kept track of for approximately two years. Contrasting these figures with untreated cases argues strongly for the plan. The drug gives us at least three chances to one for betterment. Even psychotherapy does not show such favorable response. Later it was found that a camphor derivative—called metrazol—would be equally satisfactory and more prompt.

Another compound — mecholyl — in a smaller series, points to even higher percentages of complete recoveries. In a group of 23 treated by Malamud, 35 per cent were cured and 34 per cent received some benefit.

It should be pointed out that any chemical that depresses vitality to such low levels—where the borderline between life and death is so narrow—must be used with extreme caution and under perfect control. The patient must not be left alone for a moment, as fractures—due to convulsive seizures—have followed their employment. But the procedure is justified even with some risk because otherwise many of these victims will be doomed to a life of dependency—possibly institutional care. The danger is minimal in comparison.

Too much hope, however, cannot be held out for entire restoration to health. Furthermore, the longer the duration of the illness, the less likelihood there is of relief.

THIN FACE.

H. B. writes: What causes the face to have a drawn appearance altho the rest of the body is well proportioned? What is the cure?

REPLY.

Increasing one's weight may be helpful. Little can be done, however, to change family characteristics. Perhaps you belong to the Ned Sparks tribe. Hot packs, followed by massage, will stimulate the circulation—hence aid symmetry.

WATER NEEDS.

T. W. B. writes: Can one drink too much cold water? How much can be taken with safety?

REPLY.

Like all things, excessive consumption may not be advisable. Particularly is this true in certain heart and kidney disturbances. A normal person usually requires about 8 to 10 glasses of fluid daily. This includes beverages used with meals.

PLEURISY.

Mrs. K. writes: Can a person with pleurisy be up and about or must he remain in bed? On which side is the pain located?

REPLY.

Most patients with pleurisy are acutely ill. It is not likely that one can be up and about. Many cases of muscular or nerve pain are incorrectly diagnosed as pleurisy. Either side may be affected.

YOUNG ARTERIES.

K. A. H. writes: Is it possible for a person to have inherited such good arteries that at 63 years of age they are as soft as those of a person of 30?

REPLY.

Quite so. It is not unusual for one of this age to have elastic arteries. While hardening is associated with advancing years, it does not follow necessarily that all persons will exhibit this condition.

EATING BEFORE BEDTIME.

J. A. J. writes: Will eating before retiring cause any ill effects? Is it a good habit?

REPLY.

An excellent way to gain weight. Heavy meals should be avoided. With some persons sleep is disturbed, while others seem to rest better.

COD LIVER OIL.

C. M. writes: When is the best time of the day to give children cod liver oil? Is it all right to give it with orange juice?

REPLY.

It may be taken at any time—preferably with orange juice.

VITAMIN K.

V. F. writes: What foods must one include in the diet to obtain vitamin K?

REPLY.

The most common source at present available is wheat germ—either the meal or the oil.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY W. A. O'CARROLL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SYDNEY, Australia.—When the Australian parliament reassembles a fierce storm threatens to break over the government's decision to grant an Australian company a monopoly for five years to manufacture chassis and engines for automobiles of 15 horse power and over, together with financial assistance amounting to $6,000,000. Australian Consolidated Industries, Ltd., will form the new company. It has a nominal capital of $4,000,000 with an initially subscribed capital of $1,000,000.

It has enjoyed a monopoly in other enterprises and has been criticized in parliament by a minister of the crown for certain of its activities. H. C. Jones, secretary of the Chamber of Automotive Industries, said:

"The selected company will not only be given a bounty out of the federal treasury of $120 for each unit manufactured, but it will also be protected by the restriction of imports, which will cause a further drain on public funds because of loss of revenue.

"Furthermore, the company will be given the right to sell cars without restriction on prices or on profits, which represents in itself a major departure from previous established procedure.

"The lack of any provision to control prices or profits is also contrary to another previously announced principle, namely that 'prices of motor cars manufactured in Australia must be reasonable.'

"In effect, the government has given one company carte blanche to proceed on the basis of a government subsidy and with the highest possible degree of protection, both as regards import duties and restrictions on imports, without that privileged company being required to accept any responsibility with regard to the prices it charges or the profits it makes."

Minister for Trade and Customs Lawson said the government intended to use its powers under the national security act to protect the investment of Australian money. Capital issues other than to the proposed company would not be authorized.

The government had given an assurance that for five years it would purchase a substantial proportion of commonwealth department requirements from the company, provided the vehicles were satisfactory. The minister added that the car produced in Australia would be of a popular American type.

Announcing that the field was still open for the manufacture of cars of less than 15 horse power, Lawson said: "There is nothing to prevent prospective car manufacturers entering this field, and we are prepared to consider proposals."

Consolidated Industries did not propose to enter the field for the production of cars of less than 15 horse power.

"We invited overseas companies to enter this field again and again, and they would not look at it," remarked the minister.

The state government of New South Wales is prepared to construct a railway and provide wharf accommodation to encourage the erection of a factory near Sydney for the company. The government will also consider a reduction in registration fees for motorists using the Australian car. Most of the plant will be bought in the United States.

How Our States Got Their Names

21. MINNESOTA.

The state name was first given to the river and then to the Minnesota territory, historians say. It is said to come from the Dakota Indian words meaning, apparently, water in which the sky is reflected ["minne" d"sota"]. Minnesota became a state on May 11, 1858. It was first settled by the French in 1679 at the mouth of the Pigeon river.

Minnesota state seal. It shows farmer plowing eastward and Indian riding westward on horse. In background is setting sun and Falls of St. Anthony, and above is scroll bearing state motto. Date [1858] is that of statehood.

Minnesota's nicknames are the Bread and Butter, Gopher, Lake, Wheat, and North Star state, and the New England of the West. The first derives from the amount of wheat and dairy products in the state. The North Star cognomen comes from the state motto: "The Star of the North" [L'Etoile du Nord]. The New England of the West nickname is believed given because of the many New Englanders who came to Minnesota. The others explain themselves. Minnesota's flower is the moccasin flower.

INDIAN INDEPENDENCE.

Chicago, Jan. 24.—THE TRIBUNE of Jan. 24 published a heavily censored article from Bombay regarding India's plea for independence. So that intelligent, freedom-loving Americans shall not be the victims of British censorship, such as mutilated the first paragraph of the independence pledge taken by millions of Indians each Jan. 26 since 1930, I offer this paragraph in its uncensored entirety.

We believe that it is the inalienable right of the Indian people, as of any other people, to have freedom and to enjoy the fruits of their toil and have the necessities of life, so that they may have full opportunities of growth. We believe also that if any government deprives a people of these rights and oppresses them, the people have a further right to alter it or to abolish it. The British government in India has not only deprived the Indian people of their freedom but has based itself on the exploitation of the masses, and has ruined India economically, politically, culturally, and spiritually. We believe, therefore, that India must sever the British connection and attain Purna Swara], or complete independence.

All who remember the cause of the Boston tea party cannot but sympathize with India in her present struggle if they know the facts relating to it.

OUTSPOKEN CARTOONS.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Several letters have complained about the outspoken cartoons, probably Mr. Orr's, that have brought issues sharply to light. These writers, feeling that these cartoons have been too critical, have begged for a change of policy.

Personally I have received more solid help from these cartoons than from any other source except THE TRIBUNE editorials. They have wakened me to the way America is heading. Today there is no time for tact, or gradual, pussyfooted approach. The true friend is the one who calls loudly and truly where the trouble is. CHICAGOAN.

PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS COMPARED.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—Let pupils of schools, colleges or universities thru competitive examinations be selected to make comparative analyses of cost and management of public institutions, municipal, county, and state, on per capita basis.

Suppose, let us say, 10 such students would be sent to Milwaukee, Detroit, Cincinnati, Cleveland, or other nearby cities. It would be an experience that would unquestionably redound to the benefit of the community which would send the delegation, and also to the delegates themselves, as well as to the community visited. Here is a form of philanthropy instructive and preventive in its nature.

RETALIATION.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—The British insolence of interfering with our mail is abominable. We must insist on rerouting American Clippers so as to avoid landing in Bermuda. As a matter of fact, they used to fly until recently from Port Washington, N. Y., directly to Horta [Azores, a Portuguese possession] and from there to Lisbon. This is even a shorter route and a change was made only to accommodate rich American tourists to Bermuda.

We do not want the British snooping into our mails. The British contentions are absurd. Nobody is sending currency to Germany, since it is unprofitable and risky and any one can transfer unlimited amounts by cable thru any American bank at a much more profitable rate. And who believes that Americans are sending diamonds to Germany in such quantities as to endanger the stability of the British empire?

In retaliation the American government should discontinue parcel post to and from Great Britain, as is already done with the parcel post to Germany. Further violation must be met by a general embargo against Great Britain.

SALARIES AND DIVIDENDS.

Marseilles, Ill., Jan. 22.—I am very much interested in the recent editorial entitled "Packers' Profits," wherein it states the entire salary of all officials and directors for the fiscal year of 1937 would amount to only 1-10 of 1 per cent of sales. That may be true, but why do you not publish the salaries received by said officials? During the two years of 1937 and 1938 one of the high ranking officials received approximately $250,000. This same corporation is at the present time two years in arrears on dividends.

No one would object to high salaries if the shareholders were receiving returns on their investment. I would like very much to have you publish the entire list of salaries paid to some of the high officials of the packing industry.

STRUGGLING WITH LATIN.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—Three cheers for the freshie who got into print in the Voice of the People.

I don't see why the superintendent should pick on the freshies and sophomores to give them the hardest work. Because I expect to be a doctor I have to take Latin, English, algebra, and general science. These four subjects keep me hopping. I don't believe Supt. Johnson took Latin when he was a high school freshie or he'd have more sympathy for us who do. He would not make us take a year of music and a year of art for good measure. Latin with its hundred declensions and a million conjugations is enough to kill a fellow. Those Romans never seemed to be able to make up their minds what endings to put on their words. ANOTHER FRESHIE.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. If questions are based on some previously printed problem a clipping of the article should accompany. Most of the replies are mailed. Letters bearing no name and address are disregarded. A self-addressed envelope will expedite handling.

FILING OF WILL.

Chicago, Jan. 24 [Legal Friend of the People].—1. If I make a will stating no bonds are required of the executor, must this will be probated?

2. I had property in joint tenancy with my wife. She died. I received the property. Will her will have to go on file?

3. Will I be able to put it on file or must it be done by a lawyer?

4. Is the power of the state's attorney limited in civil cases and criminal cases?

5. How long a period is it limited?

6. When and if I have a civil judgment and the case is set and a new trial instituted, of which I am not informed because there was some political trick therein which was evidenced when I took out the file to get an execution and discovered I was completely cut out, is this allowable?

7. This happened a little more than a year ago. Is it the duty of the state's attorney to investigate the case when I apply to him for aid?

8. Is there any time limit in this civil case?

9. How long? I have proof of judgment. M. K.

1. The necessity for probate does not depend on the presence or absence of a will, but rather on whether there is real estate in the estate and on the attitude of persons in possession of the personal property.

2. Her will is immaterial as to the joint tenancy property.

3. You could file it yourself. We see no need of subsequent probate on the bare facts stated.

4. He handles some civil cases for the state, but in general the bulk of his work is on criminal cases.

5. We do not understand the question.

6. You have not stated the facts clearly enough to place us in a position to advise. We suggest that you have an attorney examine the record.

7. If you have a reasonable showing that a crime has been committed, we would say in general that the state's attorney ought to look into it.

8. There probably is.

9. Depends on the nature of the civil case.

MARRIAGE REQUIREMENTS.

Chicago, Jan. 25 [Legal Friend of the People].—As a constant reader of this page I wish to ask the following: Which states near the state of Illinois have present laws on marriage which do not make strict requirements such as several days' waiting health examinations, etc.?

A. E. P.

The requirement of the health examination has the almost unanimous approval of informed persons. If one of the parties proposes evasion of this salutary requirement, even on plausible grounds of economy or secrecy, it is a basis for suspicion that such party would not pass the examination and hence is a reason for the other party to talk with a doctor as to the seriousness of the risk.

We are reluctant to assist in a proposed evasion of the Illinois requirement. If you feel that your facts are exceptional, please state them.

A CONVICT'S TASK PROVIDES CHAPEL WITH PIPE ORGAN

Indiana Prisoner Nearly Done After 3½ Years.

Jim Trees, a young convict from Indianapolis, listened intently as the chaplain's words rang thru the chapel of the Indiana state penitentiary at Michigan City. Jim had been in trouble before and now he was serving a second sentence—this time 10 years for robbery.

"With determination you can accomplish almost anything," said the chaplain, the Rev. Robert H. Hall. "Why, some day with determination we may even have an organ for this chapel!"

That sermon was given on a Sunday in the fall of 1936. Trees didn't know anything about pipe organs. He determined to learn. Today there is an organ in the prison chapel. Trees built it. Experts say it's worth between $5,000 and $10,000.

Total Cost to Prison Is $30.

It cost the prison $30. Trees put three and a half years of time into it. And into it also has gone the time [and money] of William H. Barnes, 1510 Forest avenue, Evanston, one of the country's leading organ architects and designers. He is organist at the First Baptist church in Evanston and a partner in A. R. Barnes & Co., Chicago printing concern.

Warden Alfred E. Dowd let the round faced Trees tell about his venture in determination yesterday.

"My mother sent me two books," he said. "One was Mr. Barnes' 'The Contemporary American Organ.' I studied it for six months and then wrote to Mr. Barnes. He sent me two sets of pipes and I made several myself out of scrap lumber, along with a chest to hold them. Mr. Barnes gave me two more sets and I got one from the Kimball company."

Makes Valves and Controls.

Trees' work progressed, with Barnes making several visits to the prison to advise him. Barnes provided the console and motor and blower unit. Each of the 450 pipes needed a valve and magnetic control. They would cost $300. Trees made them by hand—and each control required 3,000 turns of fine copper wire. He did all the installation and wiring.

The organ is complete except for finishing touches, which will take Trees about three months. "The tone is excellent," Barnes said last night. "I played the organ for an hour last week. Jim has done a wonderful job."

Plan Dedicatory Program.

There'll be a dedicatory program, with Trees' mother and Barnes present. And when Trees, with time off for good behavior, gets out of prison next Christmas eve he'll have a job with an organ maker waiting for him.

Trees himself can play only a few simple tunes on the organ. But he isn't worrying about who'll be at the console when he's gone.

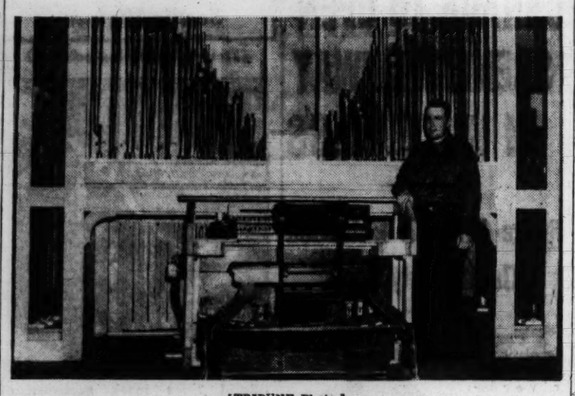

"There's a young fellow who's a good pianist here," he said. "He's learning to play the organ, and he's got lots of time." The young fellow is serving a life sentence.

JAKE THE BARBER SEEKS TO ENTER LIQUOR BUSINESS

Expect Government Fight on Permit.

The federal alcohol administration will open a hearing Feb. 6 in Washington, D. C., on the application of John [Jake the Barber] Factor to become a wholesale liquor dealer in Chicago.

Factor, who once was a Halsted street barber, returned to Chicago several months ago from California, where he went in 1935. He had been in the news almost continuously for two years as the result of his kidnaping in 1933 by the Touhy gang and repercussions that followed stock promotion deals he made in England.

Factor has applied for a permit to operate the Old Oak Distributing and Bottling company, with offices at 209 West Jackson street. The concern now has four retail stores.

Attorney Gathers Facts.

John Paulding Brown, attorney for the FAA, was in Chicago several days last week and was reported to have been gathering facts about Factor for the government.

"It's an exaggeration to call it a hearing," Factor said last night. "The secretary of the company simply will present the facts the government wants and the permit will be issued."

Dispatches from Washington indicated that the government plans to oppose Factor's application, but did not say on what ground.

Factor denied reports that he plans to launch a chain of 400 retail liquor stores in Chicago.

Sale of Stores Planned.

"Ridiculous!" he said. "I am to be a wholesale liquor distributor, and as such I wouldn't be allowed to have but one retail store, I am selling the four we now have in order to get the permit."

Factor's testimony in 1934 sent Roger Touhy and three pals to prison for 99 years on the kidnaping charge. They had held him 12 days and released him on payment of $70,000 ransom. Then the government locked him up to await extradition to England to face charges of fleecing investors of more than $7,000,000. The state department, however, declined to sign an extradition warrant and Factor eventually was released. He settled with his British clients for $1,300,000. The government then filed an income tax charge against Factor. He settled this for $120,000 and went to California.

SIX YOUNG CHICAGOANS FLEE DIXON HOSPITAL FOR FEEBLE MINDED

The Chicago detective bureau was notified last night that six young Chicagoans escaped from the state hospital for the feeble minded in Dixon at 7:30 p. m. According to Dr. P. J. Graff, senior physician, they crawled thru a dormer window in one of the cottages.

Dr. Graff said the ringleader apparently was Arthur Crandall, 15 years old, 1049 East 64th street, who escaped last July 30 and was arrested Nov. 6 while carrying a gun. While under the supervision of the Juvenile court from 1935 to 1938 he was implicated in three attempted burglaries.

The others, and the addresses given by the hospital, are Edward Jones, 18, colored, 2839 South Wentworth avenue; Francis Oldsby, 16, colored, 3358 South Michigan avenue; Mario Puente, 18, of 1321 Newberry avenue; George Hooper, 16, of 1606 North Spaulding avenue, and Walter Ochwatt, 18, of 2424 West 24th place. Jones and Oldsby had petty thievery records. All six were committed from the Juvenile court.

HIGHWAY SAFETY AIM: ROADS THAT ARE DEATHPROOF

Protect, Don't Eliminate Fools, Says Expert.

The reduction of accidents by the construction of better streets and highways was discussed in papers delivered yesterday before the 37th annual convention of the American Road Builders' association. The 40,000 delegates, from all states and 36 foreign countries, are meeting in Chicago this week with a 5 million dollar display of road building equipment in the International amphitheater at 43d and Halsted streets.

Maxwell Halsey, associate director of the Yale university traffic research, emphasized the fallacy of the glib accident reduction recipe, "take the fools off the highway." He said that to remove from automobiles all drivers who make mistakes would eliminate not only accidents, but also all motor traffic.

Drivers Prone to Err.

"Present operating conditions are so complicated," he said, "that the best educational and enforcement measures still leave the average drivers prone to at least 10 traffic errors in the course of driving 10,000 miles in a year.

"The objective in building rural and urban highways, in building deathproof roads, is to place traffic in an environment with a minimum of requirement upon the drivers' judgment in avoiding mistakes.

Wilbur S. Smith, South Carolina traffic engineer, said adverse road conditions were a contributing factor in about 20 per cent of a state wide traffic toll.

Recommends Improvements.

Sidney J. Williams of the National Safety council, said that "most of the kinds of accidents that occur on ordinary streets and highways are physically impossible on superhighways."

Herbert Anderson, president of the Illinois Road Builders association, at a luncheon at the Saddle and Sirloin club urged that Springfield prosecute construction of a cross state or interregional system of superhighways.

A night session in the Stevens hotel was devoted to promtion of a highway from Fairbanks, Alaska, to Panama City.

Former Policeman Held in Crash Death of Child

Rex Flach of Amboy, Ill., a former state highway policeman, was held to the grand jury yesterday on a charge of manslaughter by a coroner's jury investigating the death of Virginia Rudd, 5 years old, 8540 Bennett avenue. The girl was killed Dec. 28 at 87th street and Jeffery avenue when Flach's automobile overturned after colliding with another car and landed on top of her. Harold E. Moberg of Des Moines, Ia., driver of the other car, was exonerated by the jury. He said Flach, a railroad switchman, failed to heed a traffic signal.

WOMAN KILLED IN HAMMOND AS TRAIN HITS AUTO

Companion Is Injured in Crossing Tragedy.

Mrs. Grace Kekeis, 20 years old, 4834 Pine street, Hammond, was killed last night when her automobile was struck by a freight train of the Michigan Central railroad at the Maywood avenue grade crossing in Hammond. Mrs. Zala Griffin, 47, of 819 Summer street, Hammond, a companion, was critically injured. She was taken to St. Margaret's hospital, Hammond. Police said the women apparently failed to see an east bound freight approaching, after waiting for a west bound train to pass. The crossing is protected by warning lights.

Elderly Chicagoan Killed.

Mrs. Mary Gustafson, 69, of 4027 North Kilbourn avenue, was killed by an automobile driven by William Charles, 5037 Montrose avenue, as she crossed Irving Park road near her home. Mrs. Gustafson, a laundress, was on her way to work.

Henry Schmidt, 55, of 1453 Larrabee street, a Pinkerton watchman, died in Henrotin hospital after being struck at Schiller and State streets by an automobile driven by Stanley Peckham, 24, of 853 Nelson street. Peckham said his car caught in the street car tracks and skidded.

Walter Gingola, 65, of 882 North Marshfield avenue, who was struck by a hit and run driver last Thursday at Ashland avenue and Augusta boulevard, died in County hospital.

John Barnes, 45, colored, 554 Cabrini street, died early today in the county hospital of injuries received Saturday when he was struck by an automobile at River road and Bryn Mawr avenue. The driver of the car was Charles Bock, 218 West Slade street, Palatine.

Continue Death Hearing.

Charges of manslaughter and leaving the scene of an accident were continued in Felony court until March 5 against Clarence Klemp, 23, of 6349 South Justine street, who was traced thru an automobile license plate found Sunday under the body of Mrs. Martha Elchin, 66, of 6829 Indiana avenue, after an accident at 69th street and Indiana avenue. She was killed and her son, Robert, 35, was seriously injured by an auto which did not stop. Klemp's companion, Miss Marie Snow, 22, of Rockford, was also in court on a charge of disorderly conduct, which was continued to the same date.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 81 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 61 yere killed in Chicago, where 1,842 were injured in the same period.

FINNAN HADDIE
A Rare Delicacy as It Is Served at MANN'S!

One day, many years ago, in the Scotch city of Fifeshire, a fisherman stored his catch of Haddock in a building near the shore. During the night the building caught fire. Some of the Fish was burned to a crisp, some just saturated with smoke. Reluctant to lose the entire lot, our thrifty Scotchman sold this Haddock under the name of Finnan Haddie. His customers liked the taste so much that they came back for more. This was the origin of Finnan Haddie, and only the best Finnan Haddie is served at Mann's.

MILK DRIVERS' UNION REJECTS PAY SLASH PLAN

Members Vote to Submit Counterproposal.

Nearly all the 4,400 employed members of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union met last night and unanimously rejected a proposal that they accept a wage cut of $8 a week. Speakers at the gathering asserted that acceptance would bring no assurance that the drivers would be better able to meet the competition of store sales of milk.

The proposition was advanced by representatives of the dairies. As a substitute those at the meeting, by resolution, ordered the union executive board and a committee of six or nine members to formulate a plan of their own in the next 90 days, one that would assure the drivers of better competitive conditions and more job safety.

Pledged Security for Cut.

It was explained that the union officers had been instructed last Thursday to obtain from the dairies a plan that would keep the present number of drivers on their routes. In return for the wage cut the dairy companies promised, according to Henry Weber, union president, that the 4,400 jobs would be safe, that new routes would be set up when necessary with union drivers, and that a clause allowing the union to go back to the present scale and conditions on 15 days' notice would be included.

But the proposal also specified that the drivers must reduce their commissions on business over the minimum to 80 per cent of the present figures and then split the 80 per cent with inside workers who have no chance to sell on commission. This portion of the program was booed loudly.

Some of the milkmen declared that the dairies were treating them unfairly, and were not interested in keeping delivery routes. The delivered price of 13 cents a quart is too high in comparison to the store price of 8½ cents, they said.

Price Reduction Sidestepped.

Weber said the dairy companies would make no promise as to the amount they would cut delivered prices. Others asserted that unless these prices were brought within 2 cents a quart of the store prices there was no hope of building routes back to their old-time size—and that there was no hope this end could be attained by the proposed cut in union drivers' wages.

"We want a committee plan that will prove to the dairies that we intend to do something to help the wagon driver," one orator said. "The dairies say they can't talk retail prices because of the milk conspiracy indictments. What we need is a fair differential between store prices and doorstep prices. The companies get only 7 cents from the stores. If they can make money at that, why do they have to get 13 cents on the routes?"

Ten years ago only 15 per cent of Chicago retail milk sales were made thru stores; the figure now is 53 per cent.

EDWARD TAKES A BEATING FROM A PUNCHBOARD

At 3 p. m. yesterday a stranger walked into the food shop at 109 Clyde avenue, Evanston, bought $1 worth of groceries, and left a punchboard with the owner, Edward King, who was promised a percentage of the profits. At 7 p. m. another stranger appeared, bought $1 worth of food, spied the punchboard, and went to work on it.

The first punch, for a nickel, won $1. He punched again. Another winner—for a quarter. He smiled and punched again. Another stranger entered and remained to watch the slaughter. Finally King called a halt. There had been 53 punches. All were winners. King paid out $26—all he had in cash—turned over $4 worth of groceries, and gave the stranger $18 credit. The $26 included the $2.65 the stranger had spent in nickels.

But when he saw the two men leave in the same automobile, King realized he had been victimized by an ancient racket. Sergt. Anthony Schultz and Detective Edward Bussean confirmed it when they punched two numbers. Both were winners.

Today the puzzled police will confer with legal authorities. What, mused Sergt. Schultz, can Evanston do with the culprits if they are found? Punchboards are illegal in the suburb.

PURSE SNATCHER ROBS TWO.

A youthful robber followed two women into the vestibules of their homes last night and took their purses. Victims were Miss Dorothy June, 25 years old, of 5409 Washington boulevard, who lost $1.50, and Mrs. Belle Bell of 146 North Parkside avenue, who lost $3.

FATHER INVOKES DELPHIC ORACLE IN CUSTODY SUIT

Says It's Better than a Leather Strap.

It is the opinion of Dr. Samuel J. Fogelson, a surgeon who qualifies himself as an expert in child psychology, that the oracle of Delphi is a more effective instrument for making youngsters eat their oatmeal than a leather strap.

The doctor, who is 40 and lives at 4820 Kenwood avenue, gave his views yesterday in the court of Judge Rudolph F. Desort, where he pleaded that the custody of his sons, Richard and John, be given to him exclusively. Under a divorce decree last July, the children were to be kept at different times by Dr. Fogelson and their mother, Mrs. Marian Lipson Fogelson of 4759 Drexel avenue.

Prefers a Grammar School.

"The children are being improperly brought up," he testified. "Mrs. Fogelson sends them to the University of Chicago elementary school. That is an experimental school, and often experiments in education are failures. I'd prefer that the children go to grammar school and learn to mingle with others and to live."

Attorney Benjamin B. Davis, representing Mrs. Fogelson, who resides with her father, I. B. Lipson, a wealthy retired lawyer, designated this as "a philosophical reason, and phooey."

The attorney asked why Dr. Fogelson had stopped visiting the children in the Lipson home and he replied that the door had been slammed in his face.

"You object to the way the boys are fed," said Davis. "Now, doctor, tell us about your method."

What the Oracle Says.

"I would say to Richard, who is 7," said Dr. Fogelson "that I am at the oracle of Delphi."

"Oh, Dickie knows Greek mythology?"

"He has read of it," continued the doctor. "I'd say, 'Dickie the oracle has told me Dickie is eating his food.' And Dickie eats." [Laughter in the court.]

Davis asked if he objected to a "retainer" named Catherine in the Lipson home. The doctor replied that he objected to her laying a strap on the table and telling the children to eat.

"You believe in the oracle as against the leather?" asked Davis.

Dr. Fogelson replied that he objected to corporal punishment.

Dr. Fogelson is a member of the faculty of Northwestern university and has done important experimental work in the cure of stomach ulcers.

The hearing was continued to Feb. 6.

JUDGE GETS SET FOR $21,000 SAY, BUT CAN'T SAY IT

Ten former East Chicago firemen, with their lawyers, sat in the courtroom of Special Judge Charles Jensen at Crown Point, Ind., yesterday. Mayor Frank R. Migas was there. Judge Jensen was to give his ruling in the firemen's suit for $21,000 in back pay. They were appointed for one year on Dec. 31, 1938, by an outgoing mayor. The new mayor, Migas, revoked the appointments a few days later and the firemen brought suit. The judge has studied the case for three months. As he cleared his throat to give his ruling an attaché spoke up.

"The last term of court ended Saturday," he said. "The new term starts next week. A court can't take any official action between terms."

Judge Jensen said he'd forgotten about the vacation period and set Feb. 10 as the new date for announcing his decision.

TOURISTS MAKE MEXICO CITY THE AMERICAN PARIS

Exchange and Climate Attract Vacationers.

BY FREDERIC BABCOCK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 30.—Mexico City has supplanted Paris as the tourist metropolis of the United States.

Occasionally a Mexican is seen here, and once in a while a bit of Spanish is heard, but that's usually on the outskirts.

About the only foreign language spoken hereabouts is when a hesitant tourist ventures "Cuanto vale esto?" or "Que hora es?" Whereupon he is answered either in perfect English or American slang. [A street urchin approached us last night with an article of merchandise and gave us this sales talk: "It's terrific!"]

Streets and Hotels Jammed.

All the hotels are jammed with Americans. So are the streets. A stroll down Avenida Madero in the evening is like trying to cross Madison and State streets the Saturday before Christmas. Never before, we are told, have there been so many visitors from north of the border.

There are at least three reasons for all this: The closing of most of Europe to travel this season; the favorable rate of exchange, and the fact that Americans are learning about this city's climate.

At the moment the peso is quoted at nearly six to the dollar. That means that for around 17 cents in our money we can buy anything that sells for a Mexican dollar.

Go into a good restaurant—Sanborn's, Mrs. Thimgren's, the Lady Baltimore, or any of the others—and you won't be able to find any dinner for more than 3 pesos [51 cents in our money]. The chances are you'll take one for about half that amount. After that it seems a shame not to tip the waitress more than the customary 10 per cent, but apparently that's all she expects.

Cold There Comfortable.

The people here have been complaining about an unusually cold winter. Yet we've had our windows at the hotel open most of the time, and only rarely have we found use for our topcoat. Old timers say Mexico City has one of the world's highest averages of sunshine [2,445.3 hours yearly, if that means anything to you]. It has the climate of perpetual springtime, with the temperature averaging 60 degrees, and seldom going below 40. [We've just heard that it went down to 14 degrees below zero in Chicago the other day.]

At an altitude of 7,444 feet the air here is always balmy. But [tip No. 1] be forewarned that new arrivals often get that way, too. If you don't watch your step about overdoing things in the way of food and exercise, you're apt to become light headed or worse. The altitude has a way of creeping up on you.

Tip No. 2: Forget all that talk about bandits and revolutions. You're as likely to meet up with a bandit down here as you are on Michigan avenue. As for revolutions—Mexico is about as seething as are its sleeping volcanoes.

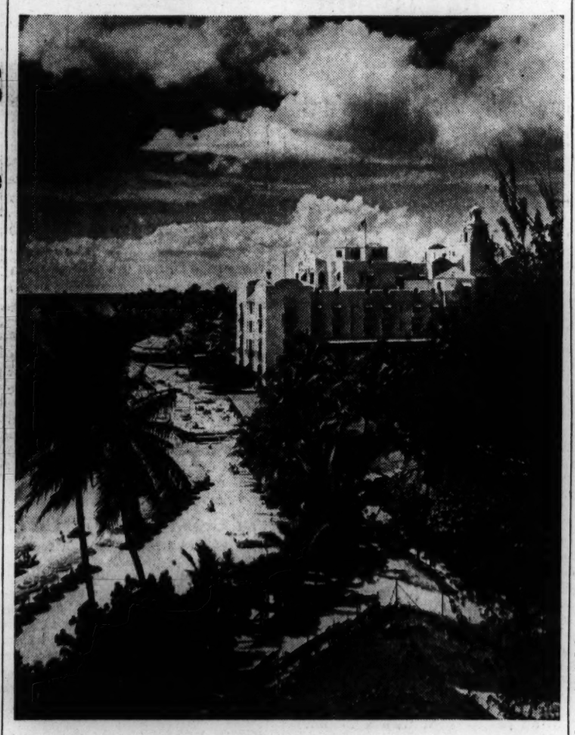

No Trouble About Food.

Tip No. 3: Everybody who, having already been here, likes to parade his knowledge will tell you to be careful about what you eat and drink, lest you have digestive troubles. The advice about overeating is well taken, but if you stick to the recognized hotels and restaurants you won't have any trouble with either food or water.

Tip No. 4: Don't try any of your midwestern Spanish on the natiyes. All that stuff about the necessity of knowing how to say "Buenos dias" and "Como esta usted?" probably is propaganda put out by the peddlers of English-Spanish dictionaries.

Tip No. 5: Expect to find, right at the front door of your own country—and therefore reached at a minimum of cost—one of the strangest and most fascinating lands to be found anywhere.

SECOND SAILFISH DERBY OPENS ON FLORIDA COAST

Expect Haul of 500 at West Palm Beach.

BY BOB BECKER.

Another big sailfish angling contest has been launched on the east coast of Florida; so northern fishermen have an opportunity to compete for another group of prizes this winter. The Miami tournament for rod and reel enthusiasts started several weeks ago. The latest salt water fishing rodeo to get under way is that sponsored by West Palm Beach.

More than 80 boats headed thru Palm Beach inlet and put to sea with all kinds of tackle to launch the 1940 sailfish contest. This fleet was made up of several hundred anglers who trolled the edge of the Gulf stream for the leaping, high jumping, sporty sailfish.

Report Prospects Are Bright.

According to the latest reports from the east coast fishing front the prospects are bright for a total haul of more than 500 sailfish during the sixth annual contest sponsored by West Palm Beach. The first fishermen who tried their luck on the Gulf stream reported several large schools and the fleet came in with two sailfish for every three boats.

Anglers who compete in the West Palm Beach Derby have a chance to win many fine trophies. Heading the list of awards is the trophy for the longest sailfish caught. The winner of this prize gets his name on the permanent trophy and a gold and silver replica, while the winning fish is mounted for him without charge.

Then there is a beautiful prize for the heaviest sailfish taken during the Derby.

Thousands Use Light Tackle.

While sailfish sportsmen are trying their luck on the east coast of Florida, thousands of other anglers are using their light tackle on the west coast to catch sea trout, redfish, groupers, snook, and other salt water species which may be caught either by trolling or by casting. Reports from Tampa southward along the west coast to Everglades tell of the large number of rod and reel enthusiasts who are tossing lures at these medium sized game fish which may be caught close to shore.

CANADA TO OPEN SCENIC HIGHWAY IN WILDERNESS

Route Will Be Extended Thru Beauty Spot.

A country of incomparable wild beauty on the north shore of the St. Lawrence river between Tadoussac and Baie Comeau, 90 miles to the northeast, is to be opened to motor tourists in the next three years.

T. D. Bouchard.

This announcement was made yesterday by T. D. Bouchard, new minister of roads and public works of the province of Quebec, who arrived in Chicago to attend the convention of the American Road Builders' association.

Baie Comeau is about 300 miles down the St. Lawrence river from Quebec. The scenic roadway is completed between Quebec and Tadoussac and extends 20 or more miles beyond the latter.

Part of Road Built.

Part of the roadway—25 miles—has been built toward Tadoussac from Baie Comeau. Excavation and grading has been begun on other parts stretching thru the intervening wilderness of forests, rivers, and lakes.

Mr. Bouchard, who also is chief of the provincial board of unemployment relief, said that starting next month much of Quebec's road work will be done by persons requiring relief. Bouchard, who is mayor of St. Hyacinth, a town of 20,000, said he intends to seek abolition of the dole system in the province and to replace it with work-relief as he has, with considerable success, in his home town.

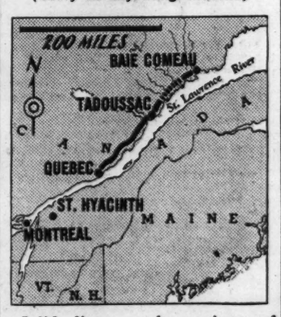

20 Million to Be Spent.

He said the public work relief program would affect approximately 50,000 families in the province. Approximately $20,000,000 will be spent on provincial highway construction this year, he said.

Bouchard said the giant roadbuilding equipment exhibited at the convention would not fit in with the Canadian plan of providing as much work as possible for the needy. He recently made a 10,000 mile tour of Canada, the United States, and Mexico. He said he was impressed particularly by the highway south from Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, which he was told was largely built without machines.

Scenic Highway

Solid lines mark sections of scenic roadway on north shore of St. Lawrence river which have been completed. The broken line indicates part that has not been finished. The Tadoussac-Baie Comeau road is to be opened in the next three years.

Second Century Comes Alive in a Brilliant Novel

"As a Driven Leaf," by Milton Steinberg. [Bobbs-Merrill, $2.50.] Published Monday.

BY CARL WIEGMAN.

To summarize "As a Driven Leaf" is to risk making it sound like another ponderous historical novel, full of talk about philosophy and religion. It is far more than that. It is as fresh and exciting as the war news from Finland. Its people are as vibrant as the jostling Christmas shopping crowds in Chicago's loop. Keeping that in mind, here is the story:

Elisha ben Abuyah was a brilliant, wealthy young rabbi in Palestine in the second century, when Romè was at the height of its power. He begins to doubt the stern faith of his fathers and starts a search for truth in theology and morality—a truth that can be confirmed by logic in the fashion of geometry.

He is excommunicated by the Sanhedrin and goes to Antioch, the third city of the empire. There he is dazzled by the apparent sanity of Greek culture and the seeming justice of Roman law. His love for Manto, mistress of the Roman governor, spurs him on to feats of learning.

When the Jews revolt again in Palestine, Elisha is forced to choose. Believing that his search for truth and the welfare of all mankind can best be served by the Pax Romana, he betrays his people to the Roman army. After that, hated by the Jews and despised by the Romans, he finds his mind—man's mind—is too frail an instrument to achieve certainty about anything. At the end of his desperate search for truth he finds only vanity and a striving after wind.

True Breath of Life Is Given to Galileo and His Genius in Masterly Fictional Biography

"The Star Gazer," by Zsolt de Harsanyi. [Putnam, $2.75.] Published tomorrow. February choice of the Book of the Month club.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

This almost 600 page "novel of the life of Galileo" tells the life story of one of the few men who have autographed time. Most men are themselves so signed over by the passing years that their own feeble names are buried, as were their bodies, under the scrawlings of their enemy. A few have held their own immortality in their minds or their fingers, and have even made their names more memorable than any events of their age. Such a one was the Florentine, Galileo.

This great fictional biography deals no more, however, with the causes of Galileo's immortality than it does with his daily harassed life. Here genius fights as hard for sustenance, as losingly for happiness, and as discouragingly for recognition, and in the end betrays his convictions for the sake of his skin as unbeautifully as might any common man.

Zsolt de Harsanyi.

But one thing that neither tragedy nor torture could take from him was his belief in his own genius. Aristotle, the god of science until Galileo questioned his omniscience, filled him with rage even as a young man. "So Aristotle's errors in which the world has been believing for 2,000 years will be set right by you?" says his father scornfully. "Yes, father, why not?" replies the young Galileo. "I'm never surprised at my own intelligence."

In these long, slowly moving pages that intelligence grows before the reader's eyes, always questioning, never satisfied, still questioning further. Almost uniquely in modern fiction is genius made credible here.

Since no man, even a genius, can live in any manner other than that of his times, Italy of the late 1500s and the first 42 years of the 1600s is minutely embroidered into these pages. Here are the quarrels of the church and the states; here are the plagues and the inquisitions, the weather and the wars which affected all men, not only as they touched the hero.

The author makes a human being out of a name in the pages of one of the memorable novels of our day.

Authors and Their Work

Zsolt de Harsanyi, author of "The Star Gazer" [Putnam, $2.75], is one of the great literary figures in Hungary. His family has one of the oldest literary traditions in the world. For the last 600 years they have been famous writers. His grandfather translated Moliere and founded the first magazine in Hungary. Zsolt de Harsanyi, who is 53 years old, has written 120 one-act plays and a number of full length dramas and musical comedies and is the best known translator of English and American plays in his country. He has written, besides "The Star Gazer," five other important novels.

Every one is stumbling over the pronunciation of the last name of the author of the winner of the All Nations Prize Novel award, "No Arms, No Armour" [Farrar & Rinehart, $2.50]. Robert D. Q. Henriques. Say it Hen-reé-cuss and you'll be right.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox's Life

"Period Piece," by Jenny Ballou. [Houghton Mifflin, $3.] Published yesterday.

"The Life and Times of Ella Wheeler Wilcox" is the subtitle of Jenny Ballou's "Period Piece." In it one of the curios of American literature is studied as an article of virtu [if not virtue] amusingly expressive of her period. The period as well as one of its chief idols is the theme of Miss Ballou's study.

The subtitle is not altogether accurate, for neither the life nor the times of Ella Wheeler Wilcox come in for any exhaustive recording here. The biographer interprets the facts of her heroine's life rather than maps them. The reader has an "impression" of her heroine [an amusing and a vivid one], but no sense of having known Ella Wheeler Wilcox intimately. Nor is there any especially intimate record of her times.

An interpretation of an "antique" by a modern connoisseur who has all of the most nicely whittled adjectives with which to point out the amusing contours of a "period piece," Jenny Ballou's biography is a period piece in itself. It is not biography of the old school which set down facts and left the reader to draw his own conclusions, nor biography of the Strachey school which drew the author's conclusions for the reader by carefully selected facts, nor the newest model of life drawing which combines the virtues [and sometimes the vices] of both methods. "Period Piece" seems to take for granted that the reader knows everything except the outline facts about her heroine's life and most of the details of the times. The author makes a very amusing and keen analysis without taking time or space to set down more than the sketchiest facts of either the heroine's life or her times. It may be a new streamlined method of writing "biography."

Miss Ballou had at hand the material for the most satirical writing imaginable in the life story of the author of "Poems of Passion." A young girl in a bleak Wisconsin farmhouse pouring out words from a love and beauty starved heart, suddenly became the most notorious writer of her day when the taboo word "passion" was pinned to her mild romancings. She was enveloped by a scandal which "was to give her a taste of sensationalism," says Miss Ballou, "without which she finally could not breathe." Her work was "heart not art," and "it was more vital to her to be hailed as poet than to write good poetry."

It will come as a distinct shock to many readers about this lush, vivid, authentically vulgar personality that Ella Wheeler Wilcox flourished until 1919.

Caboll's Satire on Hamlet

"Hamlet Had an Uncle," by Branch Cabell. [Farrar & Rinehart, $2.50.] Published Monday.

Mr. Cabell, in the preface to this highly diverting book, offers us a tale "in its every essential as Shakespeare first found it." "I may dare assert at least," he concludes that preface, "that I have not changed the story quite so improbably or constantly, or so grandly, as he did."

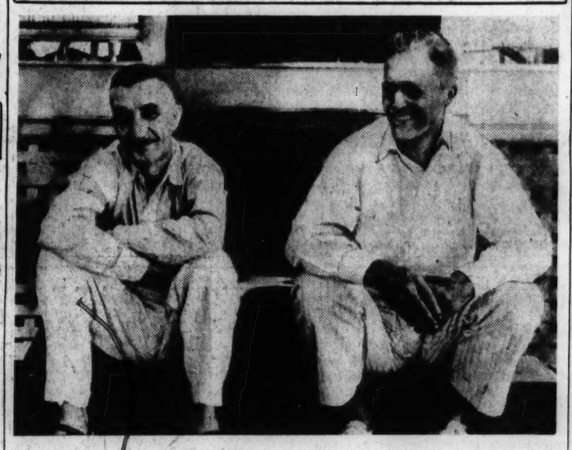

With which delicate apologia Mr. Cabell tells a story of the flesh and blood Viking, Hamlet, who "got the throne of Jutland." "This Hamlet," says Mr. Cabell, "has been made famous all over the world in the same while that, thru a toplofty paradox, he has been forgotten almost completely; for a superb lie arose—somehow—behind multitudinous footlights; and before its splendor the truth skulked away into footnotes."

Mr. Cabell's exhumation will seem to the reader more an amusing exhibition of his own special genius with adjectives and subtle word manipulation [not to mention innuendo] than any profound historical setting to right. Indeed, "Hamlet Had an Uncle" is fiction in the broadest sense, written as James Branch Cabell used to write it in the many volumed biography of the "Life of Manuel," embellished with runes and mediæval incantations cleverly veiling but scarcely clouding his meaning. Here that meaning more often has to do with man's folly in his relations with mankind than with womankind.

There is much here about "honor," and much blood-letting is done in its name. "Honor does not permit a king to apologize to another king," says Hamlet's uncle. "A dissension between kings has to be wiped out, at a fair remove from their persons, with the blood of their subjects." Murder is as common here as it would be on the western front if a war were being fought there, and it is accepted as inevitably.

Mr. Cabell has a skittish, often a rollicking time with the wily Hamlet, who was dumb like a fox and a match for any one except his Uncle Wiglerus. Assorted Jutlanders, Danes, Britons, and Scots people these satiric pages, which are written with the mellifluous grandiloquence which is Mr. Cabell's special gift.

Lectures

S. P. Rudens, critic and editor, will give the third in a series of ten lectures on "20th Century Problems in World Literature," at 8:15 p. m. Monday at the Jewish People's institute. His topic will be "James Joyce, 'Ulysses' Nature and Intellect."

A Lighthearted South Sea Tale Is Entertaining

"No More Gas," by Charles Nordhoff and James Norman Hall. [Little-Brown, $2.50.] Published tomorrow.

Here is escape literature of the most certain anodynia. There may be wars and taxes and murder and malfeasance in most of the printed pages which we pick up, and germs and politics may be spreading gloom about us like a dust bowl gale, but in these pages there is nothing but gayety and high spirits in that favorite geographical site of the literary lethe brewers, Tahiti.

Here the authors of "The Mutiny on the Bounty," "The Hurricane," and other popular thrillers of the south seas tell about the Tuttle clan, descendants of a New England sea captain and his native wife. With none of their New England ancestor's providence to dilute their Tahitian love of entertainment and music and gayety, the Tuttles are constantly broke and literally have no more gasoline to run their broken down launch into fishing waters. But they are all as utterly charming as they are irresponsible.

The French doctor who keeps lending them money to buy gas when he is pitifully trying to save up enough to get himself a little X-ray machine says when a friend declares that he won't see Jonas Tuttle "unless he has the brazenness to come in for another touch": "Don't call it that. I always feel guilty after one of Jonas' visits, when I've doled out to him 50 or 100 francs, knowing with what gusto he could spend ten times the sum, whatever it might be. It warms my heart to know that there are such people in the world, with a capacity for day to day enjoyment of life that puts the rest of us to shame."

Their adventures with their fighting cock, when they bet not only every cent they can scrape together but all their furniture and their future crops and fish hauls on the erroneously named "Mortgage-Lifter"; the visit of a too pious relative; the salvaging of an abandoned ship, and Jonas' lavish purchases from the mail order catalog make focal points in the authors' light hearted chronicle.

The Tuttles are warranted to make you forget your cares—and to be grateful that you have them instead of the Tuttles to live with! F. B.

The Girl in the Shadows

By Roy Vickers

[Copyright, 1940, By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

SYNOPSIS.

On the eve of her marriage, Cynthia Brentiford is sentenced to prison. An innocent scapegoat of the crook, Rory Clarke, she hides her plight from her fiancé, Michael Alloway. At Hounsbyker, Cynthia's childhood playmate, Bessie Stockley, is a prison wardress. Bessie manages to change places with Cynthia and let Cynthia have her two weeks' leave of absence to marry Michael. Then Cynthia persuades Michael to go back to his job in Malta alone. She goes back to prison. There she discovers she is going to have a baby and manages to break prison. Explaining her silence as a lapse of memory, she goes to stay with Michael's mother and sister Marion at Cloutleigh. Rory Clarke trails her there and blackmails her. Thru a phone call, Scotland Yard connects Cynthia with Rory Clarke. Detective Stevens comes down to Cloutleigh. Marion, pretending to be young Mrs. Alloway to the detective, learns enough to arouse her suspicions. Planning to fly to Malta with Gen. Sir William Merrowbridge, Cynthia is arrested at the airport and taken to Scotland Yard for questioning. Her marriage on a date when she was supposed to be in prison bars her. Cynthia learns Bessie has lost her job thru Clarke's blackmailing and gives her a note of recommendation to Marion.

MIXED IDENTITIES.

After further discussion it was settled that Bessie was to go down to Cloutleigh that evening, presenting herself to Miss Alloway without undue haste during the next few days.

"Don't go back to Fortescue street from here—get new things on your way," said Cynthia. "And have a good rest first, in the village. Here's the name of a woman who lets rooms. I'll refund everything when you're settled. If only I could tell Michael what a good friend you've been to me!"

"Let's hope you'll never have to," breathed Bessie devoutly.

"There's only one bit of advice I can give you if you get into any kind of mess," added Cynthia. "It's from my own experience. Don't admit anything. Just go on denying until the last minute and after. I've found out that the law has to prove everything, and often it can't. . . . And now I must go. Darling Bessie, goodbye."

As she traveled back to the aerodrome Cynthia's spirits soared again. Never mind what Clarke might do—the law would have to prove that she had changed places with Bessie. Bessie would deny it. She herself would deny it. Obviously, it would be impossible to prove anything at all.

At half past four exactly she rejoined the general at the ticket barrier. And this time they were not required to show their passports. She forgot to feel frightened when the aeroplane started, for she had drifted into a haze of happiness in which life once again seemed wholly wonderful.

The night was passed in Paris and they were off again the following morning. She parted with the General at Marseilles and thanked him again for the great service he had rendered her—greater far than he could possibly suspect. And he would only miss an hour of his conference.

She arrived in Malta early in the afternoon.

As it is manifestly impossible for a person to be in two places at once, and further as the proof of Mrs. Alloway's marriage and honeymoon was absolute, Scotland Yard had been compelled to accept defeat.

The fingerprint system had been known to make mistakes before now but never such a glaring one. A private circular was printed and distributed to the members of the Yard and the police forces thruout the country, explaining the supposed facts and warning all officers to see the protection certificate before making an arrest.

"We've had trouble with doubles before now," muttered Rason, "and I've heard of identical twins having the same fingerprints. But this woman isn't a twin."

He had verified that by reference to her birth certificate.

"There's nothing for it, Rason—we'll just have to let it go as a miracle," said the chief superintendent.

The following afternoon Detective Sergeant Stevens, who had been on special duty, asked to see Detective Inspector Rason.

"This circular, sir, about Mrs. Michael Alloway."

"Well, Stevens?"

"It says she bears a remarkable likeness to Clara Brown. But she doesn't. Not if it's the Mrs. Michael Alloway I saw down at Cloutleigh."

Rason turned up a dossier.

"Yes, it's the same. She's stated, and Sir William Merrowbridge confirmed, that she'd been staying with her mother-in-law at Cloutleigh Manor until last Monday."

"All right, sir, but I thought I'd better report. I went to Cloutleigh Manor, as you know. I asked the maid for Mrs. Michael Alloway. A lady came and I asked her if she was Mrs. Michael Alloway and she said "Yes." She wasn't the very least bit like this." He produced the double photograph of the convict Ciara Brown. "She was bigger and taller all around, different colored hair and eyes, different shaped nose."

"You must have interviewed another member of the family. The sister-in-law, I expect—Miss Alloway."

"That's what it must have been, sir. Only she said she was Mrs. Michael Alloway."

"Not much in that. It may have been a mere verbal misunderstanding she didn't bother to correct, especially as from her point of view you were only asking some futile question about a telephone. . . . Ah!"

Rason had, in effect, pricked up his ears.

"It is a bit of a coincidence, Stevens, that that call about Rory Clarke should have come from a box within a mile of a girl who has the same face, form and figure as Clarke's girl."

Stevens agreed politely.

"And another coincidence, sir. When I was down in that village I heard a lot of gossip. For instance, in the morning the two Alloway ladies were seen walking with a man who was staying at the pub—man giving the name of Stainham. In the afternoon Mrs. Michael came back to the village without the other lady. She asked to see Stainham again and was told he'd left to catch the three-fifteen from Taunton. Some one then went straight to the telephone and gave exactly that information about Rory Clarke. The times fit all right."

Rason caught something of his junior's excitement.

"Call that inn. Ask them for a description and take up any address he gave."

Half an hour later Stevens returned.

"The address is a number in Bedford Row. He stated he was a solicitor by profession. But there's no solicitor of that name at that address."

Rason drew a bottle nosed comedian on his blotting pad.

"If Mrs. Michael only had a twin sister instead of a sister-in-law, it'd make more sense—especially if Stainham is Rory Clarke." He chuckled. "Better take your fishing rod this time, Stevens."

"Do I go down again, sir?"

"Yes. See if you can make a link-up. Get a full description of Stainham, and if that Miss Alloway was lying to you, try and find out why."

"Yes, sir."

"Keep an eye on the manor. Report any new arrivals—anything unusual. See what you can get out of the servants, especially. If Clarke goes down there again, he won't go as Stainham, that's certain. Keep an eye open for him in another disguise and find out who he goes to see down there. That's all, I think."

. . . . . .

At the same moment in which Cynthia stepped from the plane at Malta, Stevens arrived at Cloutleigh and put up at the Lorna Doone Arms.

The landlord personally carried his bag up to the room he had formerly occupied, condoling with him the while on the weather which was getting decidedly wintry.

"But perhaps you're on business, sir, and than it don't matter to you."

"As a matter of fact, I rather hoped to find Mr. Stainham here," admitted Stevens guardedly. "We've been missing each other, one way and another."

"You'll excuse my mentioning it, Mr. Stevens," said the landlord, "but I should be very much surprised to learn that that gentleman was any kind of criminal or wrong 'un. A very pleasant gentleman indeed, he seemed to be."

PRESIDENT ASKS 50 HOSPITALS IN DEFICIENT AREAS

Proposes Spending 7½ to 10 Million on Project.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30 (AP).—President Roosevelt proposed to congress today that the government build 50 hospitals in impoverished communities thruout the country with an appropriation of $7,500,000 to $10,000,000.

Senators Robert F. Wagner [D., N. Y.] and James M. Mead [D., N. Y.] indicated that legislation to carry out the program would be introduced in congress this week. Representative Lyle H. Boren [D., Okla.], a member of the house interstate commerce committee to which the President's message was referred, indicated the plan might encounter opposition.

Favors Other Uses.

"I have not known of an insistent call for federal aid in the construction of hospitals," he said. "If more money is to be spent in a federal health program this year, I feel that it should be spent for venereal disease control and for further coöperation with state health departments."

The President's plan contemplates that the federal government bear the entire cost of the construction without any participation by local units such as envisaged in the pending bill by Senator Wagner for health activities to cost ultimately between $850,000,000 and $1,000,000,000. The President has termed the Wagner plan too costly.

Expected to Pay Way.

Communities receiving the hospitals, however, would be required to maintain and operate them at standards prescribed by the public health service. The President suggested that the poor areas which receive them should "have enough public spirited citizens with means, and enough citizens able to pay something for hospital treatment, to care for operating costs of a hospital, provided they do not have to pay for its original construction and equipment, or to pay annual interest and amortization on borrowed money."

The hospitals probably would have a minimum of 100 beds each and cost between $150,000 and $200,000.

"I am confident," the President's message said, "that even this limited undertaking will bring substantial returns in the savings of lives, rehabilitation of workers, and increased health and vigor of the people."

CHARGES HORSE SUPPORT DEMAND IN DIVORCE SUIT

Mrs. Helen E. Booth yesterday filed suit in the Circuit court at Waukegan for a divorce from William C. Booth, of Libertyville, a former riding academy owner. She said Booth refused her access to his home after they separated last Oct. 28, and told her he would let her in only if he and his horses "might be supported by her in the manner to which he and the horses had become accustomed in a prior marriage of his."

Mrs. Booth, who met her husband on the bridle paths, said they had been married only 25 days when the separation occurred. Booth's first wife was the former Elizabeth Merrill, daughter of Mrs. Robert F. Gay of Glencoe, and an heiress to a large fortune. They were married in 1930 and divorced in 1938.

The second Mrs. Booth caused the arrest of the riding master and Mrs. Elizabeth Merrill Booth in the riding academy on Jan. 11. Both were charged with disorderly conduct. Booth also was booked for wife abandonment. A hearing on both cases will be held before Justice of the Peace M. J. Haney in Waukegan on Feb. 7.

Worried because she had not seen her parents since the night before, Mrs. Frances Mandes, 2447 Cortland street, broke down the door of their home next door at 2449 last night. She found her father, Paul Lewandowski, 82, dead, asphyxiated by coal gas fumes. Her mother, Rose, 71, and her brother, Stanley, 31, were unconscious, as was their wire haired fox terrier. A fire department rescue squad worked over Mrs. Lewandowski and her son for an hour and a half, then took them to St. Mary's hospital where both remained in a critical condition. A PAINTING LEADS BANKER HARRIS INTO A TAX SUIT

Wants Deduction for Portrait Allowed.

Albert W. Harris, 72 year old chairman of the board of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, filed a suit yesterday in federal court which reflected some of the virtues of frugality which have made him a success as a banker.

Albert W. Harris.

What Mr. Harris wants is a refund of $2,318 on his 1928 income tax payment, and by way of justification in taking the position that the government, and not he, was at fault in the dispute, a preliminary paragraph in his petition stated:

"Plaintiff has at all times borne a true allegiance to the government of the United States and has not in any way aided, abetted, or given encouragement to rebellion against the government."

Wants to Deduct for Painting.

Nevertheless, Mr. Harris wanted the United States and Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue, the defendants in his suit, to hand back his $2,318. He insisted that a deduction of $2,264.37 in his 1928 return, representing the cost of an oil portrait of his late father, Norman W. Harris, was valid even if the government didn't agree.

The $2,264.37, which might be considered by art connoisseurs to be a strange price to pay for a portrait, was listed by Mr. Harris in his return under the heading of "ordinary business expense," because the portrait was presented by Mr. Harris to the bank's investment affiliate, Harris, Forbes & Co. of New York City.

Other Deductions Disallowed.

Among other deductions which were disallowed were Harris' expenses and dues in the Bankers' club and the Commercial club, amounting to $470, claimed for ordinary business expense.

The petition stated that Harris paid $73,541 in March, 1929, on his 1928 tax bill, and that in June, 1931, he was compelled to make a deficiency payment of $2,384 after his deductions had been disallowed. Mr. Harris held that his net income was $220,728, and that his tax therefore should have been $73,600.

ILLINOIS FARMER CHIEF FOR NATIONAL PARLEY WITH LABOR, INDUSTRY

President Earl C. Smith of the Illinois Agricultural association declared yesterday in an interview that the national leaders of agriculture, labor, and industry should confer in an effort to solve their problems fairly and equitably. The three groups already are moving in the direction of an interrelated program, he said.

Smith will deliver his presidential address today at the 25th annual meeting of the I. A. A. in the Stevens hotel. Yesterday's session was devoted to meetings of 11 subsidiary organizations. These farmer owned coöperatives and corporations, officials said, have combined assets of $17,400,000. Last year 1,500,000,000 pounds of milk, valued at $30,000,000, was sold thru Illinois coöperatives, according to Wilfred Shaw, director of milk marketing for the I. A. A.

E. W. Tiedeman of St. Louis, president of the Sanitary Milk producers, in an address before the Illinois Milk Producers, association, a subsidiary of the I. A. A., appealed for support of a state milk control bill. Such a bill, he said, would give all Illinois farmers the benefits enjoyed by those included under federal milk marketing control.

CROSS DENIES 61ST SESSION LED IN LAW PASSING

Speaker Hugh Cross of the Illinois house of representatives, a Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, yesterday corrected the Legislative Voters league for its statement that the 1939 session of the general assembly passed more laws than any session "in upward of 100 years."

"Actually," the speaker said, "three other sessions during the last 10 years passed more bills than the 61st [1939] session. This is proved by figures compiled for me by the legislative reference bureau."

In 1939 the session passed 421 bills. This was exceeded in 1931, with 440 bills; in 1933, with 493 mills, and in 1935, with 563 bills. The total in 1937 was 403 bills and in 1929 it was 414 bills.

DOG FOOD LURES BOY'S PET FROM LAKE ICE FLOE

Philip Corper Jr., 13 years old, didn't know that Nipper, his pet fox terrier, had followed him to school yesterday until he returned to his home at 1126 Ashland avenue, Wilmette, and found the dog missing.

Several hours later police were called to the lake shore off Chestnut street, Wilmette. Nipper was marooned on an ice floe.

FUND TO BATTLE PARALYSIS CLIMBS AT 25,000 BALLS

President Addresses Birthday Parties.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—President Roosevelt tonight thanked dancers at balls thruout the country and the doners of dimes for making his 58th birthday a happy one by raising funds to aid his fellow infantile paralysis sufferers.

In the nation's capital 15,000 persons danced to music of outstanding orchestras in six hotels. All paused, as did dancers at 25,000 balls thruout the country, to hear the President's birthday message.

It was estimated that the balls and dime contributions of the White House will raise a record total of $2,000,000 to combat the disease.

Half Stays in Community.

Of the money collected, 50 per cent will go to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, to be used for research, and 50 per cent will go to aid sufferers in the community in which the funds were raised.

In 1934, the first year of the birthday balls, the total proceeds of $1,003,030 went to the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation, the infantile paralysis resort founded by the President.

In 1935 70 per cent of the $750,856 collected was retained by local communities where the funds were raised and the remaining 30 per cent was turned over to a research committee appointed by the President and allocated to universities and hospitals in the first concerted effort to eradicate the disease.

Of the $572,756 raised in 1936, 70 per cent went to the communities and 30 per cent to the Warm Springs Foundation. Local communities and the foundation also made a 70-30 split of the 1937 proceeds of $952,293.

New Foundation Takes Over.

In 1938 all of the $1,021,034 collected went to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Inc., which was formed that year. Of the $1,329,100 collected last year, $621,908 went to the new foundation and $707,192 was retained by local communities.

The President had an active birthday. He went to his desk as usual after a physical checkup by Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntire, White House physician, who pronounced the chief executive in as "perfect physical condition as a man of his age could expect to be."

At noon Mr. Roosevelt lunched with motion picture actors, actresses, and musicians who contributed their presence to the birthday balls.

6,000 DANCE IN CHICAGO

About 6,000 persons attended two balls in Chicago last night to raise funds with which to combat infantile paralysis. Four thousand danced in the Drake hotel and 2,000 in the Savoy ballroom, 4733 South Park way.

Three rooms—the Gold Coast room, the Tower room, and the main ballroom—were used at the Drake. Admission was $5 a person. A fashion show of dresses famous in history preceded the dancing. A five tier cake, decorated with roses and weighing 250 pounds, was sold at auction.

It was expected that approximately $100,000 would be raised in Cook county for fighting paralysis.

W. T. RICHARDS, NOBEL WINNER'S SON, KILLS SELF

New York, Jan. 30 [Special].—William T. Richards, son of the late Prof. Theodore W. Richards of Harvard, Nobel prize winner in chemistry, was found dead tonight with his wrists slashed in the bathroom of his apartment in East 83d street.

Richards, who was 40 years old and a brother-in-law of Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard university, formerly had been an assistant professor of chemistry at Princeton university. He was the author of numerous technical articles published in scientific magazines.

Altho there were no notes, police listed Richard's death as suicide. They asked authorities at Cambridge, Mass., to notify Mrs. Theodora Richards, mother of Richards, and the former Grace Thayer Richards, who is the wife of Dr. Conant.

The Better Way to Correct Constipation

One way to treat constipation is to endure it first and "cure" it afterward. The other way is to avoid having it by getting at its cause. So why not save yourself those dull headachy days, plus the inevitable trips to the medicine chest, if you can do it by a simple common-sense "ounce of prevention"?

If your trouble, like that of millions, is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, "the better way" is to eat Kellogg's All-Bran. This crunchy, toasted, ready-to-eat cereal has just the "bulk" you need. If you eat it regularly—and drink plenty of water—you can not only get regular but keep regular, day after day and month after month! All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

BYRD ADDS NEW MOUNTAINS AND ISLE TO CHARTS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30 (AP).—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd reported today that a three hour plane flight had added new mountain peaks, an island, and 300 miles of hitherto unexplored coastline to charts of the Antarctic.

"Without doubt," the explorer wirelessed to government officials here, "it was the most productive flight, geographically speaking, that I have ever made."

Byrd was accompanied on the trip, made last Friday, by Ashley C. Snow, a naval aviation chief pilot, and Earle B. Perce, naval radioman. He said the trip verified his discovery of a new mountain range the previous day. Peaks could be seen extending 70 or 80 miles to the southern horizon.

Picasso Show Is Full Review of Modern Art

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The Museum of Modern Art in New York and the Chicago Art Institute together assembled the Picasso exhibition which opens this evening in the east wing galleries of the institute with a formal reception to members. The show will be open to the public tomorrow through March 3.

The exhibition covers the forty years of Piscasso's life as an artist. He is one of the leaders of the modern art movement and in his work he illustrates exquisitely the various turns and trends which have made up the divagations from the traditional that spell "modernism" for us all.

Various smart sayings have been struck off about Picasso's quick change of face in his painting. Probably his art has afforded more material for conversation, controversy, and debate than that of any of his contemporaries, with the exception of Matisse. And even bringing Matisse into it still leaves Picasso in the lead in originality.

Picasso started with as academic a technique as any conservative could wish—in proof look at the paintings dated 1899 and 1901—and he has wound up in 1938 with a dramatically conservative manner of painting illustrated superbly in the still life of roses. But what a shifting scene lies between the two dates!

Picasso had a blue period characterized by a sensitive and delicate pathos; frail figures against a pale blue background. He then enjoyed a rose period and a Negro period. He was one of the first to flirt with abstractions and cubism. He is considered by the surrealists to have at least a foot well wedged in their door. And he has chosen all thru to be an iconoclast, an individual, a leader.

If he tired of painting in one manner, surely the world of the imagination is full of others? Picasso has plucked ways of painting out of the ether as recklessly as though he were convinced there is no end to novelty and the new.

The exhibition proves he is right. There are lots of new things under the sun. Some of Picasso's work is hideous and brutal; much seems senseless; a great deal of it is amusing and exciting; other of it is frankly fine painting. Picasso is not an artist to belittle. The exhibition is stimulating and well worth seeing.

Many of the most interesting Picasso pictures are from Chicago collections. Among those who have loaned works to the exhibit are Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, and Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed.

A Gay Note in New Hats for Spring

The Navy Blues Are Welcome Sign of Spring

BY REA SEEGER.

Suddenly patriotic, the fashion world is waving red, white and blue all over the country. Window after window blazes with the glory of gold metal eagles, drums, tassels and gorgeous combines of red, white and navy blue. Coats, snappy spring suits, ensembles, and all the necessary navy blue accents make a blood stirring parade of fashions in the American manner.

There's something about the snap of nautical blue that wins every one . . . a navy blue suit tailored in neat trim streamlines deserves and earns that eloquent label. . . . The great American uniform . . . shop as you will, nothing will ever take its place.

And a navy blue wool coat is the time honored spring coat. . . . This year you'll find most of the newest models carved in at the waistline, smoothly streamlined, and flared out around the lower hem. Pockets of all sizes, shapes, and capacities mark the smartest arrivals.

These coats are simple affairs, all of them tailored with great swank and distinction. They are coats that are the background for a well assembled wardrobe, ready for wear from sunup to midnight by changing the accessories. With all the large collections of navy blue come the smartest, newest, and most flattering of hats, gloves, bags, blouses, belts, and footgear.

There's a lovely shade of cadet blue in straw hats and matching gloves, another shade of gold to complement red, and both are worn to spike the navy blue coats and suits.

Fashion photograph . . . bonbon blue straw hat using the straw in complicated loops makes the ideal small first spring hat to wear with slim tailored suits or the dressmaker ensembles of wool coat and printed silk dress. A long veil of dark color is used for contrast color.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

Off the Record.

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 30.—At a Hollywood party attended by George S. Kaufman, the gloomy dean of Broadway, they asked Charles Laughton if he wouldn't like to play the screen version of Kaufman's "The Man Who Came to Dinner." . . . Laughton thought not, explained that he had a British accent, and could not "feel" himself in the part.

"Well, certainly the part of Captain Bligh was foreign to you," said a noted director, "and yet you played it brilliantly."

Laughton said that the part of Bligh was not as remote as it seemed, because his family long had followed the sea and that he came from a long line of seafarers.

"I suppose," dryly interposed Kaufman, "that you also came from a long line of hunchbacks."

As a matter of record Laughton objected strenuously to the part of Capt. Bligh in "Mutiny on the Bounty" and, had it not been for studio insistence, probably would not have played it.

When Director Frank Lloyd called in Laughton for the first story conference Laughton ridiculed himself in the rôle—for an unusual reason. . . . Sea motion makes Capt. Bligh deathly ill; Lloyd thought that the actor was ad libbing an alibi, but on the first day's shooting off Catalina Island Laughton turned emerald green and spent most of the day stretched out on his back on the deck.

On one of the "March of Time" programs a year ago Burns and Allen used a certain type microphone that Eddie Cantor was using. . . . They liked it for the same reason that Cantor used it: because of its shape the "mike" does not cast a shadow across the script. . . . On their next broadcast George and bubbly voiced Gracie had the sound engineers at the studio install such a "mike" for them. . . . They loved it.

Thereafter their Crosley rating started to slide down. . . . By playing some of the records of earlier broadcasts Burns learned the reason: the new "mike" gave Gracie a brassy, metallic tone; blurred her comedy delivery. . . . They went back to the old "mike"; the Crosley rating started to jump immediately.

Richard Greene is perhaps the most astonishing Hollywood individual. . . . He never has had a big part in a big flicker. Rarely has appeared in more than several hundred feet of the picture in which he's cast. . . . Yet in the annual CHICAGO TRIBUNE news syndicate movie popularity polls, Greene always is battling it out with the leaders.

Greene, of a theatrical family, always has been inventive, and his inventiveness often has put him behind what his American cousins call the eight ball. . . . He made his stage debut at the famous "Old Vic" in London in "Julius Cæsar" as a spear carrier. . . . Having read a long list of success stories, young Greene decided to be original. . . . Instead of standing rigidly at attention, he leaned his spear against the prop wall, expectorated casually, and engaged some fellow spear carrier in animated conversation. . . . His reward was immediate. . . . They fired him between acts.

Good Morning!

"The Fighting 69th" pays lusty—and reverent—tribute to Father Duffy, famous wartime chaplain.

This movie without women is a story of life and death in the trenches. Humor dulls the edge of brutalities, but it is hardly of a nature to justify the statement that "here's the picture which has set the whole world laughing again." War is never REALLY funny—is it?

In the leading rôles are Pat O'Brien as the priest; James Cagney as a dauntless yahoo and intolerable braggart behind the lines, but a jibbering coward when the enemy's guns sing out; a rebellious nitwit whose panicky disobedience to orders leads to the annihilation of a portion of his regiment; George Brent as Maj. [Wild Bill] Donovan; Jeffrey Lynn as Joyce [Trees] Kilmer, and Alan Hale as Sergt. Wynn.

The action starts in Camp Mills, where you are introduced to the regiment and given a slight notion as to various characters and temperaments. . . . Then, overseas with them you go and into bloody battle.

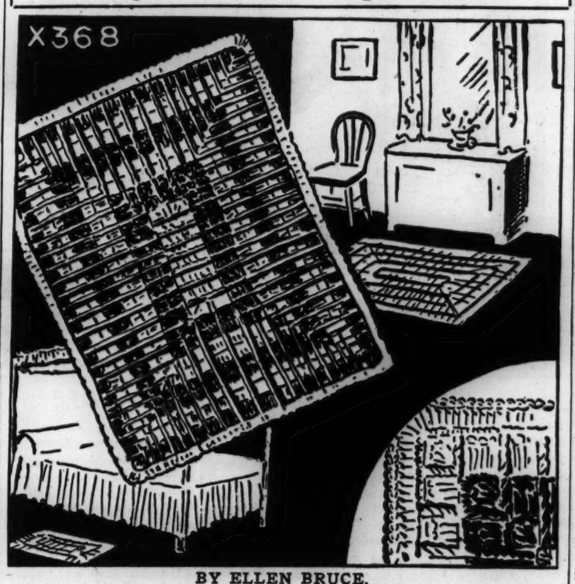

Plunkett, as the lamb who had gone astray and the boy whose interests become the chief concern of Father Duffy, stands out in strong and unpleasant contrast to the other men until the picture's concluding scenes when, thanks to the influence and works of Father Duffy, he comes thru gallantly. . . . I would say that it must have taken considerable in the line of guts to accept such a rôle and to play it up to the hilt as does Mr. Cagney. Kowtows to him!

Pat O'Brien shines as the doughty, shrewd, humane priest, as brave a soldier under fire as any of the fighting men. Alan Hale scores as Sergt. Wynn. George Brent is a splendid, forceful, perceptive Donovan. . . . Jeffrey Lynn is a brave and gentle Kilmer, softly saying his poems, inspired by the hell about him. All other players were most intelligently chosen.

The film was excellently directed. It is, even in its lighter moments, a tragic reminder of the war that was and a poignant warning against what COULD HAPPEN AGAIN. . . .

See you tomorrow.

Nassau Colony Takes Leisurely Way of Living

BY JUDITH CASS.

A LETTER from Nassau, that popular winter resort in the Bahamas, brings word that the season is in full swing, with golfing events about to take the center of the stage. The 18 hole Bahamas open amateur golf championships will be played over the course of the Bahamas Country club from tomorrow thru Sunday.

The increasing popularity of Nassau is indicated by the fact that there are three private beach clubs, whereas a dozen years ago there was only the Porcupine club. The Colonial Beach and Surf club, located on Hog Island, a short motor boat run from Nassau, and the Emerald Beach club have been added. The last named club is sponsored by Sir Frederick and Lady Williams-Taylor of Montreal, who used to be active at the Porcupine club, which also is located on Hog Island.

Members of the Emerald include many of the British, American, and Canadian winter residents of the island. Sir Frederick and Lady Williams-Taylor are known to all who are familiar with Nassau, and to the vast American reading public as well, for they are the grandparents of last year's number one glamor girl, Miss Brenda Diana Duff Frazier of New York.

Life Is Leisurely for Nassau Colony.

Life in Nassau follows a pleasant pattern. Every one goes swimming in the morning and stays on to have luncheon at the various clubs. There is tea dancing in the afternoons in the Coconut Grove room of the British Colonial hotel. There are dinner-dances on Thursdays and Fridays at the Emerald club. The Country club has dancing on Friday nights. Friday is horse racing day at Montagu Park, which is holding its seventh annual meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey H. Atkin recently returned from a holiday in Nassau. Just as they were coming home the John T. McCutcheons started southward for their Treasure Island home, near Nassau.

Walter B. Templeton of Hinsdale and his daughter, Mrs. Frederic W. Rhinelander II. of New York, are enjoying a long visit there. The former Constance Templeton and the son of the late retired Episcopal bishop of Pennsylvania, Philip M. Rhinelander, were married in New York ten years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Ennis will say good-by to Nassau soon, for they are expected home on Monday. Volney Foster of Lake Forest is spending the winter at the resort, as is Knowlton L. Ames, who has a house there. Mrs. Ames will join her husband shortly.

The Tiffany Blakes, who are in Florida now, and Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank will cross to Nassau on Feb. 21 to visit the McCutcheons.

Among others who have gone to what they hoped would be warmer

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

We read recently that most women have come to realize that soap is a basic cosmetic and needs to be chosen with as much care as creams. Truer words were never written. Dry skinned women have learned to base their beauty program on the choice of a bland soap and undoubtedly there is a sensible tendency these days to get away from the idea that any old soap will do.

Soaps of good quality are not as expensive as they used to be. The skin of each member of the family needs the protection the good soap affords it and such protection is available at little money.

For example, there is superb bath soap, of excellent quality, beautifully scented, that is extremely inexpensive. We're told that in this soap some of the best obtainable oils are used and certainly the smooth product indicates good blending and milling. The lather is smooth and creamy, the skin is left soft and supple. And the cake is enormous in size but holds its firmness when it's down to the last sliver.

In this soap you'll find seven different fragrances and colors. The scents are rose geranium, gardenia, lilac, carnation, pine, sandalwood, and a simple bouquet. The individual cakes, shaped like big pillows, are packed four to a box. Because it lasts so long the soap is economical—and we promise you that you'll be delighted with the price.

Smart housekeepers will lay in a stock.

What to Do for the Menu of Tomorrow

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1940: By The Chicago Tribune.]

NOTES ON TOMORROW'S MENU:

Sautéed eggs are created this way: Melt a little butter, enough to cover the bottom of the skillet, over moderate heat. Drop in the eggs, one at a time, far enough apart, if possible, so that they do not run into each other. When all are in the pan and each egg has begun to coagulate, cover the pan, turn down the heat, and let the eggs cook very gently until they are just the way you want them. No need for turning. Sprinkle them with salt and pepper just before they go to the table.

Macaroni and cheese is an ordinary dish, to be sure, but it may be very delicious. Use plenty of cheese, a kind that melts without becoming stringy or lumpy. But watch the oven temperature, too. Too high heat will make any cheese angry enough to go stringy.

Macaroni and Cheese.

[Serves Four.]

¾ pound macaroni
2 cups medium white sauce
½ pound sliced American cheese

Break macaroni into small pieces and cook in boiling salted water until tender. Drain. Place in a greased casserole with white sauce and cheese and bake at 350 degrees for half an hour.

To make the white sauce blend ¼ cup flour with ¼ cup butter, add ¾ to 1 teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Add gradually 2 cups milk, stirring constantly over low heat. Stir and cook until sauce is thickened and smooth. Add, if you like, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, and a sprinkling of cayenne pepper. These give a little more zip to the dish, but perhaps you prefer macaroni and cheese "unzipped." If so, don't add these trimmings.

Hungarian goulash is made variously. I think you'll like this recipe.

Hungarian Goulash.

[Serves Four.]

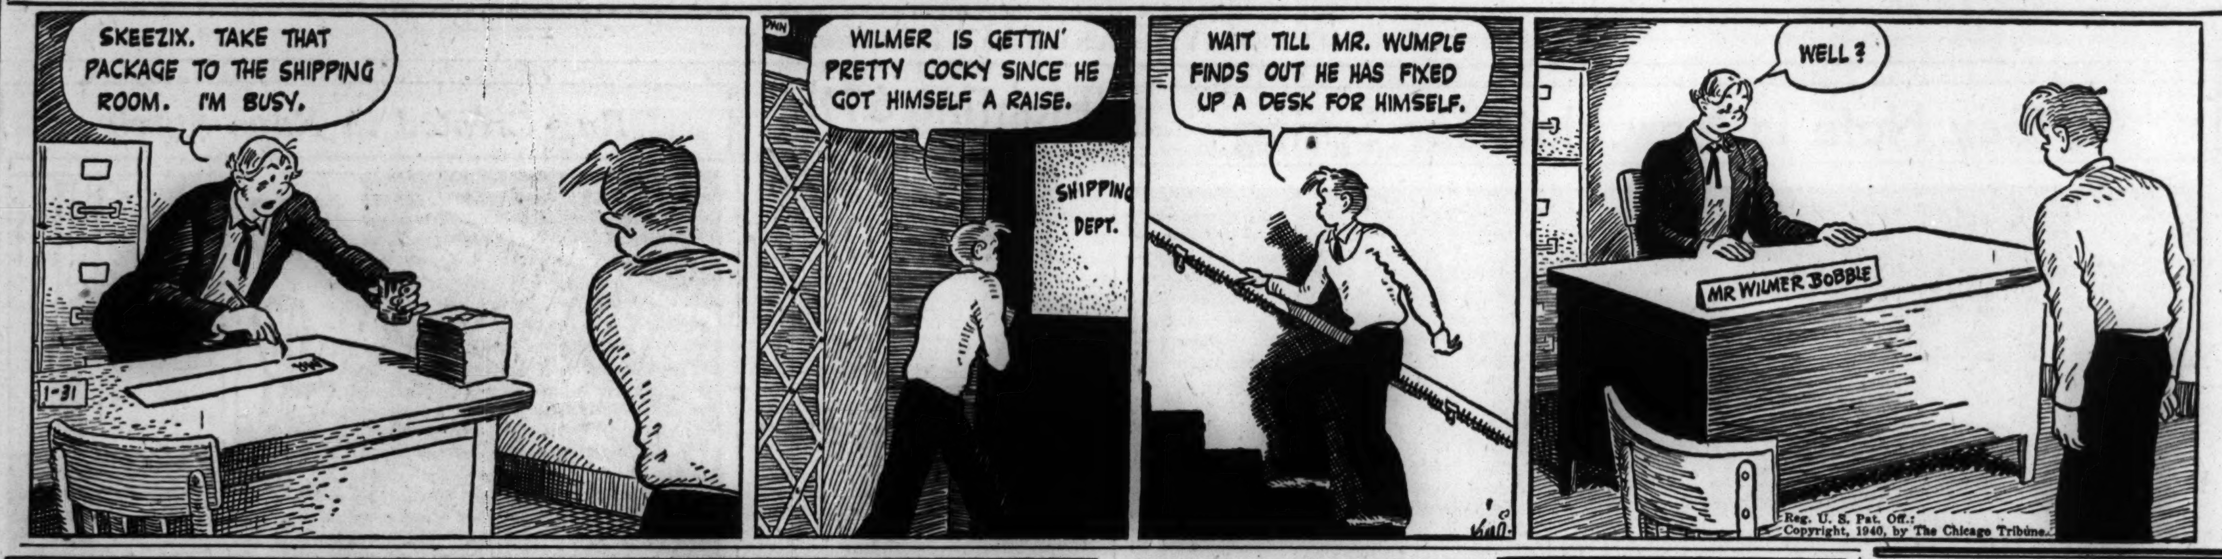

1½ pounds beef chuck, cut in inch cubes
Flour, salt, pepper
2 large onions, cut fine
1 tablespoon lard
½ teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon sugar
4 potatoes

Dredge meat with seasoned flour. Cook onion gently in lard until yellowed and soft. Add paprika and cook quickly until red. Add meat and sugar. Let meat brown well. Add 2 tablespoons water, cover, and let cook gently until water cooks off. Repeat at intervals, never adding more than ¼ cup water at a time, so that by the time the meat is done, in an hour and a half or somewhat longer, there will be a rich brown sauce, that is, not too liquid. Add potatoes cut in quarters and cook slowly until they are tender. More salt may be needed. A tasting test will decide.

Real shortcake is made with baking powder biscuit dough. A little more sugar and a little more fat are needed. Cook the sliced rhubarb with sugar, but no water, in the top of a double boiler, or in the oven in a casserole, at moderate heat until it is soft and juicy. These methods of cookery preserve the shape of the rhubarb. Since the plant contains a large percentage of water, which comes out in cooking, it is not necessary or advisable to add water. Sliced sweetened strawberries may be combined with the rhubarb for shortcake topping.

Use your regular biscuit recipe, adding 2 tablespoons sugar and about that much more shortening.

GASOLINE ALLEY—BIG SHOT

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

Trading on opponents' errors is very much part of any game of skill. As a matter of fact, at contract, trap plays and "highway robbery" coups of various descriptions are, when successful, sources of pure delight to most of us. For sheer technical beauty, however, a basis of flawless competition must be provided.

In today's hand, West failed to make a double dummy opening lead, but after that both he and his partner made matters as difficult as possible. For this very reason, the declarer's success deserved high praise.

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 spade	2 diamonds	Double	Pass
2 hearts	Pass	3 clubs	Double
Pass	Pass	Redouble	Pass
Pass	Pass

West's double was not as unsound as it was premature. It was extremely unlikely that North would pass to the three club bid and a higher and more profitable-to-double contract was clearly in sight.

The queen of clubs was the opening lead, the idea being to destroy North's diamond ruffing facilities. South won and led his singleton heart ten. West, altho he clearly recognized the possibility that his ace would "go to sleep," correctly played low. [It was even more dangerous to establish North's entire suit]. The ten was overtaken in the dummy and the diamond was led. Now East made the excellent play of ducking, risking his ace rather than to establish South's previously advertised diamond honors. South won with the king and ruffed the low diamond. He then led the heart king and passed it, discarding his last diamond. West took the ace and returned a diamond. Declarer ruffed, laid down the top club and entered dummy with the spade ace to discard a spade on the good queen of hearts. He then conceded two trumps and a spade, fulfilling his redoubled contract.

It is interesting to notice that the opening lead of West's singleton spade, surely not attractive considering the fact that West did not want to ruff spades, would have made the contract impossible of accomplishment, since declarer would have had to lose at least one spade in addition to two aces and two trump tricks. It also is worthy of note that, after any other opening, the prompt acceptance by West and East of their respective aces would simply serve to make the contract a laydown.

Stewart Tells Church Losses of Crash Decade

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Bishop George Craig Stewart yesterday gave a name to the last decade, a period which embraced his leadership of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago. He called it the detergent or cleansing decade in his charge to the 103d annual convention of the diocese which opened at St. Peter's church, 621 Belmont avenue. Dr. Stewart was made a bishop on June 18, 1930.

"It will be a decade long to be remembered," said Bishop Stewart. "It began with a crash of what were called securities and," referring to war, "ends with a more frightful crash of those deeper securities of the race which peace alone can give. During such a decade the church, like every other institution, suffered.

"In this diocese I saw the missionary income drop from $232,000 a year to $84,000. Even today we have not climbed back to 50 per cent of the missionary income of 1929. Yet by dint of faith and sacrifice we carried on, showing for the decade both gain and sure and steady progress."

Bishop Stewart reported that in 1930 there were 36,000 communicants in the diocese, with more than 40,000 this year, or a gain of 11 per cent for the decade. In the previous decade from 1920 to 1930, there were 17,863 confirmations in the diocese, with 21,160 during the last decade. The number of clergymen has increased from 140 to 148 since 1930. During its 103 years, Bishop Stewart announced that the Chicago diocese had given 36 bishops to the Episcopal church.

While advocating that the United States should not be neutral concerning moral and ethical matters involved in present European and Asiatic wars, he expressed the hope that the country would try to keep out of the hostilities.

Smart Two Piece Costume

WOMAN'S AND MISS' TWO-PIECE.

Business girls and women, and co-eds, too, will appreciate the modish simplicity of this two-piece frock, which makes up as well in woolen and cotton as it does in silk. Both jacket and blouse may match, or you may contrast them if you like. If you're planning a southern vacation, make this duo in linen or some cotton, and you might use a narrow-striped fabric effectively, as shown in the sketch. The same idea in woolen and silk is good for up north. Polka dots are grand for this model, too, as the sketch at the right illustrates.

You won't have to worry about finding just the right hat for this costume, because the pattern provides for a chapeau to match. It is included in the pattern at no extra cost.

Style No. 3157 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 4½ yards of 39 inch material for blouse, skirt, and hat.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Broad Social Life of Value to Personality

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Being adaptable to different situations and different groups of people is a feather in your cap. It may mean having to adjust your temperament a bit sometimes. It may mean, to some girls, having to come down off the high horse. It may mean that you do not have to change at all, you being naturally that kind of person, always yourself and always ready and willing to fit in.

Talking about girls generally not long ago with Maxine Andrews, one of the singing sister trio, she stressed the foregoing as a definite feature of popularity conquest. She observes that girls who work right in with the crowd they happen to be with are more likely to be admired by men than a girl who does not know how to adjust herself to any group but that in which she has always gone around.

It's a great social advantage to know different kinds of people, Maxine observes. It gives one poise and ease of conversation. It broadens one. It trains one away from the small clique gossip which one must resort to when one confines her activities to one type of person. It's broadening every way to cultivate acquaintances among all kinds of people.

For the girl on the lookout for a young man, it's well not to have a pattern in mind fashioned after that one type with which she is familiar. The big discovery may come under very different circumstances, so it is well to be ready for it, with that savoir faire that armors you for any meeting. What Maxine suggests, really, is learning to get along with people, an asset nobody can deny.

So if you young women have been letting yourselves become marooned on a tiny social island, the idea is to swim out and see what may be on the other side of the bank.

Good Training Includes Cure for Selfishness

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"How can I make my child unselfish?"

This question comes to me every so often. It may be from a mother whose 2 year old won't share his toys. It may be from a mother whose 10 year old seems oblivious of the exercise of consideration and sympathy. It may be from parents whose 16 year old seems very self-centered.

To each of these mothers I can say that the behavior of all three of these children is not actual selfishness. The small child has to learn social behavior, the 10 year old goes thru a period of heedlessness, and the adolescent often is unaware of much outside himself while the physical and emotional changes of these years are going on.

Unselfishness is a virtue. We do want our children to be unselfish. But we must not work too hard over it. Nor do I believe in too deliberately cultivating the virtues—it's apt to make children self-conscious or smug or priggish.

As far as unselfishness is concerned—one can overdo it. I've seen people made very selfish by the extreme unselfishness of some one who loved them, and a child, for instance, who is always forced to give up and give in to another, is harming both himself and the child he gives in to. We must use judgment in this as in other training.

Generally speaking, a child who grows up in a warm, human, intelligent family is pretty sure to be an all right person, for the parents in such a family not only set an example, but have the picture of what they're working for in the back of their minds.

Now as to the little children: Don't expect too much unselfishness and tender heartedness and sympathy from them. They have quite a job to tackle in getting their bearings in this world. They must be given time to find their way.

In the beginning and for a long time, their part in the drama of life is to receive. This is mainly because of their physical helplessness and mental immaturity. Their whole energy is directed toward the development of self, of managing, of learning, of relating themselves to the people and things about them.

This is to them an utterly absorbing task. The chief service we can render them is to give them every chance to find and handle themselves.

We must not impose moral ideas too early—tho they will absorb them. Take selfishness: They intuitively give, in their own way, very early in life. Spontaneously they give you a sunny smile, a cracker, a soft, warm hug, or a wet little kiss.

The point is not to foist training in unselfishness too early upon your very small son or daughter. Even in their play, when they need to share or take turns, we must use justice and good sense, for at this point sharing is more a social adjustment than a moral or emotional thing.

Early Beauty Care Is the Wise Course

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Talking with that extraordinarily pretty 23 year old movie star, Anita Louise, recently, she delivered a fine little sermon on beauty preservation which we wish all young women would register carefully and apply to their own facial upkeep.

Anita explained that it was a dictate drummed into her constantly by her mother.

"Take care of your face while it is young and you won't have to worry about an old face. Don't wait until its quality is lost to begin its daily care!"

Anita tells that no matter how late she arrives home at night, she never retires without removing makeup and thoroughly cleansing her face. Her skin is like a baby's, fine grained, clear and beautiful. She pursues a face washing plan in the nightly routine that she finds excellent for her skin. She gives it an alternating hot and cold water treatment. First, she cleans it thoroly, then she takes a washcloth dipped in hot water and applies it to the face, following at once with cold water ablutions, repeating this operation several times.

The interesting thing about modern maids is their pursuit of some absorbing interest or interests outside of their work. Anita is no exception. Her outside pursuit is music. She's becoming a harpist of distinction and comments wisely that if her current field of endeavor is cut off for her, she will have something concrete as substitute. Which, in such young women, is a long cry from the beautiful but dumb verdict that used to pursue the physically favored.

Anita adores hats and perfumes, but she has learned to buy her frocks before her hats. She says it is more difficult to pick up the right dress than to choose the right hat for it later. She had just bought three of the new chignon turbans, and turbans, she votes thre greatest all purpose hat for women, wearable by 19 out of 20 of them. But even turbans must conform to the shape of the face. Because her own face is long and narrow, she says she has the turban draped a little wide at the sides, whereas the wide faced person would wear hers tightly draped.

AMUSEMENTS.

NINE OF DENEEN GROUP LEADERS INDORSE LYONS

Former Senator Expected to Back Green.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Ten Republican leaders, nine of them actively connected with the Deneen wing of the party—yesterday indorsed Richard J. Lyons for governor despite the fact that former Senator Charles S. Deneen is expected to announce his support of Dwight H. Green later this week.

Charles S. Deneen.

Wayland Brooks, candidate for the senatorial nomination, also received the backing of the nine Deneen men, as well as of the 10th signer of the indorsement resolution, William H. Weber, former county chairman.

Deneen's own committeeman, Henry D. Lindblad of the 17th ward, was among the group that signed the resolution in the Bismarck hotel. At the same time Deneen and others of his faction were meeting a few blocks away in the Morrison hotel, discussing the Green candidacy.

Signers of Lyons Resolution.

Lyons' supporters pointed especially to the signature of Attorney Luther D. Swanstrom, brother-in-law and law partner of former Federal Judge George E. Q. Johnson. Green succeeded Johnson as United States attorney. Johnson is now on a Caribbean cruise.

James A. Kearns, longtime Deneen wheelhorse, former city treasurer and former clerk of the Municipal court, called the meeting of the Lyons' indorsers. Other signers were:

County Commissioner William Busse of Elk Grove township, former president of the Cook county board.

Committeeman Robert W. Dunn of the 44th ward, a master in chancery of the Superior court.

County Commissioner George A. Miller of Oak Park.

Committeeman George A. Williston of the 49th ward, a former alderman.

Committeeman A. W. Komarek of Riverside.

Committeeman L. A. Wescott of Oak Park.

Weber a Former Deneen Man.

Former Chairman Weber started in politics as a Deneen man but has not been as closely associated with the former senator in recent years as others who signed the resolution.

Lyons and Brooks received high praise in this document.

"As Republicans long active in the party," it began, "and in order to clarify our position in the present Republican gubernatorial and senatorial primary, we jointly and severally make public this pronouncement of our full and wholehearted support of Richard J. Lyons for governor and C. Wayland Brooks for United States senator in the April 9 primary. We urge our friends and co-workers to join us in the promotion of their candidacies."

There followed a list of reasons for supporting Brooks and Lyons.

R. C. SODERSTROM TO KEEP ILLINOIS FEDERATION POST

Despite suspension of all locals of the International Typographical union, Reuben C. Soderstrom will not have to relinquish his post as president of the Illinois Federation of Labor. Soderstrom, a member of the printers' union, also is a member of the Chicago Editorial association, an American Federation of Labor affiliate.

The I. T. U. was suspended Monday by the executive council of the federation at the convention in Miami, Fla., for failure to pay approximately $20,000 in assessments levied three years ago for the association's fight against John L. Lewis' Congress of Industrial Organizations. William Green, president of the A. F. of L., said there existed no animus against Soderstrom and expressed the hope he would join some other A. F. of L. union so he could retain his post as president of the Illinois federation.

Soderstrom is co-editor with Victor A. Olander, secretary-treasurer of the Illinois federation, of the Weekly News Letter, a periodical issued by the editorial association.

He Wanted to Get Lucky—So He Called Twins Quints

CAIRO, Egypt. Jan. 30 (AP).—A sheepish Egyptian clerk, bewildered at throngs which besieged his house after he had reported the birth of quintuplets, tonight admitted his wife had borne only twins. Mindful of the magic in the figure five, which Egyptian peasants think wards off evil, the clerk first answered "five" when asked how many children were born. He has seven other children.

Mrs. Ruth Gaebe was among the hundreds taking the test yesterday.

Candidates for posts as precinct clerks and judges of election began taking written examinations yesterday on the seventh floor of the city hall. About 22,000 positions will thus be filled and 1,600 were told to report yesterday. The successful candidates will staff the 3,848 precincts under the jurisdiction of the election commission.

This jurisdiction extends over Chicago, Chicago Heights, Berwyn, Cicero, Summit, Stickney, Morton Grove, Elmwood Park, and Niles Center.

Applicants were asked to answer one of 16 sets, each containing 14 questions, all taken from the book of instructions on election laws and procedure. The passing grade is 70.

RECORD OF G. O. P. STATE SENATORS HAILED BY LEAGUE

Two-thirds of the Democrats are criticized and all of the Republicans are rated fair in a review of the records of 19 outgoing state senators issued yesterday by the Legislative Voters' League of Illinois. All 19 are downstaters.

Five G. O. P. members of the upper house and 14 Democrats make up the latest list issued by the league. Altho the two major parties shared equally in the number of senators on the favorable side, it was noted that the Republicans had a 100 per cent score while the majority members scored about 35 per cent.

Senator R. Wallace Karraker [D.], Jonesboro, received the highest praise of any in the group. The report said of his eight years' service: "Honesty, sincerity, ability, and fearless independence make him very valuable."

PHILADELPHIANS SEEK MORE CASH TO BID FOR DEMOCRAT CONVENTION

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 30 (AP).—A citizens' committee began a final effort today to get $20,000 to complete $150,000 needed to bid for the Democratic national convention. The committee also will attempt to get the Republican convention. Committeemen said the additional funds must be subscribed before Monday, when the Democratic national committee meets in Washington. A Philadelphia delegation will go to the capital to present the invitation. The Republican committee meets Feb. 16 to choose a convention site.

DOUBLE DEALERS IN G. O. P. HIT BY DWIGHT H. GREEN

Pontiac, Ill., Jan. 30 [Special].—"Bipartisanism is the issue in this campaign and I am going to the people for their support in my efforts to rid the Republican party of the double dealing handful who have held the Republican party back by their unholy alliance with the Cook county Democratic machine." This statement was made tonight by Dwight H. Green, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, in a speech opening his downstate campaign here.

Dwight H. Green.

After a tour of Livingston county, Green appeared in the Pontiac courthouse where he was introduced by Judge Ray Sesler. Tomorrow he will go to Danville for an afternoon reception and evening meeting.

"Unless we free the Republican party from its double dealers," Green said, "neither the Republicans nor Democrats can present a clean front and in the end the people will have lost their franchise. Our first problem in Illinois is to cleanse our parties so that we may elect honest and capable officials."

DEMOCRATS SEE GUFFEY BEATEN IN PENNSYLVANIA

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 30 (AP).—Seven of the 12 state Democratic committee members in Senator Joseph F. Guffey's own home town declared tonight they did not believe he is the strongest candidate for the party's nomination for reëlection.

This revolt against the leadership of President Roosevelt's most consistent supporter in the senate came in the face of his repeated declaration he will seek reëlection.

State Democratic Chairman David L. Lawrence also issued a statement asserting there was sentiment among some county chairmen and other leaders thruout the state that Guffey's candidacy for reëlection is futile.

SEARCY ASSAILS FEDERAL DEBT—$315 PER PERSON

Illinois' obligation on the federal debt, "as of tonight," is $315 for every man, woman, and child in the state, State Senator Earl B. Searcy of Springfield, a Republican candidate for governor, told a W-G-N radio audience last night.

"That obligation totals about two and one-half billion dollars," Searcy declared, "which is equivalent to more than half of the assessed valuation of all taxable property within the state of Illinois.

"To bring the matter a little nearer home, close to one-sixth of all known property in Illinois is, tonight, under potential mortgage to the federal government for debt."

Turning to state affairs, Senator Searcy asserted that in the last 23 years the costs of Illinois government have increased more than 900 per cent, while the population increased only 30 per cent.

"I warn again," he said, "that government—all government—must be taught anew to live within a legitimate income."

BRUINS BEAT HAWKS, 5-0, FOR 14 OUT OF 15

CHICAGO LEADS BIG 10 IN AID FOR ATHLETES

Maroons Get $75,943 in Two Years.

The University of Chicago led all member schools of the Western conference for the last two years in financial assistance to athletes, according to a report made public yesterday by the conference. This is the first time the reports filed by each member school with Maj. John L. Griffith, conference commissioner, has been published.

The Maroons, whose board of trustees announced abandonment of intercollegiate football on last Dec. 21, contributed a total of $75,943.90 over the two year span covered by the 1937-'38 and 1938-'39 school terms. In the first year Chicago contributed financial assistance to athletes in the following fashion: $23,347.50 in scholarships, $3,131.50 in cash loans, and $14,914.40 in campus jobs.

Northwestern Is Second.

The latter include NYA assignments and concessions jobs. Thus Maroon athletes received a total of $41,393.40 in 1937-'38. In the following school year Chicago assisted participants in sports on the Midway with a total of $34,550.50. This was distributed as follows: $17,891.60 in scholarships, $2,937.99 in cash loans, and $13,720.91 in campus jobs.

In all these conference reports filed with the commissioner's office an athlete is defined as a member of a varsity squad in any sport or one who has won a freshman numeral in any sport.

In view of the University of Chicago's action in abolishing football, the report showing the Maroons leading all schools in rendering financial aid came as a surprise to most observers.

N. U. Athletes Get $61,896.80.

In a recent speech before the Chicago student body, President Robert M. Hutchins explained the school gave up football because a winning team could not be produced without subsidizing players.

He added there was no way to legitimate subsidization of players under the conference rules and that he was not willing to break the regulations in order to win games.

The report further showed that Northwestern was second on the list over the two year period. Wildcat competitors received a total of $61,696.80 for that stretch of time, $30,423.40 in 1937-'38, and $31,273.40 for 1938-'39.

Most Jobs at Indiana.

The breakdown of Northwestern's distribution of funds and assistance for the 1937-'38 span was $4,630 in scholarships; $17,660 in cash loans, and $8,133.40 in campus jobs. For the 1938-'39 term, $5,525 was given in scholarships, $15,065 in cash loans, and $10,683.40 in campus jobs.

Chicago led all schools in scholarships given to athletes, while Northwestern was the conference leader in cash loans over the two year period. Indiana topped the list in campus jobs given athletes. The Maroons leadership in scholarship distributions, it was pointed out, was natural, in view of the fact that it is an endowed school, and that its annual tuition of $300 is higher than any other school in the conference except Northwestern, which has a similar yearly fee.

Figures Are Listed.

The report from Maj. Griffith's office also listed 5,169 men in the conference as members of varsity squads or winners of freshmen numerals. These represent 7.6 per cent of the total male undergraduate enrollment for the conference of 67,823. The conference scholarship total award reached 4,475 students of which number 315 are held by athletes.

The figures for the two years for the other eight conference schools:

Michigan, $13,957.25 and $24,193.10—$38,150.35; Indiana, $17,858.61 and $17,189.65—$3,0485.26; Iowa, $22,876.81 and $24,901.47—$47,878.28; Wisconsin, $11,334.50 and $17,607.75—$28,942.26; Purdue, $11,543.79 and $13,466.00—$25,009.79; Illinois, $10,740.09 and $17,662.41—$28,402.50; Ohio State $5,781.85 and $7,644.33—$13,425.38; Minnesota, $6,949.01 and $5,908.87—$12,857.68.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 30 (AP).—The world's champion Boston Bruins regained their mastery of the Chicago Blackhawks by shutting them out, 5 to 0, tonight in a National Hockey league game before 10,000 in the Boston Garden.

It was the 15th consecutive time the Hawks have engaged the Bruins without a victory and the visitors' best showing in that stretch was made in Chicago last Thursday when they held the Stanley cup titlists to a 2 to 2 tie.

Not a Penalty Called!

Tonight's contest was a rather tame affair and was entirely free of penalties. After a scoreless first period, the Bruins got the range on Goalie Paul Goodman, making his first Boston appearance, and they drove three pucks thru him. Those successful shots were launched by Mel Hill, Woody Dumart, and Bill Cowley.

During the finale, Roy Conacher provided the fourth tally and Milt Schmidt, who was credited with assisting Dumart, increased his league leadership scoring record by blasting Goodman for the final goal.

Eddie Wiseman and Des Smith, for whom the Bruins surrendered Eddie Shore and Jack Portland, made their first home appearance in Boston uniforms, while Goalie Frankie Brimsek was gaining his third shutout of the season and his first one on home ice.

Hawks Look Good—Early.

The Blackhawks outplayed the Bruins slightly during the first 10 minutes, but neither of the goalies was called upon to exert himself as each team tried out all of its forward combinations.

The Bruins lost little time scoring in the second period, for 15 seconds after Cowley faced off against Carse, the Boston center took the puck away from Mush March in the Boston zone. Cowley then lost possession, but Conacher making his first Boston appearance since he fractured his hand, regained it. Hill was loose on the right boards and Conacher fed him a long pass. Hill had Goodman at his mercy and he laced a 15-footer thru the right side of the Chicago cage.

Cowley Makes It 3-0.

Dumart made it 2 to 0 during the 14th minute after Cooper had halted the rushing of Milt Schmidt and Bauer. Dumart took the puck off Cooper's stick, however, and scored from 25 feet out.

Just before the second period ended Hill and Conacher worked their way in close and when the latter shot at Goodman, Cowley swooped in to bat the rebound into the Chicago cage to lengthen Boston's lead to 3 to 0.

In the third period Hill gained the puck near the Chicago blue line and forward passed thru the defense to Conacher, who was sprawled as soon as he launched a straight 10 footer that entered the cage knee high at 3:15.

Johnny Chad polished off a five man Chicago rush by lashing at Brimsek thru a forest of legs, but the Boston goalie just stopped it. Shortly after the Bruins flashed the red light for the fifth time when Bauer carried over and forward passed thru the defense to the flying Schmidt, who swooped in from the right boards and blasted thru Goalie Goodman.

GOLDEN GLOVES NOVICES FINISH EXAMS TONIGHT

The Battle Front

FOLLOWING is a list of out of town Golden Gloves tournaments scheduled for tonight:

Evansville Courier preliminaries.
Bloomington Pantagraph preliminaries.
Lafayette Journal-Courier second round.
Nashville Tennessee second round.
Burlington Hawkeye-Gazette preliminaries.

Tonight is the last opportunity for novice Golden Gloves boxers to appear at a regularly scheduled examination and enter the 1940 tournaments which will open next Monday evening at the Madison Athletic club, 4711 Madison street. All boys, in both the Novice and Open division sections of Golden Gloves, who have received letters of instruction and parental consent cards, are eligible to appear this evening in Trafton's gymnasium, 5th floor, 180 West Randolph street.

J. J. Lipp.

Entrants this year have been assigned to last Friday's examination, to the C. Y. O. center last Monday, and to tonight's group. To date more than 1,500 letters have been sent out. The recipient of any letter is eligible to report tonight.

An exception for the novices has been made for a group which may be able to report Monday evening on the west side before the start of that tournament. These boys still can be assigned to the White City tournament that opens Tuesday, or the Loyola university tournament that opens Feb. 12.

Open Deadline Is Feb. 4.

Deadline for the experienced fighters is Feb. 4. A final examination for them will be held Feb. 9 in Trafton's gymnasium. The Open division boxers compete in the Chicago championships Feb. 20, 21, and 22. This is the more important tournament since the eight champions advance to the Tournament of Champions.

Among the larger teams competing in Golden Gloves this year are those from the Turn-Verein Lincoln and the Madison Athletic clubs. Jack Biggerstaff, coach of the Madison A. C., will have most of his boys downtown for the examination tonight. Several reported too late for the physicians Monday. Edward C. Troester, boxing instructor of the Lincoln Turners, has entered 30 boys in the Open and Novice divisions. These boys are to report tonight.

Name Veteran Timers.

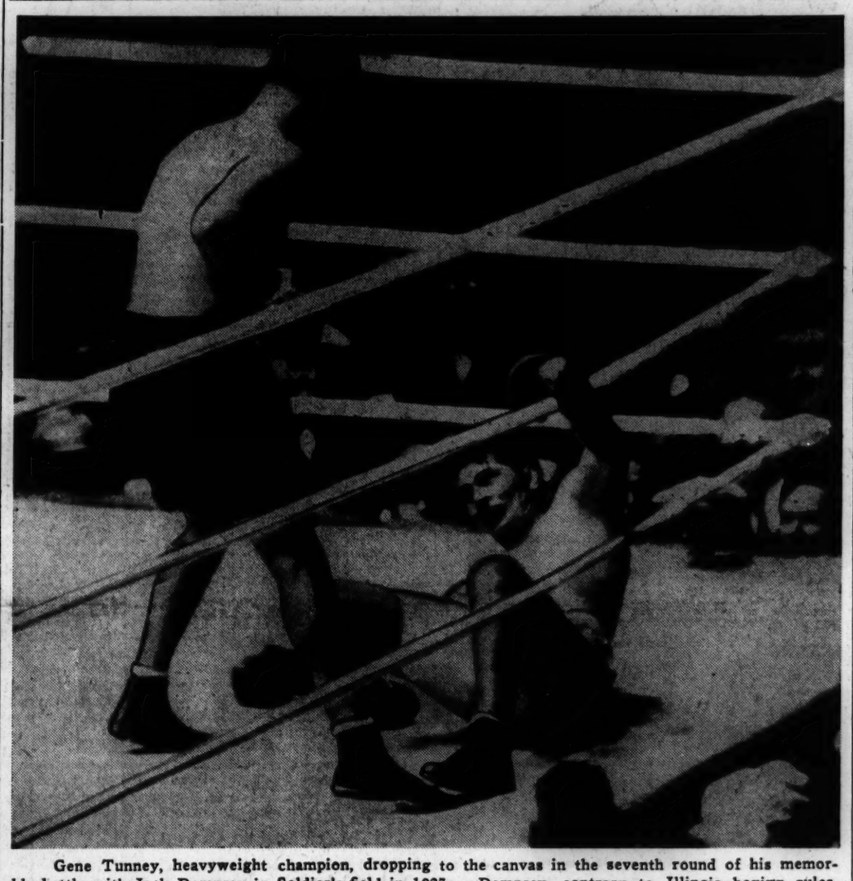

Twelve men, the same group which served at the International Golden Gloves team match with the champions of Europe last May, will time all Golden Gloves bouts this year. All matches in Golden Gloves, sectionals and the Tournament of Champions, consist of three rounds of two minutes each unless, of course, a bout is stopped by the referee or one of the contestants is knocked out.

The list of timers follows:

J. J. Lipp, William Finn, William J. Dowling, S. R. Darwent, W. W. Adams, Harry Normoyle, Charles Sidebotham, Theodore A. Gross, Walter Sonnenleiter, Harry O'Hare, William Faehse and James Taylor.

Each round fought in the semi-finals and championships March 8 also will be two minutes. Since the winners in the semi-finals fight twice that night in the Stadium the length of a round is not increased to the maximum of three minutes. The sixteen intercity bouts with the Golden Gloves champions of New York, which will be held March 18 in Madison Square Garden, will be fought at this maximum limit.

Tunney Down in Ring's Most Famous Round

Gene Tunney, heavyweight champion, dropping to the canvas in the seventh round of his memorable battle with Jack Dempsey in Soldier's field in 1927. Dempsey, contrary to Illinois boxing rules, stands over his foe instead of going to a neutral corner. Confusion over the count after Dempsey finally backed away led to charges still raging today that Tunney was given more than the required 10 seconds to get up. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Chicago's Fighting Men

Tunney-Dempsey Long Count of 1927 Is Chicago's No. 1 Boxing Dispute

(Chicagoland's greatest all time fighters? This is the eighth of a series that will attempt to answer the question, tracing the topnotchers from the gay '90's to the present, and recalling some of the famous battles in the city's ring history.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

In 1918 a budding young heavyweight named Jack Dempsey stepped into the ring at Fort Sheridan and glared across the canvas space at Fireman Jim Flynn. A year before Flynn had knocked out the young upstart in a round. Now every one was talking about Dempsey. He was on the trail of Jess Willard's heavyweight title. That night Jack avenged the defeat and stopped the old Fireman in a round. The next year he won the championship from big Jess.

On the night of May 16, 1923, Gene Tunney entered a Chicago ring against Jimmy Delaney of St. Paul, under Jim Mullen's auspices. He was a light heavyweight then. Since boxing was outside the law, bouts were billed as exhibitions and no decisions were given. It was the general opinion that Mr. Tunney came off second best even tho it went into the books as a no decision contest.

A little more than four years later, Sept. 22, 1927 to be exact, Dempsey and Tunney met in Soldiers' field in pugilism's greatest extravaganza. It has never been equaled and who can say it ever will?

A crowd of 145,000 paid $2,658,660 to see Dempsey try to win back the title he had lost to Tunney the year before in Philadelphia. Tunney's share was $990,000, Dempsey's $437,500.

The Late Dave Barry Becomes a Well Known Referee.

If, as alleged, Tunney stayed on the floor 14 seconds in the most famous disputed round in ring history—the seventh—he earned $7,700 for that brief rest prompted by Dempsey's savage attack.

Now, more than 12 years later, the seventh round long count remains boxing's liveliest topic. Did Tunney get the benefit of a long count? Granting that he did, could he have regained his feet in the alloted ten seconds? Perhaps only Tunney can answer those questions.

The referee that night was Dave Barry, now dead. The judges were George Lytton and Sheldon Clark. The timer was Paul Beeler. Dempsey and Tunney were fighting on the west ropes when Jack landed two left hooks to the jaw and a right cross to the same spot. "A right launched from far back with terrific force sent the champion on his haunches, his left arm grasping the strands of rope, a surprised and dazed look on his face and a glassy stare in his eyes," reported Harvey Woodruff of THE TRIBUNE.

Dempsey stood over his foe, ready to renew the attack. Barry motioned him into a neutral corner. Afterward the Dempsey clan claimed the referee delayed picking up the count from Timekeeper Beeler. Leo P. Flynn, Dempsey's handler, charged Beeler had counted five before Barry motioned Jack away and that when the count was resumed it was started at "one." Stop watches of ringsiders caught the time of Mr. Tunney's repose on the floor from 12 to 14 seconds. He came up at Barry's "nine," went into swift retreat and near the end of the round fought back on even terms with Jack.

Only a Few of the Spectators Knew of Disputed Count.

It was Woodruff's opinion that Gene could have beaten a normal count. Tunney later declared he could have been on his feet at the count of "four." Dempsey adherents still argue that those extra precious seconds were the difference between Tunney escaping and being knocked out.

The majority of those present knew nothing of the disputed count until they read about it the next morning. Ringsiders jumped to their feet during those exciting moments, shutting off the view of others. Dempsey went down in the eighth for no count and Tunney slipped to the mat in

ED SHORE HELPS AMERICANS BEAT MONTREAL, 4-1

New York, Jan. 30 (AP).—Their defense bolstered by Eddie Shore, the New York Americans widened their margin over the last place Canadiens to three points tonight as they whipped the Montreal team, 4 to 1.

Playing his first National Hockey league game in other than a Boston uniform, Shore gave the American defense just what it needed—a little cement around the seams. His new mates slapped home a goal in each of the first and second periods and two in the third. Nine thousand fans, who gave Shore an ovation as he skated onto ice, watched the Americans outclass the faltering Frenchmen. The Canadiens scored late in the second period.

Shore, purchased last week by the Americans for $5,000 and Right Wing Eddie Wiseman, played more than half the game. As usual, he worked faultlessly, and his shouted instructions to the forward wall did much to give the Americans an almost impregnable barrier in front of Goaler Earl Robertson.

Not in the best condition yet, Shore confined his offensive work to four or five dashes. He paved the way for the first goal, however, bulling his way past three opponents to get the puck to Murray Armstrong at the Canadien blue line. It was the Canadiens' seventh loss in eight games. Lineups:

TED LYONS SIGNS FOR 18TH SEASON WITH WHITE SOX

Contract developments broke out mildly yesterday at Comiskey Park. Vice President Harry Grabiner revealed that the veteran pitcher, Ted Lyons, and last season's freshman catcher, Mike Tresh, had signed up. Also that some duly signed documents probably would be found in the mail basket a few days hence. It was the 18th White Sox contract signed by Lyons.

Meanwhile the Cub holdout crowd made up of Hank Leiber, Stan Hack, Augie Galan, and Clay Bryant is marking time. President-Owner P. K. Wrigley has been too busy to reply to their salary squawks.

Pytlak Awaits Increased Offer from Cleveland

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 30 (AP).—Frank Pytlak, catcher for the Cleveland Indians, said today he is awaiting a new contract for 1940. Pytlak returned the contract first proffered because "it didn't call for as much money as I think I'm worth."

Dave Wilhelm Wins Place on Yale Polo Team

Dave Wilhelm of Chicago, the outstanding freshman polo player at Yale last season, will ride for the varsity when the Elis meet the 124th field artillery in the south side armory a week from Saturday night.

Announcement that Wilhelm has made the regular team was received from the Yale athletic office at New Haven, Conn.

Wilhelm will be the first Chicagoan to represent Yale since the eastern-ers started their annual invasion of Chicago in 1936. The nearest approach was the case of Mott Woolley, whose family once resided in this city.

Polo fans recall the playing of Wilhelm last summer with the Onwentsia club team, composed of collegians. He has been riding since the age of six and combines mallet skill with good horsemanship.

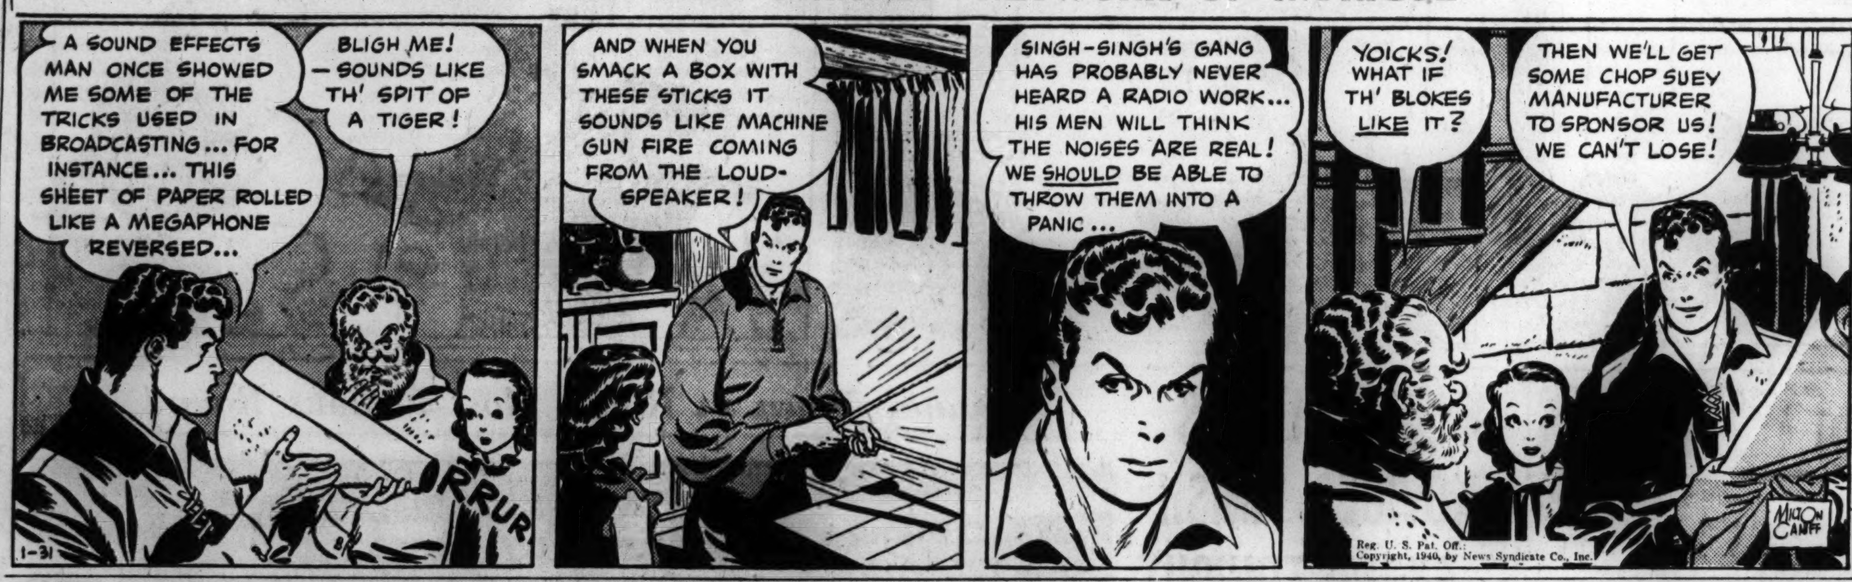

In games Saturday night in the Metropolitan Polo league Woodland Polo club of Hinsdale meets the 122d field artillery and the Evanston Polo club plays the undefeated, league-leading 124th field artillery trio.

Chicago Heights Squadron 131, sons of the American Legion, will provide entertainment between games with its drum and bugle corps featuring Walter Leader Jr. and Paul Retzlaff, state champion baton wielder and drummer, respectively.

FLYING LILL WINS OVER DOLLY VAL; UNERRING THIRD

Defeats a Fast Field of Fillies, Mares.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 30 (AP).—Outrunning one of the best fields of fillies and mares ever gathered on a winter track, Mrs. C. H. Cleary's Flying Lill came out of a tightly bunched pack at the wire to win the seven furlong St. Petersburg purse at Hialeah today.

With five of the eight starters bunched at the finish, Donald Meade's mount scored by a scant half length to pay $13.30 for $2. The time was 1:23 2-5.

James Emery's Dolly Val was second, a head in front of Herbert M. Woolf's Unerring, generally regarded as the best filly of 1939 and the favorite in today's race. W. E. Boeing's Parscout was fourth with Gustave Ring's Lady Maryland, voted last year's best mare, in fifth place.

Flying Lill had not been to the post since winning a handicap at Keeneland last October. She is the filly that Unerring beat by two lengths in a match race at Washington Park in August.

MATCHUP IS VICTOR.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 30 (AP).—Matchup, the consistent campaigner from the Lemar Stock Farm, won the sixth race at the Fair Grounds today, a six furlong run for four year olds and upwards.

Matchup, a black gelding, kept off the pace at the start but overtook Flying Bonny in the middle of the stretch run. Flying Bonny, who set the pace until then, just lasted to beat Briery for the place position. The winner paid $4.20 and ran the distance in 1:13.

SEABISCUIT RUNS TODAY.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 30 (AP).—Seabiscuit and Heelfly, two stake horses essaying comebacks, today were named for tomorrow's feature race at Santa Anita park.

Bad weather and an off track three times kept Seabiscuit from racing last week, but the stable hopes to send him in tomorrow. C. S. Howard's star drew top weight of 124 pounds for the one mile event. Heelfly, owned by the Circle's stable, drew 110.

Fifteen mares and fillies were nominated to run in the $10,000 Santa Margarita handicap at a mile and one-sixteenth Saturday.

BROWNS TRADE BILLY SULLIVAN FOR COFFMAN

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 30 (AP).—Billy Sullivan was traded to the Detroit Tigers for Pitcher George [Slick] Coffman today by the St. Louis Browns.

Sullivan, catcher, infielder, and outfielder, batted .289 for the Browns last year. He was obtained from Cleveland in 1938 in a deal for Catcher Rollie Hemsley.

Chicago's Fighting Men

the tenth, but was up before a count was started. He retained his title.

Chicago's heavyweight history, perhaps, had its first major moment the night of Oct. 28, 1899, in Tattersall's arena. Four months before Jim Jeffries had beaten Bob Fitzsimmons. Now, at 37, the freckled one was trying a comeback. His opponent, Jim Thorne, heavyweight champion of England, had invaded the United States after building up an imposing knockout record. Tattersall's couldn't begin to hold the crowd that night. Twenty-nine seconds after the fight started, Fitzsimmons was a knockout victor. A left hook to the chin had turned the trick. Phainting Phil Scott and the later horizontal English heavyweights never were able to match that record for losing in a hurry.

Carter Throws a Desperate Punch—and What a Blow!

Joe Choynski, one of the leading heavyweights of his day, was matched to fight Kid Carter, an obscure fighter, on March 24, 1902, in the American Athletic club. It was to be a soft touch for Choynski. From the sound of the first bell he belted Carter all over the ring. He was down three times in the first round for a nine count. The last time the Kid came up he grabbed Joe and clinched. Choynski, impatient for the kill, shook him off and Carter fell back on the ropes, all but out. As his tormentor rushed in the Kid grabbed a rope with his left hand and swung his right, a last desperate effort before retiring for the night. It landed squarely on Choynski's jaw, knocking him out. Joe was revived in a few seconds, but it required 10 minutes before Carter could be convinced that he had won on a knockout.

ECHOES OF THE PAST: Many of the old time champions appeared in the 10-20-30 melodramas. . . . Champion Jim Jeffries was starred in "Davey Crockett" and the smash scene was when his brawny arm closed the doors of the fort as the bloodthirsty Injuns pounded away. . . . James J. Corbett appeared in "Gentleman Jim" and Terry McGovern starred in "The Sidewalks of New York" . . . Bob Fitzsimmons opus was "Honest Hearts and Willing Hands" and the homely, freckle-faced warrior was a riot as the hero. . . . John L. Sullivan rose to melodramatic heights in the old Trocadero on South State street. . . . The old line champions frequently appeared in the burlesque houses, taking on all comers and promising a cash fee to those who stayed the limit.

One of Chicago's famous battles of recent years developed on March 18, 1932, when two southpaws fought for the National Boxing association's world light heavyweight title. . . . Dave Maier of Milwaukee, a Golden Gloves graduate, lost a 10 round decision to George Nichols of Buffalo, N. Y., in the Stadium. . . . The N. B. A. had declared the title vacant because Max Rosenbloom failed to defend it. Conceived as the center of Chicago's boxing, the Stadium was completed by Paddy Harmon in 1929 at a cost of $7,000,000. It was dedicated March 27 before 15,000, who paid over $200,000 to see a battle between two champions, Middleweight Mickey Walker and Light Heavyweight Tommy Loughran. . . . Loughran won the decision.

[In yesterday's story on the middleweights it was stated that Shuffle Callahan defeated Ted Ross in their Coliseum bout. Ross won on a technical knockout in the seventh.]

COLISEUM RING CARD CANCELED; ARON'S FOE ILL

Van Klaveren Withdraws; Barbara Also Sick.

The boxing show scheduled in the Coliseum on Feb. 8 was canceled yesterday by Promoter Irving Schoenwald after he had received word Bep Van Klaveren, claimant of the European middleweight championship, would be unable to go thru with a 10 round bout against Milt Aron because of an influenza attack. Earlier, the promoter was informed Johnny Barbara, Chicago welterweight, also was ill, forcing cancellation of a 10 round co-feature against Fritizie Zivic of Pittsburgh. A third event of 10 rounds was to have been between Lem Franklin, 1937 international Golden Gloves heavyweight champion, and Roscoe Toles of Detroit. Schoenwald's new Coliseum date will be March 15.

The promoter will operate before then, however, a 10 round contest between Johnny Brown, Catholic Youth organization featherweight, and Henry Huerta of Peoria having been arranged to head his weekly show in Marigold Gardens Monday.

Three bouts will top the wrestling show in Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue, tonight. Jack Conley is paired with Charley [Gorilla] Grubmyer, Eddie Virag with Farmer Mack, and Seell Samara with Jack Moore. Additional encounterers involve Ken Fenlon and Cecil McGill, and Jerry Meeker and Magyar Morrell.

Dr. Frank A. Lagorio, chief medical examiner for the Illinois boxing commission, made the announcement after the champion had submitted to X-ray pictures in Columbus Memorial hospital yesterday morning. The injury will keep Hostak out of action for about two months.

Thus Hostak will be unable to fulfill a scheduled engagement in Seattle next month under the promotion of Nate Druxman. Zale will be substituted for Hostak against an opponent yet to be selected, Sam Pian and Art Winch, managers of the Gary boxer, said last night.

Pian also revealed Mike Jacobs, New York promoter, who returned to Manhattan immediately after the Stadium battle, offered to have Zale meet Ceferino Garcia, New York 160 pound title holder, in Madison Square Garden in March. The manager explained he was willing to have Zale meet Garcia if it met with Druxman's approval. By his victory Zale gave the Seattle promoter exclusive rights to his services.

Bill Rand, who sponsored the Stadium fight, realized a profit of approximately $1,500 on the show.

17 Year Old Pin Stars Roll 5 Game Match Saturday

Two of Chicago's outstanding junior bowlers will clash when Glenn Gersch, a major league star at Schalk's Beverly and Stevenson's Recreation and Bob Schneider of the Park Ridge Bowling club put on a five game match in the Edison Park Recreation, 6713 N. Olmstead avenue, at 8:30 Saturday night. Both bowlers are 17 years old.

Gersch, who has a 195 average at Schalk's and 196 at Stevenson's, has won eight of nine special matches this season. He was beaten once by Joseph Postello, Hyde Park High school champion, but since has beaten Postello twice. He has rolled 695, 696, and 705 series and has registered a high game of 279. Schneider, who has a 198 average in the Edison Park major league, last week defeated Charles Johnson, eastern junior champion, 899 to 766 in a four game match.

The Kruse Service Station five rolled a 3,218 total to win three games from the Gold Coasts in the Gold Coast Major league last night. Scores:

PICK PEORIA FOR STATE SEMI-PRO BALL TOURNEY

The National Semi-Pro Baseball congress meeting in the Sherman hotel announced yesterday all state tournaments this summer must be held between July 8 and Aug. 5. The Illinois tourney will be held in Peoria late in July. District tournaments will be held the first week in July, with no more than 16 district meets in any state.

The congress, in the final session of its annual winter meeting, approved use of rubber bases for the 1940 national tournament at Wichita, Kas., prohibited use of yellow balls in all tournaments; recommended 16 team brackets in state tourneys, and recommended presentation of trophies to all state winners and medals to individual stars.

Illinois State Commissioner W. C. Niesen of Chicago said the state tournament would follow four district meets. Tentative sites for the district competition are Rockford, Peru, Joliet and Bloomington.

Patty Berg Is Back in Form; Wins, 9 and 8

Coral Gables, Fla., Jan. 30 (AP).—Patty Berg of Minneapolis and the other favorites advanced thru the opening round of the Miami Biltmore Women's golf tournament today with a pretentious display of par-shattering.

Miss Berg, seeking her 5th consecutive Biltmore title in returning to competition after a seven month layoff, fired four under par golf at Mrs. Richard E. Jarrett of Philadelphia to win, 9 and 8.

National champion, Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., and Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, scored first nine 36s, four under women's par and only one over standard for men, to win their matches.

Grace Amory, Palm Beach socialite whose 80 won the medal yesterday, was equally impressive in eliminating Mary Jane Garman of Sarasota, Fla., 8 and 6. Miss Amory, like Miss Kirby, was five under par at the end.

Two of the three qualifiers from Chicago advanced, Ellamae Williams and Shirley Ann Johnson winning while Mrs. Lillian Zech was beaten. Results:

Patty Berg, Minneapolis, beat Richard E. Jarrett, Philadelphia, 9 and 8.

Bruin Quintet Plays Oshkosh for Pro Lead

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Chicago Bruins, refreshed by a week's rest and reënforced by the acquisition of Bob MacLeod, Chicago Bears' half back, tonight will meet the Oshkosh All-Stars in a National Basketball league game in the 132d Regiment armory, Madison and Rockwell streets. The game, second of the Bruins' second half schedule, presents them with an opportunity to take over first place in the league's western division from these same All-Stars, who accommodated the Chicagoans last night by losing to Detroit, 43 to 30.

Victory for the Bruins will give them first place with a percentage of .563, while dropping Oshkosh to .526. With the second half of the league schedule already well under way for several teams, it behooves the Bruins to build themselves a firm hold on a divisional lead if they would play the eastern section winner for the league championship.

Edwards Leads Invaders.

The Bruin-Oshkosh game will be preceded by a game between Acme Steel quintet, rated one of the best commercial teams in the city, and the International Harvester five. This game will start at 8 o'clock.

The All-Stars bring the league's leading scorer and champion pointmaker of the last two seasons with them in Le Roy Edwards, former University of Kentucky center who will be matched against Mike Novak, the Bruins' 6 foot, 9 inch star, who is leading all Chicago scorers.

Another offensive standout for the All-Stars is Forward Louis Barle.

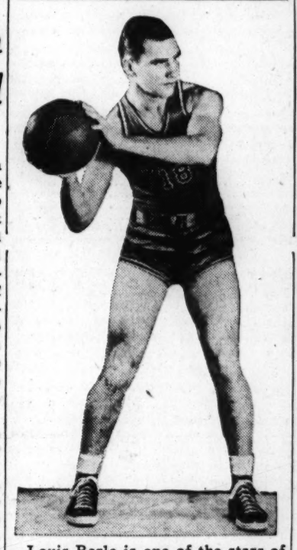

They'll Watch Kautz, Novak.

The Oshkosh lads have found Novak difficult enough to stop, but their chief problem in the two meetings to date has been Wibs Kautz, Novak's old Loyola university colleague, who made 13 points in the first game and then came back with 11 in the second.

MacLeod, who played basketball in high school and at Dartmouth, will make his debut as a Bruin at one of the guard posts, alternating either with Eddie Oram or Frank Linskey, the probable starters. The lineup:

BRUINS.		OSHKOSH.
Zadel	F	Barle
Johnson	F	Pederson
Novak	C	Edwards
Oram	G	Shipp
Lindskey	G	Witasek

Beware, Bruins!

Louis Barle is one of the stars of the Oshkosh pro quintet which meets the Chicago Bruins tonight in the 132d armory.

MAY PLAY PEEL SOCCER TOURNEY DURING SUMMER

The possibility of playing the 1940 Peel cup soccer tournament in summer was discussed at a meeting of the Peel cup commission in the Sherman hotel last night. The commission plans to arrange a meeting with the International Soccer league for further discussion of the subject.

The Illinois Junior Soccer association will hold its annual election of officers in the Blum building, 624 South Michigan avenue, tonight.

Sports Show Makes It Easy for Anglers

BY BOB BECKER.

If you've never hooked and landed a big muskie, a scrappy black bass, or a tricky walleyed pike from a northern lake, you at least can see how it's done during the Chicago National Boat and Sports show which opens Saturday on Navy pier. One of the most novel fishing experiments ever attempted in Chicago will be tried during this show, when experienced anglers try to catch game fish which will be "planted" in a large pool in the center of the pier.

The state department of conservation is backing the experiment in order to teach fishermen the proper method of casting for fish, to show them how to land the specimens, and also how to unhook small fish and return them to the water without injury. Flyrod lures and barbless hooks will be used in this lesson in fish conservation.

Indorse Demonstration.

The Izaak Walton League of America and the Illinois Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs have indorsed the live fish demonstration. Large mouth bass, small mouth bass, yellow bass, white bass, walleyed pike, and muskies will be used.

The casting events to be held each day of the show will be sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and advance entries indicate that Chicago anglers are eager to handle their fishing equipment which has been stored away since last fall. Skish, the new game formerly called Fish-O, will be the exclusive casting game at the pier show.

Casting Dates Set.

Members of casting clubs will compete Saturday, Sunday, and Monday evenings. There will be no casting events for individual clubs, as in former years, but club members will compete in mixed groups those three evenings. Club members may choose any of the three evenings to cast.

Fishermen who belong to no casting club, or who have belonged to a club for less than one year, will compete Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday evenings. Independent casters may select any of the four evenings to compete, and at the end of Friday's competition scores will be tallied and prizes awarded. Casters who plan to compete should write to Bob Becker, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower, for copies of the schedule and official rules.

Pardon Us if We Laugh at Winter!

The model illustrated is the BUICK SUPER model 51 four-door touring sedan $1109 delivered at Flint, Mich. White sidewall tires additional.*

SOMEWHERE, probably, numb-fingered drivers are bucking vainly at piled-up snow heaps, jolting miserably over frozen roads, snow-packed and rutted until every turn of the wheel means a jar.

But you, lucky devil—what does winter mean to you in that sleek-lined honey of a 1940 Buick?

It means simply the sweet purr of a hundred-plus horsepower Dynaflash straight-eight with the pull to master any going. It means micropoise-balanced smoothness to keep you forever free of vibration's annoyance.

It means taking the choppiest, worst-rutted roads in stride, while soft coil springs on all four wheels soak up the jars before they ever reach you.

It means driving a car in which even skid-risks have been reduced, and it means traveling in snug, weather-tight Body-by-Fisher comfort no matter what's on the weatherman's bill of fare.

It means, when you drive a Super, front seats that are next thing to five feet wide—other new features and conveniences so numerous they're counted by the dozen.

So pardon us if we laugh at winter—and especially at the old idea that no one buys cars until the spring buds show.

Fact is, in Buick you've got an all-season car—the kind of car you ought to be handling right now!

When are you going to do something about getting one?

Not a six but an EIGHT for $895 and up

WAR SENDS U. S. EXPORTS VOLUME TO 1929 LEVEL

'39 Excess Over Imports Highest Since 1928.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30 (AP).—The commerce department reported today that foreign exports of the United States had virtually reached 1929 levels since the start of the European war.

In December, a department analysis said, exports of $368,000,000 exceeded imports by $121,000,000 the largest margin in a decade. The volume of exports was said to be equal to 1929 levels, altho the value was smaller because of lower prices.

Exports for 1939, totaling $3,177,344,000, surpassed the import total of $2,318,258,000 by $859,086,000.

Excess Second Highest Since 1928.

The year's excess of exports was the second highest since 1928. In 1938, exports amounted to $3,094,440,000 and imports to $1,960,428,000, an excess of $1,134,012,000.

Altho December exports and imports were larger than those of December, 1938, the export excess in December, 1939, was far ahead of the $97,596,000 chalked up in December, 1938, when exports totaled $268,943,000 and imports $171,347,000.

Export gains were recorded in nearly all kinds of manufactured goods, particularly airplanes, metal-working machinery, and other war supplies, in 1939.

Agricultural exports slumped, altho cotton shipments were slightly above 1938. Shipments of grains, tobacco, and fruit were hit hardest. Gains were shown for meats, fats, and dairy products.

Gains in United States Aid.

The department said the rise in imports was linked with better business in this country, which required larger quantities of foreign raw and semimanufactured products.

Geographically, exports increased to Latin America, Canada, Asia, and the northern countries of Europe. These trends developed, however, after the outbreak of war. In the last four months of the year, compared with the same months of 1938, exports to Canada increased 43 per cent; to Latin America, 42 per cent, and to the Scandinavian countries, 67 per cent. Shipments to the United Kingdom, the nation's No. 1 customer, fell off.

Lyons, France, Trade Fair Will Be Held Despite War

For the fourth time, the International Lyons Trade fair featuring luxury articles, food products, art, fashions, and equipment, will be held during a war this year, the French commercial agency in Chicago announced yesterday. The first annual fair was organized in 1916 by industrialists in Lyons, France, under the chairmanship of Edouard Herriot, mayor of Lyons. It reëstablished the Lyons fair of the middle ages.

EXCHANGE CONTROL.

The British pound sterling is quoted around $3.99 in terms of American dollars at New York. The official selling rate for dollars in London is $4.03½ to the pound. It seems to me that this means I could buy sterling in New York for $3.99 to the pound, obtain credit for it at a London bank, and convert the sterling into dollars at the official rate and make a neat profit on the deal. Is this transaction possible?—R. M.

Answer: If the differential between New York and London exchange rates on the British pound could be realized, many foreign exchange dealers would be making considerable profits by straddling the two markets. The differential, however, is only a mathematical reality. Sale of British pounds for American dollars in London is closely supervised by the British exchange control board, which fixes the official exchange rates. Any profit taking transaction in foreign exchange would not be sanctioned by the control board.

Business men desiring dollars for British pounds in London must make application at their banks and describe the transaction in which the dollars are required. If the transaction is not a bona fide commercial deal, the control board would not issue a license for the conversion of the British money into American funds.

Arbitrage in British pounds, therefore, is made difficult by the government controls imposed during wartime. [Arbitrage refers to the simultaneous buying and selling in different markets to take advantage of the variations in prices.]

MESABI IRON.

I am interested in Mesabi Iron company, whose stock is listed on the New York Curb. What is the present financial condition of the company?—M. S.

Answer: The Mesabi Iron company last October leased its iron ore properties to the Reserve Mining company, which will maintain the properties until it would be profitable to operate them. Mesabi received in this deal $268,655 with which to discharge its current liabilities, including a note due March 1. The company at the time indicated that it was faced with the loss of its ore leases unless it was able to meet its obligations.

Mesabi owns leases on about 25 square miles of low grade iron mining land in St. Louis county, Minn. Operations were suspended in 1924 because iron ore prices were unfavorable.

The company has outstanding 1,105,689 shares of $1 par capital stock upon which no dividend has been paid. Total receipts of the company from Jan. 1, 1925, to March 31, 1939, amounted to $1,106,168 and total disbursements $1,105,697. Income statements have not been available because mining operations were inactive during this period.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Continued mild weather and an increase in receipts of hogs caused prices to dip at the Chicago stockyards yesterday. Practically all of the gains made on light receipts during the preceding session were wiped out on the break. Prices fell 10 to 25 cents in the various classes, altho some underweights and pigs showed even larger reductions on closing rounds.

The decline in the market for cattle that started on Monday was halted when farmers held back shipments yesterday. Slaughter lambs sold slowly on a steady to 10 cent lower basis.

[All prices are in dollars per 100 pounds.]

DEUPREE URGES INDUSTRIES TO STABILIZE JOBS

Finds Uneven Production Can Be Avoided.

Stabilization of employment was urged for American industry yesterday by R. R. Deupree, president of Procter & Gamble company, in an address before a dinner meeting of the Illinois Manufacturers' Costs association in the Hotel Sherman.

R. R. Deupree.

"Any business which can work out a plan to give its employés steady work has made real progress toward the assurance of harmonious relations between management and men," Deupree told the 700 manufacturing executives at the dinner.

He said that pension plans and other employé benefits are important, but added, "Nothing takes the place of a steady job."

Cites Own Company's Record.

Stabilization of employment is nothing more than good business, Deupree declared, citing the record of Procter & Gamble, which has doubled its wage rate in the last 14 years, has met increased taxes and other costs, but whose unit cost of production has not increased.

An even production line, he explained, allows a company to work at or near capacity thruout the year, whereas a company whose production jumps up and down has equipment idle part of the time, must pay higher prices for raw materials which it cannot order far in advance, and receives less coöperation from its employés.

Production in most industries can be stabilized, Deupree said, citing shoes, soaps, automobiles, rail equipment, and roads as examples.

He distinguished between purchasing by consumers, which shows decided fluctuations, and actual consumption, which is usually stable over a long trend. He said there are about 28 million automobiles in use in America, and the average life of a car is seven and one-half years. This indicates replacements of about 3,750,000 cars a year.

Overproduction Is Factor.

Thus, he said, when more than 5,000,000 automobiles were sold in 1937, the drop to less than 3,000,000 in 1938 was inevitable. The industry had overproduced. Unless the number of cars on the road can be increased, the sale of more than about 3,750,000 cars a year will indicate overproduction, he explained.

The manufacturer who solves this problem in his business, Deupree said, will "take the shirt off his competitors." He added that politicians, unfamiliar with the details of any particular business, cannot work out the solution.

"They have tried for the last seven years," he declared, "and they can try for 17 more years without any better success. The success of the economy of the United States is in the hands of the men who employ labor."

Buyer Attendance Gains at Gift and Apparel Shows

The number of buyers registered in the first two days of the gift show at the Merchandise Mart was 522, compared with 496 in the first two days of the two week exhibit in 1939, Mart officials announced yesterday. Registrations at the apparel show had reached 187, as compared with 118 in 1939. Buying at both shows was reported active.

U. S. STEEL LAST QUARTER PROFIT BEST SINCE 1929

Earnings for Year Total $41,226,039.

[Earnings reports of du Pont and other big companies are printed on page 23.]

New York, Jan. 30 (AP).—The United States Steel corporation—world's biggest steel maker—experienced the most profitable fourth quarter since 1929 in the final three months of last year.

E. R. Stettinius Jr. issues report.

Altho it was the best fourth quarter in a decade, the sudden surge of business brought by the war inspired wave of buying, failed to boost profits to the levels of either the second or third quarters of 1937.

The company reported after the directors' meeting today net profit for the last quarter was $28,835,282, compared with only $4,394,454 in the final three months of 1938, and $10,420,445 in the quarter ended last Sept. 30.

Year's Profits $41,226,039.

This brought net profits for the year 1939, after an unsatisfactory first half, to $41,226,039, which contrasted with a net loss of $7,717,454 in 1938. It was less than half, however, of the 1937 net of $94,944,358.

Directors made no dividend distribution on the common shares, altho there had been some faint expectation in Wall street they might pay something to the common stockholders, who have received nothing since the $1 per share distribution in December, 1937. That was the first payment since the 50 cent dividend in 1932. The regular quarterly payment of $1.75 was ordered on the preferred shares, however, payable Feb. 20 to stock of record Feb. 2.

Edward R. Stettinius Jr., chairman, issued a statement saying the improved showing "reflects the higher level in the nation's volume of business in the fourth quarter and the generally enlarged business of the entire second half of the year." He had no comment to make about the future, however.

Shipments up 54 Per Cent.

Stettinius said the company's shipments of finished steel in the fourth quarter were 3,793,723 tons, or 54 per cent above the preceding quarter, and shipments for the entire year were 10,652,150 tons, which was 60 per cent above 1938.

Earnings on the common stock, after preferred dividends, amounted to $2.59 a share in the fourth quarter, but reflecting earlier deficits after payments on the senior issue, came to only $1.83 a share for the full year.

There are approximately 258,820 employés on the pay roll at present, Stettinius said, an increase of 24.8 per cent compared with a year ago. The number in December exceeded 260,000, highest in the company's history except for a few months in 1937, when a peak of 277,092 was reached.

The total profit from operations for 1939 came to $111,699,038, from which was deducted $61,133,191 for depreciation, depletion, etc. Other deductions, mainly bond interest, brought the year's net to $41,226,039. After payment of $25,219,676 of preferred dividends, the surplus for the year was $16,006,363.

The corporation said net income earned on net tangible investment, before deducting interest charges, was equal for the year to the rate of 3.15 per cent per annum.

BEGIN 3D TRIAL OF GRAIN TRADER THOMAS HOWELL

Attorneys for Thomas M. Howell, Chicago grain operator, and Soma Peto ,a grain trader of Kansas City, Mo., yesterday presented opening arguments in the new trial granted Howell after a verdict was returned against him last June 17 on charges that he cornered the corn market in July, 1931, and caused Peto to lose $8,444.

Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward granted Howell a new trial last July 7 after a verdict for $6,781 damages had been awarded Peto. The new trial opened Monday before Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe.

The present trial is the third to be held in the case. In 1938 Judge Woodward held there was insufficient evidence of a monopoly to restrain trade, but Peto appealed to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, which reversed Woodward's decision and remanded the case for a second trial.

Suspend Subsidy Payments on Some Cotton Exports

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30 (AP).—The agriculture department announced today the suspension of subsidy payments on cotton, card strips, and comber waste under the cotton export program. It took effect today at 2 p. m. eastern standard time. Present rates of payment on cotton products other than card strips and comber waste will be continued, the department said. Suspension of a portion of the export program was held necessary because commitments under the program were nearing the total of available funds.

Inland's Profit in 4th Quarter Is 4½ Millions

The Inland Steel company issued a preliminary report yesterday on its fourth quarter which disclosed a net profit of $4,574,440, equal to $2.81 a share, compared with $1,759,785 in the 1938 period, equal to $1.11 a share. Inland Steel, which has its headquarters in Chicago, is one of the largest independent steel companies in the country.

The substantial fourth quarter profit, which was the largest for any three month period since the $5,008,774 profit in the first quarter of 1937, brought the total net profit for 1939 to $10,947,250, equal to $6.74 a share, compared with $4,916,203, equal to $3.12 a share for 1938.

Sets Production Record.

"The company's operations in the fourth quarter established new records in respect to both production and shipments," Edward L. Ryerson Jr., vice chairman, said after the directors' meeting. "Ingot production was at the rate of 102 per cent of theoretical capacity. The average for the year was 77 per cent.

"January production also continued at full capacity rate, but incoming business, as reflected in current orders being placed, will not sustain capacity operations, and it will therefore be necessary to reduce operations moderately in February."

Declare $1 Dividend.

The directors declared a dividend of $1 a share on the capital stock, payable March 1.

The company's report, which is subject to final audit, disclosed that income, after deducting administration expense and all charges for repairs and maintenance, totaled $21,759,329 for 1939. Interest on bonds totaled $1,816,625, depreciation and depletion $6,449,123, and estimated federal taxes $2,546,330.

PHILADELPHIA CO. IS PERMITTED TO CUT STOCK VALUE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30 (AP).—The securities commission permitted to become effective today a declaration by which the Philadelphia company, a registered holding company in the Standard Power and Light utility system, will reduce the stated value of 4,800,814 shares of common capital stock from $10 to $7.25 a share.

In granting this permission the SEC, in a formal order, retained its full jurisdiction with regard to payment of dividends by the Philadelphia company and with respect to distribution of voting power.

The declaration covers a reduction in stated capital from $48,008,140 to $34,805,901—or $13,202,238.

The commission's order with reference to jurisdiction over dividends was expected to attract interest in financial circles, where there has been some discussion of the income Standard Gas and Electric corporation, immediate parent, might expect from Philadelphia company.

Philadelphia company seeks to set up a revaluation reserve of $23,000,000 to cover a loss it believes to exist as the result of a finding by experts that its railway properties, carried on the books at $52,771,504, actually are worth $29,800,000.

L. & N. ASKS I. C. C. TO DROP HEARING ON BOND ISSUE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30 (AP).—The Louisville and Nashville railroad asked the interstate commerce commission today to set aside its order for a public hearing on the railroad's application to issue $60,000,000 of refinancing bonds. The commission yesterday ordered a hearing for Feb. 5. Today the commission made public a petition by two women stockholders asking for the hearing and a subsequent petition withdrawing the request.

E. J. Jouett, general counsel for the Louisville and Nashville, said the women were induced to sign their first petition by an attorney in Louisville.

The Louisville and Nashville proposed to sell the bonds thru a syndicate. In their first petition the women said this proposal "constitutes unhealthy financing and marketing, favors privilege and preference, and serves monopoly in the field of finance" by "eliminating the wholesome competitive principle."

In their second petition the women said: "We are now satisfied that the proposed transaction is fair and reasonable."

Associated Gas and Electric Reorganization Transferred

Utica, N. Y., Jan. 30 (AP). — Federal Judge Frederick H. Bryant today approved transfer of the reorganization proceedings of the Associated Gas and Electric company and its chief subsidiary, the Associated Gas and Electric corporation, from the northern to the southern New York district. The company and corporation filed petitions for reorganization under the federal bankruptcy law three weeks ago in the northern New York district. The Associated Gas and Electric controls utilities serving 1,700,000 customers in 6,000 communities in eastern United States and the Philippine Islands. It is the top holding company of the billion dollar Associated Gas and Electric system.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 30 (AP).—The Steel Workers' Organizing Committee, an affiliate of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, announced tonight the Crucible Steel Company of America had granted it a collective bargaining contract covering 12,000 employés in nine plants. The agreement, signed last Friday in New York City and effective for one year, replaces a contract that expired in 1938. It provides for prevailing basic wage rates.

EXTRA DIVIDEND PAID ON KRESGE COMMON STOCK

S. S. Kresge company yesterday voted an extra dividend of 15 cents on the common stock, payable March 13 to holders of record March 1. The company also declared two quarterly dividends of 30 cents each, payable March 13 and June 13, respectively. Last year four quarterly payments of 30 cents each were made.

Jewel Tea company declared a quarterly dividend of 60 cents on the common stock, reducing the rate from the $1 quarterly paid during 1939. However, the smaller amount will be paid on twice as many shares. Stockholders last Monday authorized a stock splitup under which each stockholder of record Feb. 9 will receive an additional share about March 1, increasing the total outstanding shares from 280,000 to 560,000.

Julius Kayser Dividend.

Julius Kayser & Co. declared a dividend of 25 cents, payable Feb. 26 on the common stock. The previous payments were made Sept. 11, 1939, when two dividends of 25 cents each were disbursed.

Pfeiffer Brewing company placed its common stock on a 25 cents quarterly basis with the declaration of that amount, payable March 11. Last year the company paid 25 cents on April 15 and an equal amount on Aug. 19.

Fitz Simmons & Connell Dredge and Dock company declared the regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents a common share, payable March 1.

BUILDING VALUES RISE IN NORTH AND WEST TWPS.

Increased building values and lower land prices were shown yesterday for real estate in West and North townships when Assessor John S. Clark announced the 1939 quadrennial assessment for these districts. As in other Chicago townships, building values increased sufficiently to outweigh depreciated land values. Clark's figures follow:

West Township.

	Land.	Buildings.	Total.
1939	$94,912,067	$165,000,329	$259,913,296
1938	107,664,828	146,466,846	254,131,674

North Township.

1939	43,220,083	60,602,030	103,822,113
1938	45,956,577	53,552,045	99,508,622

West township, between North avenue and the south branch of the river, west to the city limits, has many large industrial structures which reflected improved business conditions in their values, Clark said. North township lies between the river and Fullerton avenue and between the north branch of the river and the lake. Land values suffered in the assessment from overzoning, Clark said. Assessed values shown in the table are 37 per cent of full values.

Class 1 Railroads' Net Income Is Much Higher

The class 1 railroads in November had a net income of $33,004,000, compared with $7,555,000 in November, 1938, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday. For the first 11 months of 1939 the 138 roads in the group had net income of $57,260,000. In the 1938 period they had a $143,845,000 loss.

Chicago Business Reports 1939 Gains in All but 2 Major Lines

Chicago business activities in 1939 exceeded 1938 in all major lines except two—value of real estate transfers and the number of street car riders—the Chicago Association of Commerce disclosed yesterday.

Among the major gains in 1939, building permits issued in Chicago were approximately 100 per cent ahead of 1938, totaling $42,280,087, compared with $21,248,299. Cook county building contracts likewise were about double those of 1938.

Despite the uncertainties of the early part of 1939, department store and factory pay roll indices advanced sufficiently later to wind up the year with substantial gains over 1938.

There were 97,405 new car registrations in 1939, an increase of a little more than 30,000 over 1938. Airplane travelers also showed a substantial gain, arrivals and departures making a combined increase of more than 100,000 over 1938.

Pig iron production, reflecting the high operating rates in Chicago's steel industry, increased more than 2,000,000 tons over 1938.

Telephones in use totaled just under 1,000,000, a new all-time high.

PICK CHAIN DICKERS WITH RFC FOR LEASE ON CONGRESS HOTEL

Albert J. Pick Jr., president of Pick Hotels, Inc., announced yesterday that he is negotiating with the Reconstruction Finance corporation to lease the Congress hotel. If the deal is closed the Congress will replace the Great Northern hotel as the Chicago unit in the Pick chain of 17 American hotels. The Great Northern is to be wrecked.

Frank M. Murchison, manager of the Chicago office of the RFC, which thru subsidiaries owns the Congress hotel, said nothing definite had been decided. He said the National Hotel Management corporation, which has a chain of hotels thruout the country, has decided to withdraw from managing all units which it doesn't control. He said the corporation would continue managing the Congress for the RFC until it was leased or sold.

SEC ANNOUNCES STUDY OF 200 BIG BUSINESSES

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30 (AP).—The Securities commission reported to congress today that it was analyzing the corporate structure of 200 of the nation's largest businesses in an effort to determine what problems may be solved by requiring federal incorporation.

The commission's research, discussed in its fifth annual report, stemmed from the federal monopoly committee's inquiry.

Among the questions for which it seeks answers, the SEC said, were the extent of holdings by officers and directors of equity securities in their own companies, and provisions for calling and conducting meetings of stockholders, issuing securities, altering capital structure, and changing by-laws.

Japanese Tankers Reduce California Oil Shipments

San Pedro, Cal., Jan. 30 (AP).—Japanese tankers, which have been loading oil at southern California ports on the average of five a week, have only three sailings scheduled next month. Shipping sources could offer no reason for the abrupt drop. An agent for a number of tankers, confirming a scarcity of bookings, said he had received no explanation.

1939 CASH FARM INCOME MOUNTS TO 8½ BILLIONS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30 (AP).—The bureau of agricultural economics today estimated farmers' total cash income in 1939 at $8,518,000,000, as compared with $8,081,000,000 in 1938 and $9,111,000,000 in 1937. The figures included income from marketing, commodity loans, and government payments.

Cash income from farm marketings and commodity loans in 1939 amounted to $7,711,000,000, as compared with $7,599,000,000 in 1938. The gain resulted from increased income from crops. Income from live stock and live stock products was unchanged.

Government conservation payments, sugar act payments, and parity price payments in 1939 were $807,000,000 ,as compared with $482,000,000 in 1938.

Cash farm income and government payments in 1938 and 1939 included: Ohio, $317,635,000 and $334,289,000; Indiana, $272,075,000 and $280,818,000; Illinois, $496,306,000 and $531,396,000; Michigan, $214,941,000 and $228,182,000; Wisconsin, $295,906,000 and $285,008,000; Minnesota, $341,907,000 and $359,365,000, and Iowa, $589,580,000 and $659,359,000.

Burbank, Cal., Jan. 30 (AP).—Great Britain has contracted with Lockheed Aircraft corporation for 200 new type bombing planes, bringing to 750 its purchases of sky warriors from the firm in recent months.

The company announced that the bombers are faster and larger than the Hudson type used previously. The contract, including spare parts, aggregates $18,000,000. The ships will be produced at the rate of 40 per month.

WAGE-HOUR LAW ORDERS ENTERED AGAINST 2 FIRMS

Consent decrees were entered yesterday in federal court enjoining two Chicago companies from further violations of the wages and hours law. Judge John P. Barnes issued an order directing the General Typesetting company, 517 South Wells street, to pay employés the required 30 cent an hour minimum wage and time and one-half for overtime. The company agreed to make restitution of $2,000 to about 30 workers.

A similar order was issued by Judge Charles E. Woodward against the Sun-Made Manufacturing company, 1121 North Ashland avenue. The company, which makes women's blouses, agreed to reimburse 20 employés by payment of an estimated $400.

PLAN TO KEEP FEDERAL WATCH OVER BUSINESS

New Dealers Favor Permanent Guard.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—A move to place business under permanent surveillance is under way among the so-called "liberal element" in the New Deal. This would be brought about by making the present duties of the monopoly committee a permanent function of the commerce department.

President Roosevelt opened the way for such a move when he recommended the formation of the temporary national economic [monopoly] committee in a message to congress on April 29, 1938.

One of the functions of the committee, he had said, would be to study the advisability of creating a bureau of industrial economics, "which should be endowed with adequate powers to supplement and supervise the collection of industrial statistics by trade associations."

Bureau Already Established.

Such a bureau has since been established in the department of commerce. Secretary of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins selected Richard V. Gilbert, one of the left-wing economists from Harvard, as its chief.

So the stage is now set for the investigating and research work of the monopoly committee to be taken over by the division of industrial economics when the monopoly committee's authority expires with the close of this congress.

Sponsorship of this move is attributed to commerce department officials, who, like the New Dealers on the monopoly committee, are thirsty for more power and anxious that the investigation of big business continue unrelentlessly.

The commerce department today announced a special study of business in coöperation with the National Resources Planning board. Dr. John H. Cover, professor of statistics at the school of business, University of Chicago, has obtained leave of absence to direct the study.

Several Lines of Research.

The project calls for research in a limited number of companies along the following lines:

1. Production—Sources and prices of materials; production cost analysis; time, motion and fatigue studies, and purchasing problems.

2. Marketing—Consumer attitudes; market potentials and sales quotas; distribution costs; pricing; credit and collections; trading areas; advertising; warehousing, transportation.

3. Finance—Financing methods and operations; dividend policies; credit sources and costs.

4. Personnel and industrial relations—Aptitude and attitude studies; wage, employment, and retirement plans; employé organizations.

5. Economic conditions — General price structure; trade and production changes, and income estimates.

6. Business—Government interrelations and public relations.

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States also suggested today that the government undertake some research on its own behalf. In a special report it recommended creation of a federal agency to coördinate the plans and projects for development of natural resources.

Form Postal Unit to Rule All Land Lines

New York, Jan. 30 [Special].—Postal Telegraph, Inc., was formed today as an independent company which will take over and operate the land line system of the Postal Telegraph and Cable corporation, now in reorganization.

The formation of the new company, headed by Edwin F. Chinlund as chairman of the board of directors, is part of the Postal Telegraph and Cable reorganization program calling for separation of the land line system from the cable and radio system.

Besides Chinlund, the officer are: Ellery W. Stone, executive vice president; William J. Deegan, vice president and treasurer; J. J. Lynch, vice president; C. B. Allsopp, vice president; J. T. Logue, vice president; W. P. Marshall, controler, and James C. Phelps, secretary.

Kramer Becomes Chairman.

R. C. Kramer, who served as trustee during the reorganization proceedings, became chairman of the executive committee, which also includes Harris Borlack Chinlund, Paul E. Manheim, and Stone.

The status of operating personnel, consisting of 14,000 employés thruout the United States, will not be altered.

The meeting today was preparatory to a final transfer of assets and signing of documents which will take place tomorrow in Jersey City, N. J. At that time, the 59 year old land line properties of the predecessor companies will be formally turned over to Postal Telegraph, Inc. These steps will consummate the reorganization under the court order signed by Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe, thus completing the proceedings started on June 14, 1935, under section 77B of the bankruptcy act.

New Contracts Approved.

The board authorized 25 year contracts for continuing the pickup and delivery of messages for Commercial Cable company, operating to Europe; Commercial Pacific Cable company, operating to the orient; All America Cables and Radio, Inc., operating to Central and South America and to the West Indies; and the Mackay Radio companies, operating both in North America and to countries in Europe and the orient.

The contracts also cover Mackay radio messages to ships at sea from either the Atlantic or Pacific seaboards.

The capitalization of the company, as authorized, is 1,250,000 shares of common stock, $1 par value, of which 1,027,079 is to be issued soon, and 256,770 shares of noncumulative preferred stock, no par value, bearing a dividend rate of $2.40, all of which will be issued.

URGE REMOVING BASING POINTS ON STEEL PRICES

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30 (AP).—A proposal for outlawing the basing point system of prices on the ground it frustrated price competition was submitted to the monopoly committee today by members of the federal trade commission staff.

The proposal concluded several days of testimony in which commission representatives took issue with a United States Steel corporation pamphlet upholding the industry's price methods.

"No more vitally needed legislation within the scope of the committee's functions can be suggested," said a summation presented by the FTC, "than that of directly prohibiting the basing point system by congressional mandate."

Under the basing point system a purchaser is quoted a price at his nearest "basing point," ordinarily a major area of production, plus freight from that point, regardless of where the order may be produced. As a result, the freight charge he pays may be more or less than the actual freight.

LABOR ASSAILS GOVERNMENT IN BUILDING FIELD

Green Urges Return to Private Industry.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Miami, Fla., Jan. 30.—Withdrawal of the government from building construction programs and the complete restoration of this work to private industry as rapidly as possible were urged today by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

William Green.

As the national emergency abates, he said, the government should remove itself from competition with private construction.

Green made these statements after a session of the executive council of the A. F. of L., which is meeting here.

Want Private Enterprise.

"The federal works agencies—the Public Works administration and the Works Progress administration—have not fulfilled our expectations," Green said. "Particularly we have had to fight against lowering of wage standards in skilled trades. The normal and proper building construction plan for this country is one operated by private companies, and that is what organized labor wants."

Meanwhile the federation council went on record as favoring—after certain changes—a bill to be introduced in congress by Senator James M. Meade of New York for a 300 million dollar federal appropriation for construction of hospitals, disposal plants, and stream pollution projects thruout the country. The money would be given to communities as loans, payable over a period as long as 50 years, and there would be no outright grants.

Wants New Agency.

"We approve the principle of the bill, because we are not all the way out of the emergency yet," Green said, "but we object to the money being dispensed by any existing federal works agency. We want a new agency created and want provision made that the projects should be built by private contractors after the money has been loaned to a community."

The proposed bill stipulates that not more than 30 per cent of the workers on these projects shall be taken from relief rolls, the remainder to be skilled union workers. Green said that the 30 per cent figure is too high and that more of the workers should come from the unions.

"We do not object to a reasonable percentage being drawn from the relief rolls," Green declared, "but we do protest against the use of too many of these workers at a security wage. The building trades department of the A. F. of L., which has suffered greatly during the depression with large numbers of its members unemployed, has had unpleasant experiences with the federal works agencies.

Objects to Relief Workers.

"On some projects there were as many as 90 per cent relief workers employed and only 10 per cent skilled workers. Such abuse of organized labor must be stopped. We want the prevailing rate of union wage specified in contracts under this bill."

The federation council also announced that it favors legislation for health insurance. This differs from workmen's compensation, in effect at present, because the latter covers occupational accidents while health insurance would be more comprehensive and provide pay while a man is laid off because of an ordinary illness incurred at work.

Such legislation should be sponsored by state labor federations, Green said, and a system should be worked out whereby the employé, as well as the employer, finances the insurance.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

New York, Jan. 30 (AP).—Leading industrials backed down in today's stock market, but the majority substantially reduced early losses in the final hour.

Declines generally ran to a point or so in the forenoon, with a few issues off as much as 4 points. Mild buying support at the last steadied the list, but setbacks remained well in the majority.

Altho dealings were slow thruout, a number of low priced stocks were given a run after midday on blocks of 1,000 to 5,000 shares, mostly a shade on the upside. Among these were Studebaker and Continental Motors.

Steels, motors, aircrafts, and specialties were among the principally depressed groups the larger part of the day. Rails, coppers, utilities, and oils displayed a degree of steadiness.

United States Steel ended off ⅝ of a point at 57⅝ and Bethlehem was down ⅛ to 73⅝.

J. I. Case dropped 4½ points and other farm implements were under some pressure at times following action of a house committee in slashing the President's estimates for agricultural appropriations.

General Motors was unchanged and Chrysler was off ⅞. On the losing side at the finish were Douglas Aircraft, du Pont, General Electric, Allied Chemical, Union Carbide, United States Gypsum, Westinghouse, and Air Reduction.

Loft advanced a point to a new 1939-'40 peak. Among gainers were United States Rubber, Lockheed, Philip Morris, Anaconda, Public Service of New Jersey, Chesapeake and Ohio, and Union Pacific.

Business news generally was uninspiring marketwise, and boardrooms could get up little enthusiasm over politics, the European war, or congressional activities.

New York Bonds.

New York, Jan. 30 (AP).—Utilities provided a semblance of leadership in the bond market today.

Holding company obligations and an assortment of related power and light issues were in selective demand all day and in most cases finished on top with gains up to 2 points or more. In contrast, most rail bonds were sluggish, only a few foreign dollar loans emerged with gains and United States government issues backtracked for losses up to nearly ½ point.

Shortly after the market closed, Washington dispatches told of a SEC decision granting the Standard Gas and Electric controlled Philadelphia company permission to restate its common stock value as had been requested, but tied strings to the decision by reserving jurisdiction over future dividend payments by the Philadelphia company. Standard Gas bonds were among the strongest on the curb exchange, ending up 1⅜ to 2½ points in fairly heavy trading.

Chicago Stocks.

Prices of the three volume leaders on the Chicago Stock exchange were unchanged in slack trading yesterday. One issue, Central and South West Utilities $7 prior lien preferred, established a new 1939-'40 high mark, but later slipped. The new peak price was 118¼. For the entire list, losses outnumbered gains about two to one.

Bank Stocks.

Prices of Chicago bank stocks were steady to lower yesterday. Continental Illinois, First National, and Harris Trust were the shares which declined. Prices follow:

GRAIN MARKETS RECOVER AFTER EARLY DECLINE

Grain markets staged a fair rally yesterday after an early decline carried May wheat off about 1 cent and corn had declined ½ cent into new low ground since the middle of December.

Scattered liquidation was in evidence in the early trading but local shorts in wheat were disposed to take profits as the result of a decline of 11½ cents in the price of the May future from the high point on Jan. 3. Late in the session there was buying by speculators who were evening up their positions in the market prior to Hitler's speech.

Closing trades in wheat were about at the top with grains of ⅛ to ¼ cent. Corn finished ⅛ to ¼ cent lower. The latter grain was depressed by continued weakness in Buenos Aires and reports that Argentina might harvest a bumper crop this season.

A weather bureau forecast indicated about normal temperatures in the southwest during the next three days. This is expected to result in melting the snow covering in that area and providing surface moisture for the wheat crop.

Commodities

Commodity trading yesterday was quiet for the most part. Silk futures again hogged the spotlight by soaring 2 to 20 cents a pound in an active market.

At the same time cash raw silk dropped 7 cents, cracking thru the $3 mark to sell at $2.96 a pound. Cash silk prices, marked by wild fluctuations for the last two months or more, have declined $1.26½ a pound since the first trading day of this month, and are 33 per cent under the peaks they reached in December.

Several factors have combined to cause the erratic movement in silk quotations, chief among them being equally wide fluctuations in Japanese markets. Uncertainty regarding the possibility of an embargo on Japanese products following the abrogation by the United States of its commercial treaty with Japan has contributed to the market's nervousness.

Sugar traders placed a bearish interpretation on reports that British-Cuban negotiations for the sale of 100,000 tons of Cuban raw sugar to Britain had broken down. It was reported that Britain, which buys large quantities from her colonies, had filled this season's requirements.

Domestic futures closed unchanged to .01 cent a pound lower at New York, and world futures declined .03 to .05 cent.

Also lower were cocoa and Santos coffee futures, while zinc and rubber contracts moved upward, the latter advancing as much as .20 cent a pound. Hides scored substantial gains.

Tin, copper, and wool tops moved unevenly. Lead and Rio coffee futures closed unchanged from Monday's final prices.

DU PONT, OTHER FIRMS SHOW BIG RISE IN PROFITS

100 Companies Earn 67% More in 1939

E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., and several other companies, including Butler Brothers, yesterday reported large increases in earnings. Their reports conformed to the pattern of an Associated Press compilation showing that the first 100 corporations to report for 1939 had 67 per cent larger profits than in 1938.

Frank S. Cunningham reports for Butler Brothers.

Du Pont said in a preliminary statement that consolidated net earnings last year were $93,218,664, equal after debenture and preferred stock dividends to $7.70 a common share. In 1938 profit was $41,847,363, or $3.79 a share.

Butler Brothers' Earnings.

Butler Brothers, Chicago wholesaler of dry goods, had net profit of $1,347,749 in 1939, Frank S. Cunningham, chairman, announced after the regular meeting of the board of directors. The 1938 profit was $718,908.

The amount of earnings available for the common stock, after allowance for preferred dividends, was $941,381, or 83 cents a share, compared with $312,540, or 28 cents a common share, in 1938. Cunningham said the 1939 figures had not been audited, and that a detailed report will be mailed to stockholders prior to their meeting March 28.

Sales last year, he said, were 5.2 per cent larger than in 1938. Volume this month was described as "barely ahead" of January, 1939, sales. Inventories at the year end were 11 per cent larger than at the end of 1938.

Common Stock Dividend Declared.

An interim dividend of 15 cents a share on the common stock was voted by the Butler Brothers directors, who also ordered the payment of the regular quarterly dividend of 37½ cents a share on the preferred stock. Both are payable March 1 to stockholders of record Feb. 9. Two interim dividends of 15 cents each were paid last year on the common.

The Associated Press compilation indicated that large profits which piled up during the brief but furious war boom of the final quarter helped boost the year's earnings of the group of 100 concerns to $514,363,000, compared with $308,171,000 in 1938.

Excluding one of the group, American Telephone and Telegraph company, net income of the remaining 99 amounted to $341,917,000, or more than double the $155,634,000 earned the previous year.

Railways Show Largest Gain.

The railroads made the most remarkable showing of the corporations reporting so far, as 21 carriers showed a net income of $68,345,000, against $6,018,000 in 1938. The fourth quarter—always a big one in the railroad business—was especially good in 1939 with the 21 roads reporting profits of $49,946,000, compared with $29,108,000 in the final three months of 1938.

Another noteworthy performance was turned in by 66 miscellaneous industrial enterprises, which earned $221,804,000, compared with $102,777,000 the year before. Industrial profits in the fourth quarter felt the war boom as net income of 45 companies reporting for that period totaled $66,397,000, or more than three times as much as the same companies earned during the fourth quarter business recovery in 1938.

TREASURY TAKES IN 3 BILLIONS, SPENDS OVER 5

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30 (AP).—Treasury receipts for the fiscal year which began last July 1 have passed 3 billion dollars.

The department's books showed today that on Jan. 27 tax and other revenues totaled $3,008,172,387, but this figure was $2,386,986,687 short of the $5,395,159,074 expenditures in the same period.

However, with five months of the fiscal year, including the big income tax collection month of March still ahead, the revenue figure was well past half of the $5,703,795,000 receipts predicted by President Roosevelt for the full year.

Business Bits

The Chicago chapter of the American Institute of Banking entered its second semester with 1,016 registrations, the largest second semester total since the chapter was founded in 1901, A. C. Miskelly of the First National bank of Chicago and member of the board of regents of the chapter, reported yesterday. He said the increasing interest of Chicago bank employés in the theory and practice of banking has made it necessary to add to the curriculum.

Charles John Whipple, president of Hibbard, Spencer, Bartlett & Co., Chicago wholesale hardware company, was elected a director of the Santa Fe railroad. He takes the place made vacant by the death of S. T. Bledsoe, former president.

Emil A. Stake, vice president of the First National bank of Chicago, has been appointed treasurer of the Chicago Board of Trade. He succeeds the late C. V. Essgroger.

The Bond Traders' club of Chicago last night held its 15th annual dinner in the Palmer House with about 350 guests, including 100 from out of town, attending. Larry A. Higgins, newly elected president, presided.

J. R. Balliet, who will celebrate his 92d birthday Feb. 26, yesterday was elected a director of the National Sewing Machine company of Belvidere, Ill. Raymond F. List, president of the concern, gave him 50 roses symbolizing his 50 years' association with the company. Balliet operates a music store in Belvidere.

Carl Burgstahler, who recently was elected president of the National Shoe Retailers' association, was honored by fellow Chicagoans yesterday at a luncheon in the Palmer House.

The American Warehousemen's association will open its 49th annual convention this morning in the Edgewater Beach hotel. Ellsworth C. Alvord, chairman of the federal finance committee of the United States Chamber of Commerce, will address the convention on government finance.

ILLINOIS GROUPS STUDY NEW YORK COAL TAX DECREE

What the effect will be on Illinois business of the Supreme court decision upholding the New York City sales tax as applied to coal was being considered yesterday by several agencies here. These included the Illinois state finance department, the Illinois Manufacturers association and the state governments council affiliated with the Public Administration Clearing House.

Spokesmen for the various groups said they have telegraphed for copies of the decision which they will submit to their attorneys for study. The results of these studies will be disclosed later.

Under the present Illinois occupational tax, little effect is expected on the coal industry. Many of the large utilities, such as the Commonwealth Edison company, buy their coal within the state and must pay the occupational tax.

OIL PRODUCTION IN ILLINOIS AND NATION IS LOWER

Production of oil decreased in Illinois in the week ended Jan. 27, the Oil and Gas Journal reported yesterday. National daily average output also was smaller than in the preceding week.

Illinois production was estimated at 357,118 barrels daily, or an average of 9,813 barrels a day less than in the week ended Jan. 20.

The national output of crude oil for the week was 3,611,600 barrels daily, the American Petroleum Institute reported. This compares with 3,637,450 barrels the preceding week and 3,248,250 a year ago.

TWO ASSOCIATES OF CELOTEX CORP. ARE REORGANIZED

Dahlberg Makes Report to Stockholders.

Executive and sales departments of two companies in which the Celotex corporation holds large stock interests have been entirely reorganized, and the companies' earnings have been boosted, Bror G. Dahlberg, president of Celotex, said yesterday.

Dahlberg addressed the Celotex stockholders at their annual meeting in Chicago. He predicted a good building business in 1940 and discussed the affairs of the Certain-teed Products corporation and the Sloane-Blabon corporation.

Celotex owns a large amount of the stock of Certain-teed and has a working agreement with it. Both manufacture building materials. Sloane-Blabon makes floor coverings.

Both Companies Show Gains.

Dahlberg estimated net profit of Certainteed for the year 1939 at about $600,000, as compared with $171,000 in 1938. He estimated that Sloane-Blabon had a 1939 profit of approximately $500,000, as compared with a loss of $209,000 in the preceding year.

He told the Celotex stockholders that every director, every officer, and the division managers of Certain-teed had been replaced. A similar overhauling of the staff of Sloane-Blabon was made, he said. Dahlberg is chairman of Certain-teed.

Dahlberg said the English subsidiary of Celotex has operated at full capacity since the European war began, and that the demand for its products has been so heavy that shipments of some lines have been made from the United States to supplement the output of the British plant. The plant makes insulation and acoustical products and hardboards.

Expansion Aims Told.

Celotex, Dahlberg said, is shaping its policies in an effort to get more business and also to get into more lines of the building business. He declared that if the company is to be a "solid and competent factor" in the business, it must carry complete lines of materials.

Celotex stockholders approved a reduction in the number of directors from 11 to 9. For the last year the company has had only nine directors, all of whom were reëlected yesterday.

Earnings of Celotex were reported earlier this month. The company had a profit of $741,755, equal to 93 cents a share, in the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, an increase of 43 per cent over the $518,358, or 58 cents a share, earned in the preceding year.

Pictures Tell Story of German Plane Raids on British Shipping—Hitler Says Nazis Are Unbeatable

This is the first of a series of pictures of German origin approved by German censor showing airplane raids on British shipping in North sea.
[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

A Nazi bombing squadron is flying over flotilla of British ships, ready to strike. All pictures in this series were taken from German planes.

In the second picture of the series a German bomber draws closer to its prey, a British merchantman. The censor said the Germans were under orders to "scout and destroy British merchant ships and patrol boats near Firth of Forth." Raids of this type were conducted again yesterday.

[Associated Press Wirephoto: Sent yesterday from Berlin by radio.]

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]
